VIENNA REPORTS THAT AUSTRI- ANS HAVE DEFEATED RUSSIANS IN WESTERN GALICIA

LONDON, Nov. 27.—An official report issued in Vienna says: "The fighting in Russian Poland has assumed the proportions of a continuous battle. In western Galicia our troops have repulsed the Russians. A marked progress has been made in the fighting in the Carpathians.

"Near the Kolubara river, in Serbia, the enemy's centre is in a very strong position near Lazarevatz but we attacked and took 1200 prisoners, three guns, four ammunition wagons and three machine guns. To the south we took the eastern heights and 200 prisoners. From Valjevovaljevo our troops have advanced to Kosovici."

PETROGRAD CLAIMS THAT GER- MAN ARMY CORPS SURREN- DERED IN RUSSIA

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Telegraphing from Petrograd regarding the fighting around Lodz, Russian Poland, the correspondent of the Matin says:
"One German army corps which was surrounded by Russian troops surrendered in a body. This represents nearly 50,000 prisoners. Another corps which also had been cut off has now been completely put to rout."
"The Russians are attacking along the Czenstochowa-Cracow line with redoubled intensity."

SERBIANS BOMBARDED THE AUSTRIAN MONITORS OFF SEMLIN —BATTLE CONTINUES

NISH, Serbia, Nov. 27.—An official statement issued today regarding the

OFFICIAL INQUIRY INTO THE BULWARK CATASTROPHE

LONDON, Nov. 27.—While the belief grows hourly that the Russians in northern Poland have won the greatest battle of the war, actual details of operations in this locality still are withheld and the whole incident is beginning to take on the aspect of a mystery.

From Petrograd comes a report that the patience of the Russian people, awaiting official confirmation of the reported victory, is approaching the breaking point, and the same thing may be said of the public here. German reports, without entering into any such details as dates, described successful operations in the region of this great battle but admit that the German army has not succeeded in bringing the struggle to a close. It is evident that the comparative failure of the Austro-German operations along the Czenstochowa front gave the Russians opportunity to envelop Gen.

Von Hindenburg after this brilliant German leader had thrown a wedge into his antagonist's centre. The Russians in the south, save on their own front, were able to strike northward, thus breaking the enemy who had passed beyond their right flank.

Military critics at Petrograd profess to be astonished at the German assault on Lodz, maintaining that such a movement made the defeat of the invaders inevitable. The critics declare that unless the Germans' advance toward Kutno and Lodz was part of a larger movement, the operation was too hazardous to be credible. A third German army in the vicinity of Wil-no has initiated an advance which is believed in London to have been started too late to be of any use.

On the other battlefronts quiet prevails. Along the Franco-Belgian line the opposing armies seem content to face each other and nothing has transpired to indicate that the Germans have started the expected resumption of their effort to break through the allied lines on their way to the coast.

Thirty miles to the east of the Suez canal, British forces are in touch with Turkish invaders, but there is no sign of a general action in this vicinity; and it is expected the invasion of Egypt probably will be postponed for the reason that the Turks would appear to be hard pressed in Armenia and around the Persian Gulf.

Additional details concerning the loss of Sheerness yesterday of the battleship Bulwark and her entire crew with the exception of 14 men, make the admiralty theory that she was blown up by an internal explosion more and more plausible. An official inquiry, which is being held in private, was opened in Sheerness this morning.

O. J. COBURN'S HERD SLAUGHTERED

State Gang Killed 84 Cows, 138 Hogs,
Many Hens and a Dog—Strict Precautions Against Spread of Foot and Mouth Disease in This District

Horns of Slaughter

The slaughter was begun at 5.30 o'clock in the morning and it was 2 o'clock before the last shot was fired.
The cattle were led, one by one, from the barn to the edge of the pit. One man held the cow and the other did the shooting. The man with the gun was an expert and never failed in making the vital spot. The animals were shot through the head. As the cows were shot they tumbled into the trenches prepared for them. One of the trenches was to the north of Lakeside avenue and the other to the south of the road. Each trench was about 150 feet long, six feet wide and seven feet deep. Every precaution was taken against infection. The government representatives refused to permit anybody on the premises to cross Lakeside avenue without first applying the strongest disinfectants to his boots.
The members of the slaughtering crew wore rubber garments. Dr. Sturges did the shooting at the trench to the north of Lakeside avenue, where the pigs and cattle were slaughtered, and Dr. Bailey did the shooting at the

Valuable Dog Killed

A handsome, faithful and valuable collie dog was the first to fall before the unerring aim of the government shooters. The dog did not show any symptoms of the disease but had been used in rounding up the cattle on the farm. It was with great resistance that the inspectors sent the splendid collie to the happy hunting grounds.

While the slaughter was in progress two police officers guarded the gates leading to the barn to prevent the curious from entering the premises or gathering in the vicinity.

Every precaution was taken to minimize the chances for a spread of the disease. At a considerable distance away, however, on a slight elevation, people watched the slaughter and marveled at the accuracy of the gunners' aim.
The pigs were shot in their pens and dragged out to the trenches for burial with the cattle. In no case was there any evidence of suffering.
Today the Coburn household shows no sign of animal life for with the exception of the horses which were kept apart, no animal survived the slaughter. A large number of hens have been killed.

901 CONVICTED UNDER MANN WHITE SLAVE ACT

In All, 4,433 Persons Have Been Indicted—The Fines Imposed
Amounted to $138,036.50

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Nine hundred and one persons have been convicted under the Mann white slave act since its passage, according to statistics received today by Arthur Burrage-Par-well, president of the Chicago Law and Order League, from A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. In all, 4,433 persons have been indicted under the act. "During the year ending June 30, 1914," Dr. Bielaski writes, "there were 435 indictments, 357 convictions, 53 acquittals and 46 cases not passed. During the preceding fiscal year there were 522 indictments, 256 convictions, 19 not passed and 35 acquittals. The sentences up to June 30, 1914, aggregated 1557 years, 6 months, and 24 days. The fines amounted to $138,036.50."

ORDER 600,000 SWORDS

BIG CONTRACT RECEIVED BY A.
HANKEY & CO., KNIFE MANU-FACTURERS OF ROCHEDALE

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—An addition to the equipment of the British soldiers now fighting in the war is indicated by the order for 600,000 swords that the English government has given to A.
Hankey & Co., knife manufacturers of Rochdale, near Manchester. A requisition from the English government was issued to the Hankey company, asking for the tilting of the large order with all possible speed, and the work of supplying more than a half million swords for the British soldiers is already under way at the Rochdale factories of the company.

The English soldiers will, quite likely, have swords to go with the rest of their fighting paraphernalia as soon as

HIGH TIDE AWAITED TO FLOAT BATTLESHIP AGROUND OFF CAPE CHARLES, VA.

CAPE CHARLES, Va., Nov. 27.—High tide was awaited early today to float the battleship Michigan, aground off Cape Charles, Va. The weather was calm and the water was not thought to be in any immediate danger. It was believed that with 25 feet of water under her at high tide, the Michigan would be able to float. Four naval tugs stood by to assist in getting the vessel off.

DYNAMITE USED AT FORT MEADOW IN EFFORT TO FIND BODY OF MRS. W. C. SPRINGER

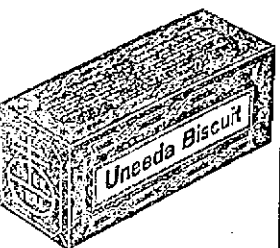

MARLBORO, Nov. 27.—Dynamite was used yesterday at the Fort Meadow pond in an effort to find the body of Mrs. Walter C. Springer, who has been missing for nine days. The ice on the surface was blown away and the bed of the pond was searched in several places without result. While this work was in progress, a squad of officers searched the bottom in basin for several hours without success. The search of the basin will be resumed tomorrow.

COMICAL BURLESQUE SPILLED OFF IN ASSOCIATE HALL—THE EVENTS

THE YOUNG MEN'S CATHOLIC INSTITUTE conducted its 24th Thanksgiving social and dance in Associate Hall Wednesday evening, and the affair proved to be an unprecedented success. About 75 couples were in attendance and enjoyed several hours of refreshment in the pleasant strains of Minnie's Union orchestra. Shortly before 9 o'clock Announcer Edward P. Shea proclaimed that the auto races, an attraction advertised as particularly unknown to this section of the country, were about to start. He also stated that going to failure in making death connections, Starter Wagner, the man who had charge of the big auto races in Lowell a few years ago, would be unable to appear.

JUDGE—SWALLOW

Thomas H. Judge and Miss Cordelia Swallow were married Wednesday at the residence of the Grafton Street Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. N. W. Matthews. The couple were unattended.

DUFFY—BURNS

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Wednesday evening when Mr. Michael Duffy and Miss Mary Burns were united in marriage at St. Patrick's rectory by Rev. Timothy Callahan. The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of wistaria broadcloth with picture hat to match and carried a large bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bride was attended by Miss Ella Burns, a sister of the bride, who was attired in a suit of green broadcloth with hat to match and carried a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. John Duffy, a cousin of the groom, was best man. They left on the 6:25 train for a brief honeymoon trip. Will be at home to their friends at 874 Moody street after Jan. 1st.

TAYLOR—ROBINSON

Robert Taylor and Miss Ada Robinson were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride, in Methuen street, by Rev. Forrester Macdonald, pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church. The bride was Miss Ada Robinson, a sister of the bride, while the best man was Frank Melior of Methuen. The couple will make their home in Cannon street, Methuen.

PRATT—DAIGNAULT

Frank Pratt and Miss Virginia Daignault were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Marie Daignault, 115 Dalton street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. E. C. Fawcett, pastor of the French Baptist church in West Sixth street. The bride was attended by Miss Edith C. Erskine, while Stephen Pratt was best man. The couple will make their home at 115 Dalton street.

MOREAU—TESSIER

At a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Joseph's church, Wilfrid Moreau and Miss Marie L. Tessier were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Augustin Gratton, O. M. I. The witnesses were Jean Briere and Fraser Moreau. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, 64 Common street, following the ceremony. The evening reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 64 Common street, where the happy couple were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts. They will make their home at 54 Common street.

WALSH—BRETT

Mr. Edward S. Walsh, a prominent employee of the J. W. Barry Shoe company, and Miss Helen M. Brett were united in marriage at the immaculate conception rectory at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I. Owing to the recent death of a member of the bride's family the wedding was attended by relatives of the bride and bridegroom only. Following the wedding ceremony a supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, in Fayette street, after which the happy couple departed on a wedding tour to New York, Washington and other interesting points. They will be at home to their friends after December 10.

CROWLEY—MOLONY

At St. Peter's rectory at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Miss Alice W. Molony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Molony, the former the well known police officer of 41 Whipple street, and Mr. William E. Crowley, a prominent young man of this city, and formerly a member of the old city council, were united in marriage by Rev. W. George Mullin. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Molony, and the best man was Mr. Arthur L. Ena, Esq., a close friend of the groom. The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe de chine and wore a white picture hat. She carried a beautiful bride bouquet of Killarney roses. The bride and groom were accompanied by a pink chiffon, and wore a black velvet picture hat. She carried pink roses. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and was attended by a large circle of relatives and close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Crowley left on the late afternoon train for Boston, en route for New York, Washington and Philadelphia. On their return they will reside at their new home, 23 Sarah avenue. The brilliant display of costly and beautiful gifts spoke eloquently of the popularity of the newly married couple. There was a great profusion of silver, cut glass, china, and all that goes to make up a happy and elegant home. None of their many friends wish them more happiness than those who were most closely associated with them.

Chairman of Race Committee and that Mr. John Roane of this city would act in that capacity. The inspection car was then pushed out of the rear anteroom, containing the committee, Edward P. Shea, James J. Spillane and John X. Payne, and the course inspected. This car was one of the latest models and embodied all the latest and finest in high priced automobile cars. The car attracted considerable attention, and many were the favorable remarks overheard from prospective buyers.

The doors of the anteroom were again opened, and amid loud explosions transmitted by a large Excelsior motor cycle, and amidst from the same source six racing models were pushed out of their pits by a corps of handlers to the starting point. Here the drivers were numbered and given dual instructions by Starter Roane, and the one-minute event started. The cars, propelled by human mechanism, went around the circular track at great speed, and although many collisions took place, none of the drivers were injured. R. DePalma Curry, driving a Locomotor Atlanta, and R. Burroughs Roane, piloting a Newmanna race, collided at one of the corners, and both drivers were thrown out. The Locomotor Atlanta was pushed to its pit with a broken crankshaft, while the Newmanna was not damaged, and after its driver had regained his wits proceeded on its way and finally won the event. Louis Strangle Harrington of Manchester, N. H., was thrown out of his Swift car when on his last lap, and at first it was feared that he had met with serious injury, but upon medical examination it was found that he had sustained only a severe shaking up. He entered the next event, the pursuit race, and succeeded in winning on a larger field. The winners in the different events were as follows: R. Burroughs Roane and John King, in the one-mile open; William H. Harrington in the pursuit; and Barney Goldfield Marren and L. Bentley Maguire in the two for all. The officers of the dance were: George W. Williams, chairman; George P. Clark, floor director; Edward A. Farrell, assistant floor director; Frank J. Roane; Race committee—Paul Clark, chairman; William Marren, William Harrington, Andrew Doyle, Patrick Farrell, John King.

Advertising and race committee—James J. Spillane, chairman; Edward P. Shea, John T. Payne, Frank J. Roane; Frank McCarthy, treasurer.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Warren P. Rorand and Miss Mary J. Farney were married Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at St. Columba's rectory in Mammoth road. Rev. Frederick S. Rorand of Andover, a cousin of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. John A. Begon, pastor of St. Columba's parish, officiated. Mr. Edward J. Carney, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Jennie E. Cox was bridesmaid. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a gold piece, as was the bridegroom's gift to the best man. The bride wore white duchess satin trimmed with princess lace and pearls and carried a bouquet with orange flowers. She carried a large bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo with an overcoat of pink crepe de chine with picture hat to match. She carried a cluster of pink chrysanthemums.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party went to the hotel in Woodward avenue, where a wedding supper was served. The splendidly appointed residence was prettily decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, pinks, carnations, roses, ferns and other greenery. The ushers at the house were Mr. J. J. Moehan, Frank J. Roane, George J. Rorand, James J. and John P. Carney.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James J. Carney. She is a graduate of the Sacred Heart and Lowell High schools. Mr. Rorand is the official reader of weights and measures for the city of Lowell. The happy couple left at 9:45 o'clock on a brief wedding tour that will include New York city and Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will reside at 11 Woodward avenue where they will be at home after Jan. 1.

Among those present at the reception were: Mayor Murphy, Commissioners Donnelly, J. W. Carmichael and Moore, former Mayor John P. Moehan, City Messenger Owen Monahan and his assistant, Cornelius P. Cronin, Supt. Martin P. Conley, Supt. John W. Kier-nan, City Solicitor J. Joseph Hennessey, Mayor's Secretary J. H. Cull, Robert T. Duffy of Boston and many others, including relatives and friends from Ashland and Penacook, N. H., Lawrence, Andover, Boston and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. Rorand were the recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts.

GILCHRIST—WARD

David Gilchrist and Mrs. Georgiana Ward were married at the home of the bride, 10 Keene street, Wednesday evening, the officiating clergyman being Rev. George L. King, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church. The best man was George Coburn and the bridegroom, Miss Ruth Gilchrist. On their return from a honeymoon trip to New York and Connecticut, the couple will make their home in this city.

HIGHLAND—SULLIVAN

John J. Highland and Miss Elizabeth G. Sullivan were married at the Sacred Heart rectory Wednesday, the ceremony being performed by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I. The witnesses were Frank J. Highland and Miss Adelaide Sullivan. Mr. and Mrs. Highland will

ANGELES IS REPULSED

VILLA GENERAL UNABLE TO CAPTURE GUADALAJARA, ACCORDING TO CLAIMS

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 27.—That Guadalupe has not surrendered to the Villa forces under General Felipe Angeles and that the city is so strongly fortified that Angeles cannot take it, are the claims made last night by Carranzista officials, who claim to have received from the besieged city.

The dispatches say General Angeles has again been repulsed and that he was today attempting to reorganize his force by a new attack, having apparently decided not to await reinforcements. Carranza sympathizers say it is practically impossible for Angeles to send any reinforcements to Guadalupe, because of strong Carranzista forces in the territory through which the reinforcements must pass.

Several thousand additional men for Guadalupe garrison have reached that city, it is claimed, and others from both the east and west are on the way there. General Angeles today used artillery at long range, but with little effect.

PASTIME CLUB THANKSGIVING

The Pastime club, composed of prominent young men and ladies of this city and Nashua, N. H., held a delightful Thanksgiving party, yesterday.

The Care-Free Way to California

"I wouldn't go any other way," says everyone who has gone on one of our low cost "Personally Conducted" parties to California.

They are so well managed, and are so comfortable and inexpensive.

There's no worry about baggage or other travel details, for our own special conductor goes all the way through, looking out for your comfort and explaining all about the points of interest as you pass along.

The cheerful company of congenial people who go on these fare parties add greatly to the pleasure of the trip.

Please write me today, or if you can, call at the office and let me tell you all about these famous Burlington Route "Personally Conducted" Parties to California.

day afternoon and evening, at the home of Miss Leora Elkins, 52 A Lake street, Nashua, N. H. The entire afternoon was spent in a whist and games, after which the gathering repaired to the spacious dining-room of the residence where a sumptuous repast was served. A musical program was carried out in the evening, which proved highly enjoyable. The hostess, who is an accomplished pianist, presided at the piano and won applause with her rendition of several of the latest popular songs. Mr. Frank O'Brien of Lowell gave "Asleep at the Switch" in his inimitable manner and Miss Anna Ward pleased in her vocal selections. Mr. Walter Hall played the banjo, accompanied by Mr. Walter Cleary of Lowell. Miss Grace Ward of Lowell won favor with a recitation and Mr. William Gray contributed a song. The following Lowell members were represented in the gathering: Misses Grace Ward, Agnes Connelly, Ruth Ashburn, Esther Healey, and Mildred Daviner; Messrs. John Egan, Frank O'Brien, Fred Smith, Frank Sullivan, John Farrell, Thomas Connelly and Walter Cleary.

GERMAN AMERICAN CLUB

ITS NEW CLUBHOUSE ON PLAIN STREET OPENED WITH FINE PROGRAM

The fine new clubhouse of the German-Americans of this city, situated at 199 Plain street, was opened formally yesterday with over 400 enthusiastic Germans and German-Americans in attendance. Men, women and children were represented in the audience which was one of the most enthusiastic ever gathered together on such an occasion in this city. There was music in abundance, both vocal and instrumental, and stirring speeches, through which shone devotion to the Fatherland and its ideals, but even more noticeable was the distinctively American note heard throughout. The most impressive moment in the services came when the band of the Hamburg American Line Orchestra played the "Star Spangled Banner" as the beautiful new American flag went to the peak of the flag staff. All present joined in singing the national melody and hundreds who were gathered in the neighboring streets cheered lustily.

Among those in attendance yesterday were many German-Americans from Lawrence, Manchester, N. H., Boston and other neighboring cities. These added to the relatives of the members of the club, packed the main hall to capacity. German cordials were displayed on every hand and all

SOUR STOMACH AFTER THANKS-GIVING DINNER?

Take Dys-pep-tets. They are hard, some oval-shaped tablets, sugar-coated and pleasant to take. They combine the best correctives, carminatives and digestives, and have a remarkable efficacy in sweetening the stomach and relieving heartburn and nausea. who entered the portals of the new club found a hearty welcome. Many present were not members of the club, but the occasion called together hundreds who have a common sympathy in a stirring time.

After the holding of the Stars and Stripes came the German patriotic air "Der Tag des Herrn" sung splendidly by the Liederkreis of Lawrence, under the direction of Herr K. K. K. Then came an ovation to the two young ladies who had loaned the American flag, Miss Thillie Borst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Borst, and a high school pupil, and Miss Mary Pfeiffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernhard Pfeiffer. President Carl Heidenreich then made a brief address, receiving a hearty ovation. The fine band of the "Cincinnati" played many German patriotic airs, among them, "Die Wacht am Rhein" and "Euler Alles" with spirit and feeling, arousing great enthusiasm in the audience, many members of which have near relatives in the war. The band was under the direction of Franz Kottner, and the members were Messrs. Mostler, Schlunk, Beckendorf, Volkel, Ruffeld, Hesselbarth, Zeck and Teuchert. The Liederkreis of Lawrence was organized again in finely-rendered songs and the local organization gave some excellent selections. There were speeches by the local officers and the visitors. One of the notable figures was the popular August Moerkel, called "the grandfather of the club." Throughout the afternoon a liberal buffet luncheon was served. After the formal exercises, dancing was enjoyed to a late hour.

ALL EXAMINED

English Health Officials are Taking Precaution During the Great War

FOLKESTONE, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—English health officers at Folkestone are taking unusual precautions to prevent the admission of diseases into England from the war zone. Passengers arriving on the Flushing, Dieppe, Boulogne and Calais boats are examined with great care.

Folkestone is now practically the only commercial port open for passenger business from the continent, so the stream of refugees, tourists and wounded soldiers all pass through this port.

Health officers feel the pulse of every passenger, examine the wrist carefully, look into the throat and eyes and scrutinize the forehead for evidences of smallpox. In order that they may see the foreheads of ladies whose hair is fashionably dressed it is frequently necessary to push the hat and front hair back. This action on the part of physicians has frequently caused ladies to believe the physicians were secret service men who suspected they had messages concealed in their hair.

Immigration officials and plainclothes men examine the papers of all passengers very carefully before they enter England and usually engage them in conversation in an effort to ascertain whether their French or English has a German accent. Baggage is also examined thoroughly by inspectors to make sure it contains no German newspapers or letters from Berlin for persons in England.

Because of the improper use made of American passports by Lieut. Lady of the German Naval Reserve and other spies apprehended in England, France and Belgium, all bearers of American passports are rigorously cross-questioned.

Flushing is the only open gateway from the United States and England to Germany which affords a direct trip and most travelers to and from Germany go by the Holland route as it is much shorter than a trip by way of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Consequently the Flushing boats would be probably selected by secret agents of the German government.

Scattered cases of scarlet fever and smallpox have already made their appearance among Belgian refugees in Holland and northern Belgium. Every effort has been made to prevent the spread of these diseases in the refugee camps, but the Belgians are living in such crowded and unsanitary conditions that it is difficult to protect them against contagion.

WHY EYESIGHT FAILS

BY A SPECIALIST

Failing eyesight is often caused by neglect and by forcing eyes to do work for which they were not made. Our eyes are ruined by the strain modern conditions put upon them, a strain opposed to Nature and tending to destroy sight unless relieved by proper care.

Few people know to what to do when their eyes begin to go wrong; therefore they do nothing at all until they are blind. Often, then, they are forced to resort to glasses for temporary relief.

A soothing, cleansing, healing, helpful lotion for eyes in trouble of those that wear glasses can be made from the following prescription:

Quinine 5 grains, (one Tablet)
Water 2 ounces.

Mix at home and use from two to four times a day. This prescription is in daily use by thousands. It cures vision, always irritates, never inflames, and gives a smooth, well-lubricated feeling to the eyes. It has enabled many to discard glasses, and has helped many to see clearly. It has restored many to perfect eye comfort. Its use is followed by a soothing sense of relief from strain and over-use. It cures eye troubles, cures and other druggists can fill this prescription. Any physician familiar with the formula will tell you it is perfectly harmless.

best wine-producing district, Alsace-Lorraine, has suffered heavily by the war, and it is claimed that the output this year will be far below normal.

Alsace, especially, has a poor crop according to reports. Not alone had the bad seasons of the last ten years caused a reduction of the area of vineyards to 108,840 hectares, a decrease of 108 hectares (or about 800 acres) since 1908, but the earlier months of the year were very unfavorable for the development of the plant. The vines were affected by phylloxera which incessant cold rains and weather finally came, the war broke out. In southern Alsace, where the valleys and hillsides of the Vosges are almost entirely given to vine-growing, many vineyards were cut down in order to facilitate military operations, while others were trampled down during battles.

The result of this has been that the wine crop of Alsace will be approximately one-third normal. Conditions in Lorraine are better. Though some of the vineyards around Metz were cut down when the war began, the crop generally is plentiful enough to discount this. The quality, moreover, is said to equal that of 1904. Good weather early in the season favored a good average crop, and, unlike those of Alsace and eastern France, the wine growers of Lorraine were able to give their vineyards all needed care.

THE GERMAN LANCE

Several Specimens Among War Trophies Brought to Manchester, England

MANCHESTER, England, Nov. 27.—(Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—"Among the most interesting of the war trophies that have found their way over here," says the Manchester Guardian, "are some specimens of the German lance. It is not a wooden pole, but an eleven or twelve foot steel tube. It is very heavy and at first seems quite unmanageable to a man of ordinary strength. But two-thirds of the way down from the head towards the butt is a wrapping of thick twine to give a grip. And if you hold it there, and there only, you find that it is so evenly poised that as one admiring observer remarked, you could write your name with it."

"There have been some descriptions of lances where these tubular lances have crumpled up in action like an overburdened steel mast on a racing yacht. Perhaps that may be accounted for by the peculiar shape of the head. There is no point or spear head of any kind. Instead there is a solid piece of iron shaped exactly like the end of a giant poker, square and quite blunt."

DRINKING AMONG WOMEN

STRONGLY ENGAGING ATTENTION
OF AUTHORITIES IN LONDON AND
THE PROVINCES

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The matter of drinking among women, as well as the custom of treating recruits by the admiring public, is strongly engaging the attention of the authorities in London and the provinces. While the closing hours of public houses have been made earlier throughout England, other measures are discussed. One is that women be barred from the public houses altogether, since many of them have more money to spend while their husbands are away at the war. Another proposal is to exclude women from the drinking places in the morning.

Nina Boyle who is at the head of the political and militant department of the Women's Freedom League, makes an indignant protest in a letter to the prime minister's secretary.

"It is my duty to warn you that these repeated attacks on our liberties are provoking the deepest indignation among men and women alike," says her letter. Miss Boyle also wrote:

"May I point out to you—That the allowances paid to women are their own money, and that they have the right to spend their money as they like as men have."

"That no attempt, apparently, is being engineered to regulate the allowances of soldiers and sailors, many of whom, according to information supplied me, are spending the money paid them by the government on drink and immoral women without restraint."

"That there has been no increase in drinking among women since the outbreak of war at all proportionate to the increase of drinking among men."

"The probable reason for the statement that more women are drinking now is that at the present time public houses are so thronged with male customers—of whom an enormous number are new to uniform—that women cannot gain access to the premises and are served outside, where naturally they are more conspicuous."

AIRSHIP RAID IN LONDON

"DISAPPOINTMENT" IN ENGLAND
OVER NON-APPEARANCE OF BIG
ZEPPELINS

MANCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Speculating on the possibility of a Zeppelin raid on London, the Manchester Guardian says there is a noticeable feeling of "disappointment" in England over the non-appearance of these airships. While the Zeppelin would not be really welcome, there were those at home so hungering for excitement that as a whole England seemed ready to take the risk.

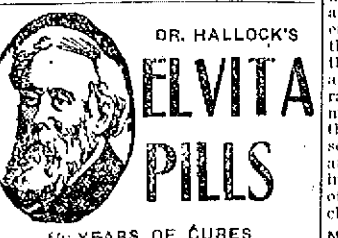

It was only yesterday that even if fifty Zeppelins were sent over, their concentrated devastation could not cover more than six acres—or if they dropped all their bombs on the "square mile" that makes up the city of London proper "they could kill something under one in a hundred of the people who happened to be there."

Over the whole of London, taking the metropolitan police area, the chances of escaping would be about 70,000 to one. Over what may be described as the central area of London, within which a Zeppelin might be expected to operate, the chances of escape would be about 15,000 to one. "Personally, I think it would be a good job if the Zeppelins did come. Even if they did drop a few bombs, the stimulus to recruiting would be worth what 'little' was done," says Frank Hughes Butler, who is founder of the Royal Aero club.

Help the Stomach
Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that gradually force into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not grip or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 451 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

TROUSERS FREE

$5.00 PANTS FREE

I told you in last Friday's ad. I purchased approximately 800 yards of fine worsteds, about 30 different styles. I advertised them made to order any style Suit or Overcoat for $12.50. Whether the approaching holiday made people feel poor, or the nasty, winterish weather was the depressing cause, I am not sure. I only know that the greatest trade offered in Lowell for many a day brought only normal business. I offered this special buy last Friday for $12.50 to order---a special trade.

I OFFER THE BALANCE TODAY AND TOMORROW

For the same price, only as an extraordinary inducement, I will give to each customer ordering a Suit or Overcoat

MANCHESTER INSTITUTE

VALUABLE EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTE
PRACTICALLY FREE

[From the Manchester Leader]

In few cities in the broad stretch of these United States can there be found opportunities for study and training in arts and crafts such as offered in the city of Manchester, N. H., by the Institute of Arts and Sciences.

Allied with no educational institution, absolutely free from domination by ecclesiastical bodies of any faith, an independent and heavily endowed organization in itself, this institute is conducted by citizens of Manchester elected to govern its diversified operations by the membership at large which consists of any worthy, knowledge-seeking citizen who possesses the modest fee of $2.

A course in drawing from models and from the antique, in charcoal, pen and ink, oils or water colors, for $2. A thorough course in English, French, German, Spanish or Esperanto, for the same initial payment of $2. The study of any musical instrument with opportunity for practical experience in the institute orchestra, voice culture and chorus singing, clay modelling and sculpture, wood carving, basketry, embroidery classes all thrown in for the same $2. Metal work, including the production of hand-made jewelry and setting of precious stones and the raising of bowls, trays, etc., from sheet metal for no extra investment than the original $2. Practical domestic science and home economics classes and many other subjects are offered in the unique organization, any or all of which can be included in the self-chosen curriculum of any member.

Not Money-Making Proposition

The Manchester Institute is not a money-making scheme. Its membership is scarcely limited at all, an applicant for membership having only to clearly show that he is earnestly desirous of profiting, mentally or otherwise, from the work of the organization. Once admitted, he is not limited in the scope of selecting two or three subjects for study, but may, if time, strength and inclination permit, study in every class of every department of the whole body. The only requirement for all this is an initial entrance fee of $2.

Once turned out of commodious headquarters, the institute classes have been for several years conducted in separate rooms in public buildings throughout the city.

This week the institute council is considering architect's plans for a magnificent new structure, the gift of Mrs. L. M. French of Manchester, which will, within a year, also house the institute and its many departments on a site directly opposite the new Carpenter Memorial Library which was dedicated last Wednesday.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

For a very small sum a little bed can be made that is pretty, comfortable and occupies none of the floor space in a small bedroom.

Get a store box about three feet long, a foot and a half wide and a foot deep. Have a blacksmith fasten two strong iron hooks securely on one side. Then paint with two coats of enamel paint; pink, white or blue. Fasten a full ruffle of dotted muslin edged with lace around it, and tie a ribbon bow in the color used to one corner. Now a little pillow and mattress to fit it.

When fastened on the foot of the bed it makes it possible for the mother to give baby his night nursing without getting out of bed, which is a blessing in winter.

A little girl, I know, has an allowance of twenty-five cents a week for spending money from an aunt. She has been provided with a small cheque book and bank deposit slips, and, on receiving her allowance, makes out a deposit slip and deposits the money with her aunt, who has instituted herself "The Trust Company."

When Betty wishes to spend any amount, however small, she writes a cheque and her aunt cashes it. She keeps an account book where all receipts and expenditures are carefully entered, and both her account book and her bank book are balanced monthly.

She feels much interested in these business transactions, and in this way is learning to keep both bank and personal accounts. I think it is a valuable training for any child of ten years, perhaps even younger.

In dressing my small son, who used to dread the ordeal, I have found a method that hurries him through without the word "Hurry" even once being used.

When it comes time for underwear, rompers, etc., the right foot (and hand) is called "Prince," and the left foot (and hand) is "Queen," and there is a great hurry to get the horses into the stalls.

"Boy" now takes such an interest in dressing that he came to me yesterday with "Prince and Queen are in their stalls" and I find he has learned, at three years of age, to put his rompers on by himself, though they are really a little confusing sometimes to grown-ups.

To tie baby's bonnet net a yard of satin or taffeta ribbon about three inches wide and make a small bow on each end. There should be about five inches of ribbon between the bows.

Fasten one bow securely to the bonnet and sew a hook on the under side of the other bow. Then sew an eye on the bonnet and be sure it is sewed even with the opposite bow.

I have found this way to be much better than wet and soiled bonnet strings.

Baby will not chafe if cold cream is used instead of powder. It will not make skin tender, but makes it much easier to wash baby and you will not have to use it near as often as powder.

A pinch of borax used in the water to wash baby's head will keep "cradle cap" off.

I find that the lube on infant's bands through which the diaper is pinned, wear out very quickly from constant pinning. Work two eyelets in the tab and stick the pin through these each time and the life of the band will be prolonged. The distance between the eyelets should be a little less than the length of the pin.

An ideal way to amuse a child who is convalescent, or one who has become tired from a long journey, is to place a picture or advertisement over a piece of white paper, then prick with a pin the outline of the picture. When the original picture is removed, the outline can be colored. This will afford pleasure for hours.

All "Kiddies" like to play in sand and nothing gives them more joy than to handle colored sands. Light sand should be procured and ordinary beet juice will make a beautiful shade of red and the most delicate pink; a drop of bluing will produce light blue and navy, according to quantity; a small amount of coffee will produce yellow and brown, and as these substances are all perfectly harmless, there is no reason why the youngsters should not enjoy them.

NEW SEAT OF LEARNING

UNIVERSITY OF FRANKFORT
OPENED IN BERLIN, NOTWITHSTANDING THE WAR

BERLIN, Nov. 27 (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Notwithstanding the war, the new University of Frankfurt has just been opened. The emperor signed the statutes of the new institution on Aug. 1, the day the German mobilization was ordered. Thus this new seat of learning will be identified for all time with the great world war, just as the University of Berlin is known throughout Germany for having been born during the Napoleonic wars. The University of Frankfurt has also attached to itself a reminiscence of those days by opening its doors on the anniversary of the battle of Leipzig, where Napoleon's power in Germany was finally broken.

The opening, on Oct. 18, was without any special ceremony. The Kaiser sent from military headquarters a despatch expressing his regret that the "defense of the fatherland from the nefarious attacks of our enemies" rendered it impossible for him to be present.

The institution begins its career under favorable financial and intellectual auspices. An endowment fund of about $2,000,000 has been collected. A large part of this was given by members of the Frankfurt Saver family, which is also represented in New York. A considerable contribution was also made, it is understood, by Jacob H. Schiff of New York, as a gift to his native city. The city of Frankfurt proposes to make annual contributions for meeting a part of the running

Worms—A Danger to Children

Childhood has many ills, but worms, whether pinworms or stomach worms, must be vigorously guarded against.

No gain in health and strength is possible until they are removed. If you suspect that your child is suffering from worms, do not lose another minute, but get a bottle of this time-tried, dependable Trade Mark remedy—Dr. True's Elixir.

Discovered by my father, this compound has for over 30 years been proving in reputation as a sure remedy for worms of all kinds and for keeping the stomach in the pink of condition.

Send for list of symptoms. Do not endanger your child's health, but get a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, at once. Good for adults also. At your dealer's, 25c., 50c. and $1.00. Advice free. Special treatment for tapeworms. Send for book.

Auburn, Mo. Dr. True

Established about 25 years ago. This gives the university better facilities in some departments of medicine than some of the older institutions. Thus it has two clinics especially for children's diseases, as well as others for ear and throat diseases—facilities which some of the other institutions are still lacking for. The Georgia Saver house for making researches into pharmaceutical chemistry, which is presided over by the famous Prof. Paul Ehrlich, has apparently been incorporated bodily into the new university. This has also been the case with the Neurological Institute of Professor Edinger. There are also extensive museums of zoology, mineralogy, geology and botany.

HUB-MARK
RUBBERSIN YOUR GRAND-FATHER'S DAY

This company was at its beginning. He has seen it grow into today. Hub-Mark Rubbers are the standard of excellence. Building upon the solid rock of thorough goodness, the factory has expanded from a modest structure to the largest and best equipped factory in the world. Hub-Mark men meet the exacting demand for rubbers that fit and wear. From the selection of the crude rubber to the scientific manipulation of ingredients and fabrics for the best linings and interlinings, the watch word is perfection. That Hub-Mark perfection means maximum economy and satisfaction to the wearer.

Say "Hub-Mark" to the storeman when you buy rubbers. They cost no more than any standard, first quality goods. Hub-Mark rubber footwear for men, women, boys and girls is backed by a sixty year reputation for integrity and a sincere determination to hold that reputation.

These rubbers are manufactured by the Boston Rubber Shoe Company, Malden, Mass.

BUSINESS VS. POLITICS

The two men who will be finally selected by the Lowell election to take a place in the municipal council should not limit themselves to the fact that the voters of the primaries strongly showed their disapproval of a government conducted on merely political lines and indicated their strong desire for a business-like administration. The more Lowell showed its disapproval of an administration conducted on other than strictly business lines, if the entire governing body of the present was up for reelection, public disapproval would be shown still more strongly.

Springfield had a like experience at the primary election. The administration of the present mayor of that city was repudiated, the Springfield public having backed up an alderman who had been ignored and opposed by the chief executive. Papers of all political persuasions in that city acknowledged that the election returns indicated a blow at petty political government. Commenting on this parallel result the Springfield Union said: "The city of Springfield will not stand for any other kind of politics in city affairs but that which considers only the city's good. The widespread interest in the agitation for a new charter affords positive indication that the people intend to put the government of that municipality on a better business basis, which means that they are tired of the intrusion of party politics in the management of their affairs."

Judging by gratifying indications, so is Lowell tired of the intrusion of petty politics into city municipal affairs. Rarely indeed does a citizen take it for granted that the vote of some members of the municipal council is sincere. Too often our directors of affairs show that in their official duties they are actuated more by dislike of previous officials or policies or more by a desire to prepare for future triumphs than by a regard for the interest of their city. They rarely vote to support or to condemn a measure without first of all weighing the possibilities of their vote on their political fortunes. It was to get away from this kind of petty political administration that our city charter was changed, but the charter change, unfortunately, did not in every instance change the methods of our administration.

Our municipal elections were arranged on a non-partisan basis to put politics as far as possible out of sight and to advance scientific and business-like administration. The public is to judge the qualifications of the aspirants and make their selection accordingly. No man is elected to office in order that he may build up a political machine to perpetuate himself or to scatter positions and favors broadcast among the members of a limited clique. A few voters, cooperatively speaking, may vote from selfish and unworthy motives; but the mass of the electorate vote for decent and able government. That they did it this year in our own city is indisputable; it is a warning that our officials must come up to popular expectations or be rebuked on the first opportunity.

ALIEN LABOR

In New York work on very important new subway being constructed is held up because of a recent act of the legislature which explicitly states that none but American citizens be employed in such undertakings. The law is said to have been framed at the request of the labor unions, but, be that as it may, it is having some unexpected results. Summed up briefly, the New York situation is this: American citizens will not do the subway work, and aliens are not permitted to do it. Consequently the subway construction is in danger of being held up indefinitely. Arguments for the repeal or amendment of the law are superfluous in view of its direct effects. The principle of the law, however, is open to discussion.

As contrasted with New York, the law of Massachusetts requires that, in Boston, a preference be given to citizens, but if citizens are not qualified for the job, non-citizens may be hired for the work. This is a more just law, but even its desirability is questionable. Such labor problems are so mixed with important civic, social and broadly economic considerations that it were better if common sense founded on a sense of fairness to all be permitted to settle them.

Looked at from any angle, such legislative acts against alien labor are aimed at humiliation. It is permissible, and possibly desirable, that laws be made to such an end, but laws such as that of New York begin at the wrong end. If aliens are permitted to land here they should be permitted to match brain and brawn with the native son without unfair discrimination. If a subway is to be built, those in charge of the construction would rather see a dozen brawny aliens applying for jobs than a dozen less physically fit, carrying citizenship papers. Besides, if the law aims at making citizenship attractive, it is a dubious good. The alien who becomes a citizen from such selfish motives will scarcely be a valuable acquisition to the community. Patriotism is often used as a cloak to cover foolishness and unjust restrictions, and laws such as that of New York reveal the inevitable result. Luckily the direct failure of the New York law carries its speedy condemnation.

STRAWS OF PROSPERITY

This week's notices have been posted at the immense works of the General Electric company at Lynn, calling for the full working force of those men, who on Monday morning, this sudden boom in the electric supply business is due to have and many old orders, some of them from South American markets, but also supplied by Germany. This situation of prospering prosperity follows first on the announcement of increased activity in the steel and shoe business, the textile lines and many other branches of manufacture are reporting cheerful outlooks.

From the many reports of expected boom in American business coming in from all directions, there is every prospect of great prosperity beginning with the new year. The pinch of foreign trade restriction is already being felt as the supplies of the neutral countries—and of the warring countries in some commodities—are running short. The United States was not only impudent but in direct violation of the president's order to all American citizens.

RIFLE DRILL

Nothing will be lost in effecting such an audacious theft could be discovered by a refusal to be covered? All account books having government order of real rifles in order to do with the expenditure or collection school regiments. The school of public funds should be compared in so refusing, on the advice of properly overlooked frequently, no matter the first instructor, did, was for what the personality of the person, though undoubtedly the refusal was a good handling of the funds may be. An disappointment to many of the boys, the first official is the first to demand there is a strong fascination in rifles and a periodical audit.

Words, revolvers, and other arms for boys, and this feeling has been intensified by the reports of the European war. Still, it is doubtful if anything is to be gained by the use of real rifles in high school drills. The possession of arms, with the approval of the school authorities, would tend to inflame the imagination of the boy and invite him to rashness, with every possibility of danger. The tendency is to discourage the use of arms by juveniles rather than the contrary and this course would not be served by the carrying of real rifles at drill. Again, there is something in the spectacle of high school boys drilling with real rifles which does not agree with the traditional American policy—though it must be admitted that this policy has been given a few serious jolts by the war.

CITY FUNDS GONE

Every little while a revelation comes to light regarding the misappropriation of city or town funds by a trusted public servant, and everybody talks about the need for annual audits and efficient systems of accounting. Yet, with amazing regularity, like instances crop out not far away to start the agitation all over again. The public learns very slowly. The latest account of such an incident comes from Medford, where an ex-city clerk is accused of taking an amount estimated at $10,000. The revelation follows a confession of the taking of some lesser amounts, and the result—audit of the city books by the state bureau of statistics and labor. Why were not the books audited for the past 15 years, or added so that such an audacious theft could be discovered? All account books having government order of real rifles in order to do with the expenditure or collection school regiments. The school of public funds should be compared in so refusing, on the advice of properly overlooked frequently, no matter the first instructor, did, was for what the personality of the person, though undoubtedly the refusal was a good handling of the funds may be. An disappointment to many of the boys, the first official is the first to demand there is a strong fascination in rifles and a periodical audit.

Do not complain at the slight airs that pinch the finger tips and make the nose blue. They have also banished that undesirable street ornament, the summer loafer, who used to spend his time between looking up some central building and catching all the girls who passed.

Our prosperity boomers will not brag about one item of business which came our way on account of the war. This is the order to a Chicago concern for mechanical grave-diggers.

Just because Thanksgiving is past is no reason why you should not feel thankful today. Cultivate the thanksgiving habit for every day. "Be a paying one."

At last we understand "the unspeakable Turk." City elections, then Christmas.

SEEN AND HEARD

Nothing in a name. John Huntwork has a good job in Lawrence.

The things that do not concern us give us the most concern.

There never was any villain in any book or play who wasn't a new-born babe compared with what friend wife thinks friend husband is when she finds a hairpin in his vest pocket.

If some of the men could get a good rear view of the light adhesive pants they are wearing they wouldn't laugh so much at the affectionate skirts worn by the girls.

Here are a few prohibition items culled from an exchange: A four-headed rabbit with green eyes whipped a hunter and killed two dogs in West Virginia. A red, white and blue coyote walked into a Kansas drug store and bit the bartender on the leg.

A purple freckle-faced with long, pink hair wandered into a Maine hotel room and ate the cook.

A scarlet giraffe, with cerise wings, chased an Arkansas man and stole a part of his coat of arms. An Albatross was reported a desperate battle between a ninety-foot hen and a striker with three tails and an orange and green-striped sea lion with six teeth legs.

FORCE OF HOTEL HABIT After several years of hotel life Percival's parents took up their residence in a city suburb.

"What were you doing, son?" the mother asked him when Percival came into the house one afternoon.

"I was just out on the front porch," replied Percival, "listening to a man with a pushcart plying blackberries."

THE REAL TREASURE The real treasure is that laid up by man or woman through charity and piety, temperance and industry.

BILE AND BILIOUSNESS Bile is manufactured in the cells of the liver. It assists digestion and prevents putrefaction in the intestines. Bile is necessary to life but excess of bile is poisonous. The effects of excessive secretion of bile and failure to eliminate it from the blood, which is also a function of the liver, are white-coated or brown-furred tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, indigestion, headache, lack of appetite, constipation and weariness. Biliousness and points directly to the need of something to regulate the liver. For this purpose the claim is made that Pinklets, the new laxative, are greatly superior to old-fashioned liver medicines which over-stimulate the liver and when their use is stopped, leave the liver more torpid than before. Instead of over-stimulation debilitates the liver in as certain as anything known in the science of medicine. Pinklets are tiny, sugar-coated pills, dairy to take, easy in action and they do not upset the stomach or cause griping. Given a thorough trial they really correct chronic constipation.

Your druggist sells Pinklets or they will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 25 cents per bottle, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Send today for booklet and free sample.

STOCK OWNERS WARNED

AGAINST IMPOSTERS—FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE BRINGS PEDDLERS OF QUACK REMEDIES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—Reports are now beginning to come in to the department of agriculture from several of the states quarantined for the foot and mouth disease that persons who have no connection whatsoever with the department are attempting to pass themselves off as federal inspectors. There are several possible motives that might account for the existence of these imposters. In the outlying parts of the states there are instances of break of laws where from credulous men who obtained money from credulous victims who believed that in this way they would escape the inconvenience of quarantine and disinfection.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for women's ills known.

ence of quarantine and disinfection. This is, of course, a very simple form of extortion. Another motive may be the sale of some quack remedy for the disease.

Stock owners can protect themselves very easily against this fraud, for there is no specific remedy for the foot and mouth disease. Since the germ has never been isolated, it has never been possible as yet to find any serum that would act either as a cure or preventive, and the public may be quite certain that any one who says that he is an employee of the department of agriculture, and at the same time attempts to sell, or even recommend anything of the sort, is simply an imposter. For this reason, stock owners are warned not to allow strangers to visit their stock or attempt any demonstrations of so-called cures by injections or otherwise.

There is, moreover, very great danger that such people might disseminate the disease. It is a well known fact that the germs may be carried on clothing. In infected territory, therefore, it is quite possible that a man who has come in contact with stricken animals may bring the disease to a perfectly healthy herd. This also accounts for much of the spread of hog cholera.

The department therefore recommends all farmers to keep their animals from contact with all save those who have definite business with them.

FOREST NOTES

The town forest of Baden-Baden, Germany, yields an annual profit of $5.25 per acre, or a total net profit of nearly $67,500.

Outside of its use for fence posts, black locust finds its principal utilization in insulator pins and brackets for telegraph and telephone lines.

One hundred shade trees will be planted by the Massachusetts Forestry association in cities or towns of four population classes which win prize contests for excellence in street tree planting.

The Russian government has placed an embargo on all kinds of lumber, to prevent its exportation; walnut lumber, including Cretaceous walnut, much prized by American furniture makers, is specifically mentioned.

Experiences with forest fires on the national forests this year show that automobiles, when they can be used, furnish the quickest and cheapest transportation for crews of fire fighters. Motor rates are higher than for teams for the actual time employed but the total cost per distance traveled and in wages paid to men in getting to fires is much less. The time-saving is self-evident; trips which ordinarily require two days' time by team have been made by automobile in a few hours.

Three Shortest Men in House of Commons Long For Action on the Front

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—It appears that the three shortest men in the house of commons are three of the most warlike. Their names are Wedgwood Benn, L. S. Amery, and H. J. Tennant. The first two have already gone to the front, and Mr. Tennant is parliamentary under-secretary for war. Mr. Amery also saw service in South Africa. Mr. Benn is known in the house as "Little Ben" and "Buttogs."

NEW NAVAL PROBLEMS

Ships Need Armor to Resist Mines and Torpedoes — Ship Bottoms Need Protection

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—While the American navy officers have watched with critical eyes the deadly work of torpedoes fired from submarines and of contact mines in the European war, nothing has developed as yet which indicates any radical change in battleship construction to offer greater defense against underwater attacks.

The problems presented are not new. They have been studied by naval constructors of every power since the Russian-Japanese war when many fine ships fell victim to mines and torpedoes. Proposals of many sorts have been discussed. Some have been adopted; but the theory of warship-building still clings to concentration of offensive power in terms of larger guns, bigger and swifter ships and wider cruising radius, even at the expense of defensive armor.

The heavy losses sustained by the British navy by submarine attacks has brought up for renewed discussion the subject of armor on the bottoms of warships. Recent issues of English service journals have noted a plan to cover the entire bottom of a battleship with four inches of armor plating. It was urged that the experiment be tried with an old ship which should be subjected to actual test with the explosion against her hull of the most powerful modern torpedoes. The ship also would be driven in weight elsewhere and the only way it could be accomplished would be to reduce the size and number of guns, the thickness of surface armor, the weight of engines and coal capacity and because of this last, the size of the ships themselves. With armored bottoms, battleships would become slow, heavy vessels of small cruising radius and their usefulness as instruments with which to strike swift, terrible blows at distant points before word of their coming had gone out, would vanish. Cruisers and swift merchant vessels would take care only to keep out of range of their guns. The terrible power of the modern dreadnaught would be a thing of the past.

It is not impossible, however, that some degree of protection for the bottoms of battle craft will be considered in future. Heretofore constructors have relied almost wholly upon increasing numbers of watertight compartments to keep torpedoes from doing harm. The loss of the British battleship Audacious, one of the most modern fighting machines in the world, has shed new light on the subject. Details of that disaster are lacking, but many believe the Audacious ran into a mine which sent her to the bottom. Her compartments kept her afloat until her crew was rescued; but one by one they gave way under the increasing pressure of the water and finally she went down.

Navy officers are unwilling as yet to predict what effect on naval construction that will have. They say it is a question of balance between offense and defense in battleship construction and the old axiom that the greatest defense lies in the highest offense, still holds.

UNION SERVICES HELD

Churches United at Thanksgiving Services—Thanks for Blessings of Peace

There were two soloists at the union Thanksgiving service in the First Unitarian Congregational church, yesterday. Mr. James P. Brown and Miss Eva Henderson.

Rev. E. H. Newcomb read the Thanksgiving day proclamation by President Wilson. Rev. R. G. Clapp led the responsive reading and Rev. C. A. Ferrin made the prayer of thanksgiving. The sermon was preached by Rev. C. A. Lincoln, pastor of Kirk Street church, from the text "Offer unto God a Sacrifice of Thanksgiving."

He said in part: "Notice these words: 'Offer the sacrifice of thanksgiving.' What is it? It is the giving of one's self, the dedication of the heart and the life of man, to God. The only people who can truly appreciate Thanksgiving are those who have thus dedicated themselves to the service of God, put themselves upon the altar of worship and praise. In fact, I think that only Christian people can rightly understand and enter into the spirit of Thanksgiving day. What is gratitude, but the giving of one's self, after all? Ingratitude is the withholding of one's self, where it rightly should be given to another. God never gives a man an excuse for ingratitude. He never condescends in His gifts, as men sometimes do. He gives abundantly, he over-gives; and that he does freely. 'Freely ye have received, freely give.' The only thing that you can really give is yourself.

"There are all the treasures bestowed upon us; there is one gift that

A WOMAN'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE!

The Way a Nation Treats Its Women.

A country's civilization or barbarism can be told by the way it treats women. This is the test of its standing among the nations of the world. Husbands should treat their wives with the greatest consideration for the wife is often weighed down by a crushing burden of weakness, illness or despair.

Thousands upon thousands of mothers, wives and daughters in every section of this great country, who have regained health, vigor and cheerful disposition after months of misery and even despair, are the ones who truly appreciate the marvelous restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Every woman who has reason to believe that backache, headache, neuralgic pains, low spirits, sleepless nights, irregularities or a catarrhal condition is caused by a derangement of the womanly functions, owes it to herself and dear ones to speedily overcome the trouble before a general breakdown causes permanent prostration.

DR. MCCLUSKEY SECURES HOSIERY FORMER MAYOR FOR ST. PATRICK'S ALUMNI BANQUET

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston, has accepted an invitation to be a speaker at the dinner of St. Patrick's Academy Alumni association to be held the latter part of December. Wednesday Dr. Richard J. McCluskey, chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner, went to Boston and personally invited Boston's well known citizen to speak to the alumni on the occasion. The doctor and the former mayor used to be among the "regulars" at Old Orchard beach and hence they are no strangers. The former mayor accepted the invitation, saying that he knew something of the alumni, and the success of his members have attained in every walk of life, and hence he said he would be delighted to come to Lowell and give to the members the benefit of his observations at home and abroad and of his experience in public life, as a congressman, representative, senator, congressman and mayor of Boston.

Returning to Lowell, Dr. McCluskey conferred with members of the alumni as to the success his visit met with and all congratulated him on his selection, for while to a Lowell audience ex-Mayor Fitzgerald is no stranger, still like old wine he improves with age, and the years have not robbed him of his popularity here. Dr. McCluskey will submit his report for a meeting of the association on Sunday and confidently looks for the most successful reunion in the history of the organization. Former Mayor Fitzgerald is in great demand as a public speaker all over the state and only recently accepted an invitation to speak to the members of the local board of trade on trade opportunities.

FOR HICKORY HANDLES

Through new specifications for axle, sledge, adz, pick and other hickory handles, the Panama canal authorities have recently purchased large quantities of this class of material for one-fourth less than formerly paid, and at the same time are getting just as serviceable stock.

The war department and the navy department, as well as the Panama canal commission, have adopted these specifications, which were prepared by the forest service primarily for the use of the various branches of the federal government. Subsequently, however, they have been approved by the trade, both manufacturers and dealers, and adopted by several of the leading railroads.

The new rules are the result of a long study of the subject, covering exhaustive strength tests, investigations of the growth of hickory in the woods, processes of manufacture, and market conditions. Under the new specifications handles are selected according to weight, as influenced by the density of the wood, and they now include material which may be either partly or wholly of heartwood, known generally as red hickory. Red hickory was formerly discriminated against in commercial grading, but it is now accepted, since it has been found that weight for weight it is just as serviceable as the white hickory. Handles which contain small sound knots or bird pecks, so located as not to affect the strength, are also accepted.

Keep Your Lungs Strong

This advice is doubly important with the knowledge that every three minutes some one in the United States succumbs to consumption and many refuse to realize they are affected until it is too late.

It is after colds or sickness, from overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists that tubercular germs thrive because the resistive powers of the body are weakened.

Only with fresh air, sunshine and abundant rich blood can one hope to arrest their progress, and the concentrated fairs in Scott's Emulsion furnish fuel for rich blood, and its rare nourishment helps strengthen the lungs while it builds up the forces.

If you work indoors, rise easily, feel languid or run-down Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-indebted known and is free from alcohol or stupefying drugs. Avoid substitutes.

HOW PRINCE WAS KILLED

MAURICE OF BATTENBERG STRUCK BY SHRAPNEL BULLET—GRANDSON OF QUEEN VICTORIA

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The lamented Prince Maurice of Battenberg was Queen Victoria's youngest grandchild and was such a great favorite with the queen that he passed the first few years of his life continuously in her company.

Just a few years before the prince's untimely death he wrote to a member of his family: "I am having the time of my life. Don't bother about me. It is like a picnic. I commanded a chicken and cooked it with eggs. Tell Mrs. — (the princess's cook) that it was better than anything she ever cooked."

Prince Maurice was the youngest son of Princess Henry of Battenberg and a first cousin of King George. He was leading his company of the King's Royal Rifles at Ypres when a shrapnel bullet from a bursting shell struck him and ended his life almost instantly.

Prince Maurice was 23 years old and held the rank of lieutenant in the army. He was the only prince born in Balmoral castle. In fact no other prince has been born in Scotland since 1600, when Charles I. was born at Dunfermline.

Prince Leopold, Prince Alexander and Prince Maurice, all three sons of Princess Henry, entered the service at the beginning of the war. Prince Leopold was invalided home with a bullet in his knee before the death of his brother. The Queen of Spain is a sister of the lamented prince.

EFFECT OF THE WAR

MAY BE SEEN IN THE STYLE OF WHISKERS WORN BY THE SOLDIERS

LONDON, Nov. 27.—There is some newspaper speculation as to whether the war will follow precedent in instituting any change in fashions of what some of the writers delight to call "face fur." The Waterloo campaign introduced the mustache among the English troops, for it was first borrowed from certain Austrian officers then allies. It was taken up by the guards who resented very much any attempt to follow the fashion of the part of mere line regiments, while as for civilians it will be remembered, says the Manchester Guardian, that great a snub Clive Newcome drew upon himself by wearing a freckled mustache.

The Crimean war brought in the whisker again, in desperate civilian emulation of the gallant officers, who having grown all their hair from sheer necessity and perhaps from a certain companionable warmth in the bitter winter in the trenches, brought back their new appendages to stare Bond street and Pall Mall.

The British war effort has made some effort to encourage the growth of mustaches among soldiers, and there are few signs that the trenches of 1914 are going to bring in a new fashion of beard. As far as one has observed, says the Guardian, the average British soldier's first desire when he gets a breathing space from the trenches, and sometimes in the trenches themselves, is to rid himself of the beard and whiskers though one has seen a few staid veterans in base towns still bearded, and it must be confessed that they look much more awe-inspiring than the clean-shaven variety. French soldiers near the firing lines are much less abashed by beards, and continue to wear the most varied growth with something of an air, while the German or Belgians seem to follow the British in their preference for clean shaving.

WHY GOOD BLOOD IS RED

Why are we continually being told that good blood must be bright red? What has color to do with the quality? Just this. The oxygen in the air is the great supporter of animal life. One business of the blood is to take oxygen from the air (which it meets in the lungs) and deliver it to the tissues of the body. When the blood, filled with life-sustaining oxygen, is sent out by the heart it is bright red. When it returns, filled with impurities and deprived of its oxygen, it is dark.

From this it is clear that there are two prime requisites of health, pure air and bright red blood—the pure air to furnish the oxygen, the rich blood to carry it where it is needed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red because they increase its power to carry oxygen, actually making it so much more able to carry increased life and strength to every organ of the body. Try these little pills and note the increased color in cheeks and lips; see how your nerves become steeper, your appetite better, your digestion stronger, your step quicker, your troubles lighter.

"Building Up the Blood" is a handy little book to have. It is free on request from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

THE RABBIT'S FOOT

BY GWEN SEARS

POSE OF LARGE WOMEN

When a fashion comes into vogue, it is usually a result of a whim, but we would have to admit that the rabbit's foot is a Newfoundland dog of a whim.

A large woman should carry herself with a certain grace and dignity, but she should not affect a pose that is unbecomingly to her and makes her ridiculous.

The small woman, on the other hand, should carry herself with a certain grace and dignity, but she should not affect a pose that is unbecomingly to her and makes her ridiculous.

THE MORNING WALK

Did you ever dress hurriedly and rush out into the crisp morning air for a hunt before breakfast? May be you are a fastidious woman and are obliged to do this every morning of your life, except Sundays, and on that day you prefer the luxury of your warm bed. You have earned it and deserve it, but there are thousands of women who do not get their sleep until noon and drag themselves around the house until dinner time, in a daze.

If ever they experienced the ecstasy of a crisp wind whipping their polished cheeks, if ever they knew the thrill of filling their arms with crisp leaves or pine boughs or holly, if ever they allowed themselves the joy of hurrying over the frozen earth with the red blood tingling in their veins, they would never more don the furrow in the morning or when they are out in their outdoor costume, and bustle about in the great, joyous open.

Try it, believe me, your words can convince as easily as the experiment.

the same thing should not take place in the case of draft horses. The principal breeds of these are now thoroughly established in the United States. Their various characteristics and merits are discussed in a new bulletin published by the United States department of agriculture under the title of "Breeds of Draft Horses." This bulletin deals with the Belgian, Percheron, French Draft, Clydesdale, Shire and Suffolk types.

Of these the Percheron probably outnumbers in this country, all other breeds combined. Grade Percherons, the product of pure-bred stallions crossed with ordinary mares, have proved very popular on our markets. Of late years the Belgian has also made great strides, but this breed is still comparatively new in America. It is found chiefly in the middle west, where the heaviest types of draft horses are prevalent. During the past 10 years approximately 100 Clydesdales have been imported each year. This type is particularly well liked by those who want style and action, and in consequence is used to a great extent in cities. The Shires, though similar to the Clydesdales, are massive and less active. They are popular on the Pacific coast and in the central west.

England now permits the exportation for breeding purposes of Clydesdales and Shires, but it is not likely that under present conditions the importation of these breeds will be carried on to any considerable extent. As has already been said, however, exports in the department believe that importations are no longer necessary. The bulletin describing, with illustrations, the breeds already introduced will be sent free on application to the department as long as the supply lasts.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Catarrah a Danger Sign. Hyonol is the Guaranteed Remedy.

There is no more common yet dangerous and distressing disease than catarrah, which is generally indicated by dull headaches, snuffling, raising of mucus, and frequent colds. If it is not cured it will surely weaken the delicate tissues lining the air passages and frequently destroys the hearing.

Hyonol is a most effective, safe and reliable remedy for all catarrah ills. No dangerous drugs are taken into the stomach. You simply breathe it, using a small inhaler that comes with every Hyonol outfit. All druggists sell Hyonol, or Hyonol being taken in with the air you breathe simply has to reach all the sore, raw and inflamed surfaces of the air passages—its antiseptic healing begins at once. You feel better after the first Hyonol treatment—even almost hopeless cases respond quickly.

Hyonol is inexpensive, pleasant and easy to use, and surely gives quick and permanent benefit. Ask for the complete outfit. All druggists sell Hyonol and are authorized by Hootch's Hyonol Co. of Buffalo to return the purchase price to anyone who is not satisfied. You certainly cannot afford to neglect your catarrah trouble, head colds or bronchitis when you can get this harmless remedy without risking a penny.

SEVERAL SCORES OF ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIESTS RESPONDED TO CALL OF FRANCE

PEKING, Nov. 27.—Immediately after the declaration of war reservists of the several continental nations that were implicated proceeded by previous standing arrangements back to Europe or to various centers of mobilization in the Far East. The Germans went to Tsingtau; Frenchmen to various garrisons along the coast; Austrians went by way of America back to their native land. The British have only now begun to move. Reserve officers, of which there are a number in the Far East, have been summoned to return to England, and with them several hundred young men are leaving China, throwing up their positions and paying their own expenses back home to volunteer. German, French and Austrian business houses were at first seriously affected as a consequence of the drafting of their clerks. Now the British interests are beginning to suffer depletion in their staffs, and also the Chinese customs service, the directors of which are largely British.

Several score Roman Catholic priests from the interior of China, some from the remote province of Szechwan, having responded to the requirements of the French mobilization, have come to garrison posts along the China coast and at Peking.

"Take it from me—I know!"

You swing on some real tobacco!

If you're a red-blooded citizen, you beat it across the fields to a tidy red tin of Prince Albert and get some smoke joy jammed into that system of yours.

Because P. A. was produced to put a new high top record on pipe and cigarette liberty. You can smoke it until the cows come home, it can't bite your tongue, can't parch your throat. And that's a fact!

PRINCE ALBERT

is made by a patented process that cuts out the bite and the parch and just puts in the joy wallop—flavor, fragrance. Me-o-m-y, but what fun there's coming to the man who's game enough to match a dime against a tidy red tin of Prince Albert—tobacco that cost three years and a fortune to perfect!

Just kind o' let it sink in that you nor any other man anywhere ever did pack a pipe or roll a cigarette with such tobacco. P. A. is a revelation—a tobacco revolution that sure certain will smash joy right into your smoke department.

And today's fine for a go-to-it try-out!

Prince Albert is sold everywhere in tippy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; also in handsome pound and half-pound humidor.

CLOTHING FOR BELGIANS

MIDDLESEX WOMEN'S CLUB OPENS ITS HEADQUARTERS TO AID WORTHY CAUSE

During the first three days of next week, the Middlesex Women's club has offered the use of its rooms and headquarters for the collection of clothing for the suffering Belgians. All kinds of underclothing for men, women and children are desired, and shawls and sweaters will be especially acceptable. If any donors prefer to have their gifts used by the needy, all contributions so marked will be distributed to some of the worthy charities here. If not convenient to bring clothing to the club rooms, send them by mail to Colonel Palmer street, or telephone 321 and the goods will be called for.

Undoubtedly in hundreds of Lowell houses are discarded garments which are useless to their owners but which would prove a veritable God-send to some poor afflicted Belgian driven out of home and rendered penniless. Millions of men, women and children in that devastated country are absolutely dependent on charity, and without any great sacrifice, many Lowell people could aid them by answering the timely appeal of the Middlesex Women's club. It would be a pity if unused clothing should be permitted to hang in old closets or be hidden away in attics in this city when the need of the suffering Belgians is so urgent. The response will undoubtedly be—as it should be—prompt and generous.

IRISH SOLDIERS WAR CRY

SHOUT OF ERIN GO BRAGH AND SIGHT OF OLD FLAG TURNED DEFEAT INTO VICTORY

The following is from the Dublin Freeman:

(Corporal Michael O'Mara, of the Irish Guards, writes home to his relatives in Ireland.)

We are Irish soldiers and proud of the name, but in doing our duty for the glory and honor of the empire we have always also in our minds to add if we can more lustre to the fair name of Erin.

Our flag of green, with the harp and shamrock and the words "Erin go bragh," is now faded and torn, but still loved and cherished. Talking about that dear old flag I shall endeavour to describe how at Courcey the fate of the day seemed to waver in the balance, when the ruthless enemy by sheer weight of numbers were pressing onward at every point of vantage, that faded flag turned a threatened defeat into decisive victory.

On our left were the Munsters, on our right the Leinsters and Connaught Rangers. All were hard pressed and were about to retire, when suddenly from the firing line one of our comrades rushed flourishing the old green flag and shouting "Erin go bragh." With the blood coursing fast through my veins I watched with pride and admiration the marvellous effect produced by these simple words.

With a mighty cheer that seemed to rend the heavens and that rose and swelled even more above the din of battle, those hard-pressed sons of Erin charged down on the advancing enemy with fixed bayonets. The Germans were completely staggered by this unexpected turn of events when victory seemed just within their grasp. But they were given little time for hesitation, for, slightly to alter the words of a well known Irish ballad,

Like lions leaping at a fold
When men with hunger's pang,
Right up against the German lines
Those Irish heroes spring.

NEW POLISH CLUB HOUSE

FORMAL DEDICATION HELD YESTERDAY WITH SPEECHES BY CITY OFFICIALS AND OTHERS

Yesterday marked the opening of the new club house in Coburn street, the property of the Polish National Home association, which is composed of five different organizations. The building, a description of which was given in Tuesday's edition of The Sun, is one of the finest of its kind in the city and reflects great credit upon the Polish people of Lowell.

The new club is a two and a half story building and located in Coburn street near the corner of Lakeview avenue. The dimensions are 100 feet by 50 feet and the building is of wood. The lower floor consists of a large amusement hall and kitchen, while on the second floor are a dance hall with stage and gallery, ladies' room, dressing room, bath, toilet and check room. The building cost about $9,000. The plans were drawn by Architects Millard & Davis of this city, while the general contract was under the direction of Contractor Stanley Szevinski of Lynn. The club is composed of about 700 members, all members of the various Polish fraternal organizations of the city. The building is steam heated and equipped with electric lights. The floors are of hard wood, while the ceilings are of metal.

The dedication exercises were held in the afternoon and consisted of a banquet followed by post-prandial exercises and dancing in the evening. Stanley Monarszyski, president of the organization, acted as toastmaster and at the conclusion of a fine repast he thanked the visitors and in brief remarks explained the purpose of the building. He told of this building being the home of nearly 3,000 people and explained the amalgamation of five different orders into one organization in order to erect a suitable building for the gatherings of the members of this particular nationality and he said the structure was erected at a cost of $9,500.

Other speakers were Mayor D. J. Murphy, Rep. Henri Arlin, Jr., Lawyer J. T. Masterson, Albert Taraka, Stanley Zwick, John Nowak, Emil Hannas and others. The Polish-American Cadet band was in attendance and during the afternoon furnished excellent music. At the close of the speeches a light luncheon was served and the guests repaired to the upper hall, where general dancing was enjoyed. Those responsible for the success of the event were the following officers:

President, Stanley Monarszyski; vice-president, Francis Wich; treasurer, Michael Gaskiewicz; financial secretary, Batlamon Witkos; recording secretary, Ludwik Pajak; directors, Francis Kish, chairman; S. Polchlopek, J. Axon and S. Wozniak.

FINE SCOTCH CONCERT

Large Audience at First Presbyterian Church Last Evening—Every Number Encores

A very fine Scotch concert was given last evening at the First Presbyterian church before a large audience which showed its appreciation by demanding an encore to each number. From the beginning to the end of the program, there was a genuinely Scotch atmosphere, many of the selections being the old folk songs that will live as long as hearts beat that love real music. Following is the program:

Quartet, Hail to the Chief.
Miss Etta Thompson, soprano;
Mrs. F. L. Roberts, contralto; Mr. Harry Hopkins, tenor; Mr. Warren T. Reid, bass.

Solo, Bonnie Sweet Bessie.
Miss Etta Thompson.

Solo, The Pharis of Gordon's Men.
Harry Hopkins.

Reading, Heart of Brer Bear.
Lillian Bell.

Solo, Can't ye by Auld.
Miss A. Livingston Gage.

Solo, Lochan.
Mrs. F. L. Roberts.

Solo, Mary of Araby.
Harry Hopkins.

Reading, Selected.
Mrs. A. Livingston Gage.

Solo, Daddy (by request).
Mrs. F. L. Roberts.

Solo, My Ain Folk.
Miss Etta Thompson.

Solo, Sound the Pipes.
Mr. Warren T. Reid.

Quartet, Annie Laurie.
Annie Laurie.

Quartet, America.
Annie Laurie.

Piano accompanist, Miss Minnie Tucker.

The committee which consisted of such a splendid affair arranged for the following: John B. Cuddeh, secretary; Donald A. MacLachlan, financial secretary; Edward Hanson, treasurer; and John A. McDonald, Paul McDonald, Robert J. Houston, David Dickson, Thomas Moore, Hector Sutherland, Thomas Sutherland and Thomas Courtney.

Broderick's orch., Associate, tonight.

SUN FEATURES FOR SATURDAY

People Interested in Real Estate, Building, Etc., Should Read The Sun Real Estate Page—Other Specials

A page devoted exclusively to news of the real estate and building fields and the other trades connected with these will be published in tomorrow's Sun. This page serves to keep the real estate men and the builders and contractors in close touch with the public and readers should study the advertisements if they are contemplating the purchase of property or the erecting of any building or altering operations.

The Spellbinder will discuss the middle in product two of word one and other local political matters of interest.

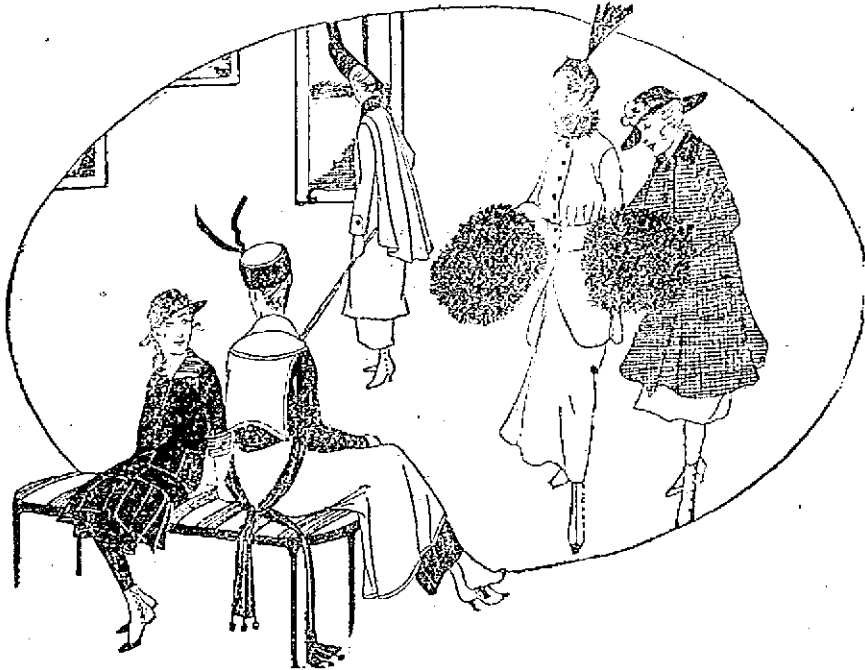

The Sun readers look forward to the "They Do Say" column of The Sun which are published every Saturday, and show a keen interest in this feature. These bright comments on a variety of topics will be printed tomorrow.

Exercise is one way of doing away with that constant aching feeling and of curing many everyday ills. In "What the French Maid Said" in tomorrow's Sun, Marie will tell of the health and beauty value of exercise. The wearing of fur and lace give one the appearance of usefulness, according to the writer of "The Rabbit's Foot." This article will discuss this topic in an interesting way tomorrow.

The little readers of The Sun will enjoy the "Sleeping Tale" tomorrow, title of which is "Joe's Trip." Mrs. Ray's menu for the entire week will be printed tomorrow.

PALMER STREET BASEMENT

TO THE MONEY SAVING WOMEN OF LOWELL AND VICINITY FOR THE NEXT THREE BUSINESS DAYS

At all times we are our own heaviest competitors—striving each month to out-do, in both sales and satisfaction, the work of the same month one year past—and when we've had special sellings in that particular month, we must need plan, perhaps a half a year ahead, for what we know is coming. You remember the sale of the White Store stock. It's one year since we placed those magnificent bargains in women's wearables before you, and you responded by giving us such a business in our MERRIMACK STREET BASEMENT as we had never seen before. That great business MUST be caught up with and beaten ere this month closes. For weeks and weeks, we've planned to that end, taking advantage of every spot cash bargain that was brought to our attention, getting big lots at half price, etc., so that now we come to you with these competition sale offerings. Prices made with no thought of profit, our one aim being to beat last year's sales. Our Merrimack street women's wear basement never held more attractive underprices for economical shoppers.

WORKING MACHINERY OF A TORPEDO FIRED AT BATTLESHIP FROM DEADLY SUBMARINE

SKETCH OF TORPEDO FIRED AT BATTLESHIP BY SUBMARINE

This sketch shows a sectional view of a torpedo shot at a warship. It is self explanatory. When fired from a submarine the mechanism of the torpedo is automatically set in motion and the impact of the nose against the hull of a ship springs the trigger which explodes the deadly missile. The exploits of the German submarine U-9 in sinking several English cruisers prove once for all the efficiency of the submarine use of the torpedo.

CROKER WEDS INDIAN MAID

RICHARD CROKER

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Richard W. Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall, was married yesterday to Miss Edmondson, a member of the Cherokee Indian tribe, who is 59 years his junior. He is 73 years old and she is 23. The bride and groom are on their way to the Croker estate near Palm Beach, Florida, for their honeymoon.

The wedding took place at the home of Nathan Straus, an old friend of Croker's. A number of persons whom Croker had not taken into his confidence as to just where the ceremony would be performed went to St. Agnes' church under the impression they would be witnesses of the nuptials, only to be disappointed.

However, Croker did not evade all the unwanted guests, as seemed to be his purpose for the street in front of the Straus house was crowded with men and women. Only about 25 guests were invited to the wedding.

Uncle Tires Bride

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. W. Hastings, who for 15 years has been attorney for the Cherokees and who recently was elected to congress from Oklahoma. The bridesmaids were Miss Frances Fite, a senator at Vassar, who comes from Muskogee, Okla.; Miss Ethel Brown of Dayton and Miss Wanda Townsend of Memphis.

Mr. Henry A. Brown, factor of St. Agnes' church, performed the ceremony. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl dog collar. Croker was attended by Thomas F. Smith, who has long been secretary of Tammany Hall. A typewritten statement given out by the bride after the ceremony made clear a good deal of her life history, which had been expected in many different ways, since knowledge of her engagement became known. Neither she nor Croker would talk much then, so the newspapers made the best of it by interviewing her friends. Some reports expressed doubt if she really was descended from the Indians, pointing out that she was blonde and very fair. Others said maybe she was one-quarter Indian.

Says She Is Princess

Others proclaimed her an Indian princess, and her statement says the latter were correct, for she is known as Princess Sequoyah of Kewawee, Kewawee, a name which she took from the Cherokee alphabet. "She is proud of her ancestry, and the Cherokees are proud of her as a college girl, lecturer, ranch owner and business woman," the statement says.

The ranch is 40 acres, and 1000 apples are raised each year.

Croker first saw the girl, who yesterday became his bride, in Kansas City, when she was nine years old, according to the statement, and he later became interested in her zeal to make her people better understood. Miss Edmondson took inspiration for her work from Pocahontas and other Indian girls, she said.

"I have been inspired by the example of Pocahontas, who did so much to make the English people understand our race," she said. "Then there was Kewawee, the third woman who piloted the Lewis and Clark expedition from miles and made it a success. On the way back in crossing the Missouri, her husband, a renegade Frenchman, upset the canoe, carrying the records of the expedition, and again until she saved all the valuable papers and trophies. I also had inspiration in Tallima, the Cherokee maiden who helped Sam Houston to free Texas.

And then she turned to Mr. Croker, who long was known as the "chief" of Tammany Hall, and counted it.

"But this is the dearest ambition of every Indian girl to win a chief, and I have won the chief of men."

In April the couple will go to the groom's estate in Ireland, where he has lived for many years, since retiring from political life in New York.

Mr. Croker and Miss Edmondson gave interesting details of their life history to W. F. Smith, the marriage clerk at city hall. It developed that he has a middle name, Webster. None of his intimate friends remember seeing it in print before. The bride said she was a poet and a lecturer, chiefly on subjects relating to her race. She is an accomplished singer, very talented and popular among a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Croker and Miss Edmondson last week obtained from the chancery office of the archdiocese two dispensations through Mr. John J. Dunn, the newly appointed chancellor. The first was based on the fact that Mr. Croker was a Catholic, and Miss Edmondson was a Protestant, and the second was based on the fact that they were both over 21 years of age.

In the marriage license the full name of the bridegroom is given as Richard W. Croker, his place of residence is East 74th street. His birthplace is noted as Ireland. The name of his father is John Croker, and the maiden name of his mother is Frances W. Croker. The affidavit says forth that this is Mr. Croker's second marriage, his first wife having died several months ago.

C. M. A. C. WHIST SOCIABLE

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR CONDUCTED AT ROOMS OF THE CLUB IN PAWTUCKETVILLE

One of the most successful whist and socials conducted under the auspices of the C. M. A. C. took place Wednesday evening in the large hall of the association in Pawtucketville.

The program was in charge of the president, Isidore Trudel, and the various musical numbers were most enjoyable.

A large turkey was presented the holder of the lucky number on the admission tickets, while forty chickens were awarded the winners at cards. Those who took part in the musical program were Adolphe Tragedy, Arthur Groux, Eugene Morissette and Wilfrid Desiel. Joseph Clermont gave a snail wire demonstration, while Joseph Bissillon and Joseph Cadecque gave a fine wrestling exhibition.

The affair was in charge of the following committee: Chairman, George Starnard; secretary-treasurer, Wilfrid Desiel; Emory Racette, Thomas Berube, Frank Leclaire, Adolphe Brasseur, Aurelien Starnard, Arthure Gosselin, Pierre Rheumier, Arthur Blanchette, Philippe Morin, Wilfrid Bibeault, Demet Dely, Adelard Payette, Albert Hamet, Arthur Hubert, Arthur Groux, Joseph Tremblay, Leo Beaulieu and J. Matte.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE
FOR THE LITTLE READERS OF THE SUN

THE LITTLE GIRL'S DREAM

Once upon a time the Gnomes got together and the oldest one said: "I guess we had better get a basket of good things together for that poor woman who lives alone with her little girl. She works hard all day long and then she is not able to earn money enough to buy the things that the little girl needs."

All of the Gnomes were willing to help and they set to work to do their share. One of them went out in the woods and gathered a lot of chestnuts. He sewed together with dried grass some lovely colored leaves and put the nuts in the leaves.

Another went to the market and got a nice turkey, another brought vegetables and others cakes, fruit, and everything they could think of that would taste good to the little girl and her mother.

That night they fixed the basket so it looked very pretty and after bedtime they stole softly up to the door and slipped the basket into the house.

The next morning when the little girl and her mother woke, the first thing they saw was the basket of goodies. The Gnomes had not forgotten anything and there was so much of everything that it lasted a long time.

One day the little girl was sitting beside the window and all at once beside her she heard a voice saying: "How did you like the basket of good things we sent you?" Looking up she saw one of the Gnomes.

"Oh, did you send those things?" she asked.

When the Gnome told her that they all sent them and that they would be glad to again if she wanted, the little girl was so pleased that she leaped over to kiss the little fellow and as she did so she fell out of the chair and bumped her nose.

Her mother was just opening the door and so was there to help her into the chair again.

"How did you happen to fall?" she asked. "I was trying to kiss the little Gnome who sent us the basket," she answered and the little girl wondered why her mother smiled at her.

"I guess we know it was only a dream."

THANKSGIVING WITH GRANDPA

Once upon a time Grandpa and Grandma asked all their children and grandchildren to come and have Thanksgiving dinner with them and as Grandpa said: "It will be a real old-fashioned one." They arrived early in the morning and were so hungry that it didn't seem as though they could wait until dinner time. The children all had a table by themselves and Grandma served them herself, so, as she said, that they would be sure to have enough.

After dinner Grandpa said they would go out and look at all of the animals in the barn but they must be very careful and not touch them. Little Jenny wanted to go and see the chickens and turkeys and so she went there by herself.

All at once Grandpa was startled by a loud cry and he went in the direction of the noise. There he saw poor little Jenny running as fast as she could and close behind her was a big turkey. Grandpa drove the turkey back and picked the little girl up in his arms and carried her back to her mother. Jenny was so frightened that the rest of the time she could not be persuaded to go very far from her mother.

He held on, although the turkey tried to get away, until his father came and together they tied the turkey's legs and carried it home. That was how Grandpa helped get Thanksgiving dinner.

The children thought that a fine story and begged for another but just then Grandma said: "Bedtime children," and they had to say good-night. Grandpa said as he kissed them: "I'll tell you another story tomorrow."

LOCAL RED CROSS WORK SHIPMENT TO LONDON

Noble Work for Wounded of all Countries—Letter Bearing Appreciation of Queen of England

The work being done locally by the energetic branch of the Red Cross society at its headquarters in the Runels building is showing its practical outcome in the large amount of clothing, hospital pads and bandages being sent regularly to the shipping offices. A consignment made up today consists of three dozen pajamas, twenty-two nightshirts, one dozen bath robes, over 1000 pads of surgical dressings and 700 bandages. The hospital supplies were sterilized by St. John's hospital and the Lowell General hospital. One of the busiest departments is the surgical department in charge of Mrs. Nathan D. Pratt and Mrs. Mary. Continued to page twelve

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

State Board's Order Prevents the Board of Health From Inspecting Source of Milk Supply Here

Because of orders issued by the state bureau of animal industry it is impossible for the local board of health or any of its inspectors to inspect the source of the milk supply here as local inspectors are forbidden to go upon any of the farms in this commonwealth where cattle are kept until the foot and mouth disease has subsided. Dr. G. Forrest Martin was a caller at the board of health office this forenoon and he discussed the foot and mouth disease, briefly, with Agent Bates. The doctor called for the purpose of ascertaining if the board of health had any literature dealing with the disease. Continued to page twelve

BODY OF MRS. SPRINGER

WHO DISAPPEARED ON NOV. 17 WAS FOUND IN FORT MEADOW POND, MARLBORO, TODAY

MARLBORO, Nov. 27.—The body of Mrs. Walter Springer, who disappeared mysteriously from her home on Nov. 17, was found today in Fort Meadow pond, about a mile from her home. The pond had been dynamited yesterday and searching parties who went to the pond this morning found the body floating on the surface. An autopsy will be held late today. It is believed by the officials that Mrs. Springer wandered into the waters of the pond while suffering from a severe sickness.

BERLIN REPORTS BATTLE STILL ON

Paris, London and Petrograd State Germany Has Been Decisively Defeated—Vienna and Berlin Claim the Outcome Not Yet Decided

The situation in Russian Poland, at present the scene of the most important conflict of the European war, has become the most puzzling phase of the war. An official Austrian statement is to the effect that the fighting has assumed the character of a continuous battle. In Western Galicia, it is said, the Russians have been repulsed by the Austrians. Latest advice from Berlin state that the outcome has not been decided, although partial German victories are reported. Opposed to this are the unofficial statements from Petrograd, Paris and London that Germany has been defeated decisively and Earl Kitchener's announcement in parliament that Germany has suffered the greatest reverse of the war. For nearly a week these claims have been made with the utmost confidence, yet the Russian war office withholds any word of decisive developments. In some particulars, a similar situation prevails in the west. London expects this week would witness one of the most important and deadly struggles of the war as a result of a renewed German effort to break through to the British channel. Official statements, however, indicate that only sporadic fighting is in progress and as to the results there is no reconciling the reports from Berlin and Paris. There is a corresponding conflict concerning the campaign in Serbia. The Austrian war office declares that the advance into Serbia is being pushed forward successfully and that the Serbs were beaten in two engagements. An official statement issued at Nish, however, contains no reference to such occurrences, merely saying that the battle continues along the main front near the Kolubara river. A holy war which might seriously affect the issue should it bring to arms the millions of Moslems of the eastern countries has been formally proclaimed, as decided upon ten days ago. The proclamation signed by the sultan of Turkey calls on every Moslem the world over to fight Great Britain, France and Russia. Fears of friction between the countries in South America and European powers over alleged violations of neutrality in South American waters has led the southern countries to ask the aid of the United States in looking toward exclusion of belligerent warships from the waters of the two Americas. There were 36,738 deaths from all causes reported, showing a death rate of 23.4 per 10,000 population, which is considerably higher than the corresponding rate for the entire country, 15.87 in 1913. This high death rate is probably due to the fact that pastors of churches officiate at many funerals of others than members or communicants, while their membership reports are taken from actual records. As indicating the extent of the tuberculosis problem in the average church the figures show that 10.3 per cent of all the funerals reported were caused by tuberculosis, and that, in addition to the 3394 deaths from this disease, the ministers had 431 living cases, now under their pastoral supervision. In one year, therefore, the 2552 churches were caring for 5048 cases of tuberculosis, or an average of nearly three for each congregation. The average size of the congregations was 56, which would indicate that there is a case of tuberculosis developing each year for every twenty church members. Because tuberculosis demands so much time and money from the churches, The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis is calling upon all of them throughout the United States to join in an educational campaign against this disease on Tuberculosis Day, which will be observed during the week of November 29th.

TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY

Nov. 29th Set Apart for Nationwide Educational Church Campaign Against Disease

Acting in conjunction with the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and the local committee of the Middlesex Women's club, the board of trade and the Lowell Guild, the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Massachusetts has set apart next Sunday, Nov. 29, as Tuberculosis day in this state. Letters of appeal for cooperation have been sent to practically every church in Massachusetts, all creeds being included. To Lowell pastors alone almost 100 letters with descriptive circulars enclosed have been sent. Tuberculosis day was inaugurated in 1910, making the campaign of next Sunday the fifth annual agitation. It is expected that sermons on tuberculosis will be preached in many of the local churches and that educational activity will be otherwise displayed. This educational campaign is being conducted particularly under the direction of the civic department of the Middlesex Women's club, by agreement of the various local committees.

Tuberculosis day is a movement conducted annually under the direction of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and its affiliated local organizations. It is an attempt to secure, as nearly as possible, a simultaneous presentation of the nature and methods of prevention of tuberculosis in all of the churches and religious organizations of the United States. Tuberculosis day is an undenominational and non-sectarian movement. It aims to reach Jew and Gentile, Protestant and Catholic, and all possible religious groups within these various designations. This year it is planned, furthermore, to extend the scope of tuberculosis day to take in other organizations as well, and it is hoped that under the leadership of the churches the subject of tuberculosis may be presented to lodges, schools and various social and civic bodies throughout the country. Tuberculosis day has received the endorsement of leading church dignitaries of almost every creed and denomination. The primary aim of the Tuberculosis day campaign is not essentially for the purpose of securing funds for the anti-tuberculosis movement. In some communities special collections may be taken. The fundamental aim of the movement, however, is educational. The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis believes that the churches of the country are willing to assume their responsibility for the prevention of tuberculosis. Tuberculosis day offers an opportunity to do something in this preventive movement. In an effort to ascertain how serious a problem tuberculosis is to the average church congregation of this country, the National association recently published a report which shows that in nearly 3000 churches in 37 different states, one funeral in every 10 is due to the disease. Through a questionnaire sent out all over the country, 2552 clergymen representing 1,603,360 communicants or parishioners gave replies telling at how many funerals they officiated for the year ending August 31, 1914; how many of these were due to tuberculosis; how many living cases of tuberculosis they now have in their parishes; and how many communicants or

PRECINCT OFFICIALS INVITED TO RESIGN

Commissioner Brown, Who Appointed Them, Will Ask Them to Retire—Other City Hall Items

George H. Brown, commissioner of finance, stated today that he would ask the 11 precinct officers in precinct two of ward one to resign as the result of the alleged tampering with ballots in that precinct at the preliminary election. "I do not know," said the commissioner, "that any one of the 11 precinct officers are guilty of any misdemeanor; I do not know that any of them tampered with the ballots, but I do believe that the public demands their removal. I am sorry to have to take this course, but I am going to ask them to resign. I have instructed the city clerk to address special delivery letters to the Victims of Explosion on Battleship Bulwark Picked Up

SHEERNESS, England, Nov. 27.—Thirty bodies from the British battleship Bulwark were recovered from the River Thames today. The Bulwark was blown up off Sheerness yesterday, the result of an internal explosion, the government explains. Most of the bodies so far recovered are mutilated almost beyond identification. Up to the present time the authorities have not given out a list of the lost. CHANCELLOR OF EXCHEQUER LLOYD GEORGE SAYS IT HAD BEEN OVER-SUBSCRIBED LONDON, Nov. 27.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George announced in the house of commons today that the war loan of 350,000,000 pounds ($1,750,000,000) had been greatly over-subscribed. The chancellor gives no figures. He said, however, that a feature of the loan was the enormous number of individuals, totaling nearly 100,000, who had made application for small sums. These, the chancellor declared, would receive the first allotments.

DEATH OF CHILDREN
MEDICAL EXAMINER SAYS WOOD ALCOHOL CAUSED DEATH OF THREE STATE WARDS
WOOLUN, Nov. 27.—After performing an autopsy upon the bodies of three children, Caroline, Peter and Anthony Krusak, state wards who died suddenly yesterday, Medical Examiner T. A. Koller, expressed the opinion today that death was due to wood alcohol which the children obtained in a bottle of shellac found in a nearby dump. An elder brother stated that he heard one of the children say that he knew where there was a bottle of beer. The stomachs were sent to a medical school for further analysis. Miss O'Hara, who has been taking care of children for the state board of charity for a number of years, received the five Russian children as wards about a year ago. Two older children survive.

BATTLESHIP AGROUND MISSING FOR NINE DAYS Y. M. C. I. AUTO RACES

HIGH TIDE AWAITED TO FLOAT MICHIGAN, AGROUND OFF CAPE CHARLES, Va.

CAPE CHARLES, Va., Nov. 27.—High tide was awaited early today to float the battleship Michigan, aground off here. The weather was calm and the water was not thought to be an immediate danger. It was believed that with 20 feet of water under her at high tide, the Michigan, with a crew of 12,000 men, would float herself free. Four naval tugs stood by to assist in getting the vessel off.

DYNAMITE USED AT FORT MEADOW FOUND IN EFFORT TO FIND BODY OF MRS. W. C. SPRINGER

FORT MEADOW, Nov. 27.—Dynamite was used yesterday at the Fort Meadow pond in an effort by the local police to find the body of Mrs. W. C. Springer, who has been missing for nine days. The top of the pond was blown away and the bottom of the pond was exposed in several places without result.

While this work was in progress, a squad of officers dragged the metropolitan basin for several hours without success. The search of the basin will be resumed tomorrow.

COMICAL BURLESQUE "SPILLER" IN ASSOCIATE HALL—THE EVENTS

The Young Men's Catholic Institute conducted its 14th Thanksgiving social and dance in Associate hall Wednesday evening, and the affair proved to be a successful one. About 400 couples were in attendance and enjoyed several hours of refreshment and the pleasing strains of Mabel's orchestra.

Shortly before 9 o'clock, Announcer Edward F. Shea proclaimed that the auto races, an attraction advertised as practically unknown to this section of the country, were about to start. He also stated that owing to failure in making train connections, Starter Wagner, the man who had charge of the big auto races in Lowell a few years ago, would be unable to appear.

PAUL R. CLARK Chairman of Race Committee and that Mr. John Roane of this city would get that capacity. The inspection car was then pushed out of the rear entrance, containing the committee, Edward F. Shea, James J. Spillane and John N. Payne, and the course inspected. This car was one of the latest models and embodied all the latest and greatest found in high priced touring cars. The car attracted considerable attention and many were the favorable remarks overheard from prospective buyers.

The doors of the automobile were again opened, and amid loud explosions transmitted by a large Excelsior motor cycle, and smoke from the same source, six racing models were pushed out of their pits by a corps of handlers to the starting point. Here the drivers were numbered and given final instructions by Starter Roane, and the one-mile event started. The cars, propelled by human mechanism, went around the circular track at great speed, and although many collisions took place, none of the drivers were injured. R. DePalma, driving a Locomotor, Astoria, and R. Burman, Roane, piloting a Newmonta racer, collided at one of the corners, and both drivers were thrown out. The Locomotor was pushed to its pit with a broken crankshaft, while the Newmonta was not damaged, and after its driver regained his wits proceeded on his way and finally won the event. Louis Strong's Harrington of Manchester, N. H., was thrown out of his Skutz car when on his last lap, and at first it was feared that he had met with serious injury, but upon medical examination it was found that he had sustained only a severe shaking up. He entered the next event, the pursuit race, and succeeded in winning over a larger field. The winners in the different events were as follows: R. Burman Roane and John King, in the one-mile open; William H. Harrington in the pursuit; and Barney Goldfield Marren and L. Becher Maguire in the free for all. The officers of the race were: General manager, William H. King; assistant general manager, George F. Clark; floor director, Edward A. Farrell; assistant floor director, Frank J. Roane.

Race committee—Paul Clark, chairman; William Marren, William Harrington, Andrew Doyle, Patrick Farrell, George Clark, Edward A. Farrell, John King. Advertising and race committee—James J. Spillane, chairman; Edward F. Shea, John N. Payne, Frank J. Roane; Frank McCarthy, treasurer.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Warren P. Riordan and Miss Mary J. Carney were married Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at St. Columba's rectory in Manhattan road. Rev. Frederick S. Riordan of Andover, a cousin of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. John A. Deagan, pastor of St. Columba's parish, officiated. Mr. Edward L. Carney, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Jeanette E. Cox was bridesmaid. The bride, a gift to the bridegroom, was a red piece, as was the bridegroom's gift to the best man. The bride wore white duchess satin trimmed with princess lace and pearls and bridal veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore pink satin with an overdress of pink crepe de chine with picture hat to match. She carried a cluster of pink chrysanthemums.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party went to the bride's home in Woodward avenue, where a wedding supper was served. The splendidly appointed residence was prettily decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, carnations, roses, ferns and other greenery. The ushers at the house were: Dr. P. J. Meenan, Frank P. O'Brien, George J. Hurdan, James J. and John P. Carney.

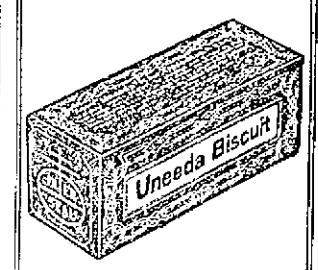

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James J. Carney. She is a graduate of the Sacred Heart and Lowell high schools. Mr. Riordan is the official reader of obituaries and measures for the city of Lowell.

The happy couple left at 6:45 o'clock on a brief wedding tour that will include New York city and Washington D. C. Upon their return they will reside at 11 Woodward avenue where they will be at home after Jan. 1.

Among those present at the reception were: Mayor Murphy, Commissioner Donnelly, Brown, Corns and Moore; former Mayor John P. Meenan, City Messenger Owen Monahan and his assistant, Cornelius P. Cronin, Supt. Martin R. Conley, Supt. John W. Kier-

DUFFY—BURNS One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Wednesday evening, when Mr. Michael Duffy and Miss Mary Burns were united in marriage at St. Patrick's rectory by Rev. Timothy Callahan. The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of wistaria broadcloth with picture hat to match and carried a large bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bride was attended by Miss Etta Burns, a sister of the bride, who was attired in a suit of green broadcloth with hat to match and carried a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. John Duffy, a cousin of the groom, was best man. They left on the 6:22 train on a brief honeymoon trip. Will be at home to their friends at 874 Moody street after Jan. 1st.

TAYLOR—ROBINSON Robert Taylor and Miss Ada Robinson were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Marie Daignault, 115 Dalton street, by Rev. Forrester MacDonald, pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church. The bride was Miss Nora Robinson, a sister of the bride, while the best man was Frank Mellor of Methuen. The couple will make their home in Camden street, Methuen.

PRATT—DAIGNAULT Frank Pratt and Miss Virginia Daignault were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Marie Daignault, 115 Dalton street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. E. C. Barnett, pastor of the French Baptist church in West Sixth street. The bride was attended by Miss Edith C. Erskine, while Stephen Pratt was best man. The couple will make their home at 115 Dalton street.

MOREAU—TESSIER At a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Joseph's church, Wilfred Moreau and Miss Marie L. Tessier were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Augustin Gratton, O. M. I. The witnesses were Jean Erliere and Fraser Moreau. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, 54 Common street, followed by a reception in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Moreau, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, will make their home at 54 Common street.

WALSH—BRETT Mr. Edward S. Walsh, a prominent employee of the J. W. Barry Shoe company, and Miss Helen M. Brett were united in marriage at the Immaculate Conception rectory at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I. Owing to the recent death of a member of the bride's family the wedding was attended by relatives of the bride and bridegroom only. Following the wedding ceremony a supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, in Fayette street, after which the happy couple departed on a wedding tour to New York, Washington and other interesting points. They will be at home to their friends after December 10.

CROWLEY—MOLONY At St. Peter's rectory at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Miss Alice V. Molony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Molony, the former the well known police officer of 44 Whipple street, and Mr. William F. Crowley, a prominent young man of this city, and formerly a member of the old city council, were united in marriage by Rev. W. George Mullin. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss May Molony, and the best man was Mr. Arthur L. Eno, Esq., a close friend of the groom. The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe de chine and wore a white picture hat. She carried a beautiful bouquet of Killarney roses, also decorated with pink chamois, trimmed with pink chiffon, and wore a black velvet picture hat. She carried pink roses. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and was attended by a large circle of relatives and close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Crowley left on the late afternoon train for Boston en route for New York, Washington and Philadelphia. On their return they will reside at their new home, 23 Sarah avenue. The brilliant display of costly and beautiful gifts spoke eloquently of the popularity of the newly married couple. There was a great profusion of silver, cut glass, china, and all that goes to make up a happy and elegant home. None of their many friends wish them more happiness than those who were most closely associated with them.

ANGELES IS REPULSED

VILLA GENERAL UNABLE TO CAPTURE GUADALAJARA, ACCORDING TO CLAIMS

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 27.—That Guadalupe has not surrendered to the Villa forces under General Felipe Angeles and that the city is so strongly fortified that Angeles cannot take it, are the claims made last night by Carranzista officials, who claim to have advices from the besieged city.

The despatches say General Angeles has again been repulsed and that he was today attempting to reorganize his force by a new attack, having apparently decided not to await reinforcements. Carranza sympathizers say it is practically impossible for Villa to send any reinforcements to Angeles, because of strong Carranza armies in the territory through which the reinforcements must pass.

day afternoon and evening, at the home of Miss Laura Elkins, 52 A Lake street, Nashua, N. H. The entire afternoon was spent in whist and games, after which the gathering repaired to the spacious dining-room of the residence where a sumptuous repast was served. A musical program was carried out in the evening, which proved highly enjoyable. The hostess, who is an accomplished pianist, presided at the piano and won applause with her rendition of several of the latest operatic scores. Mr. Frank O'Brien of Lowell gave "Asleep at the Switch" in his inimitable manner and Miss Anna Ward pleased in her vocal selections. Mr. Walter Hall played the piano accompanied by Mr. Walter Cleary of Lowell. Miss Grace Ward of Lowell won favor with a recitation and Mr. William Gray contributed a song. The following Lowell members were represented in the gathering: Misses Grace Ward, Agnes Connelly, Ruth Ashburn, Esther Heeley, and Mildred Devine; Messrs. John Egan, Frank O'Brien, Fred Smith, Frank Sullivan, John Farrell, Thomas Connelly and Walter Cleary.

GERMAN AMERICAN CLUB

ITS NEW CLUBHOUSE ON PLAIN STREET OPENED WITH FINE PROGRAM

The fine new clubhouse of the German-Americans of this city, situated at 190 Plain street, was opened formally yesterday with over 400 enthusiastic Germans and German-Americans in attendance. Men, women and children were represented in the audience which was one of the most enthusiastic ever gathered together on such an occasion in this city. There was music in abundance, both vocal and instrumental and stirring speeches, through which shone devotion to the Fatherland and its ideals, but even more noticeable was the distinctively American note heard throughout. The most impressive moment in the services came when the band of the Hamburg-American liner Cincinnati played the "Star-Spangled Banner" as the beautiful new American flag went to the peak of the flag staff. All present joined in singing the national melody and hundreds who were gathered in the neighboring streets cheered lustily.

Among those in attendance yesterday were many German-Americans from Lawrence, Manchester, N. H., Boston and other neighboring cities. These added to the relatives of the members of the club, packed the main hall to capacity. German cordiality was displayed on every hand and all

SOUR STOMACH AFTER THANKS-GIVING DINNER?

Take Dys-pep-lets. They are hand-some oval-shaped tablets, sugar-coated and pleasant to take. They combine the best correctives, carminatives and digestives and have remarkable efficacy in sweetening the stomach and relieving heartburn and nausea. They are made by a house that has a record of forty years in producing medicines of merit, and of which is truly said "If Made by God It's Good."

You will have good cause to be thankful after, as well as on, Thanksgiving day,—if you use Dys-pep-lets.

who entered the portals of the new club found a hearty welcome. Many present were not members of the club, but the occasion called together hundreds who have a common sympathy in a stirring time.

After the hoisting of the Stars and Stripes came the German patriotic air, "Der Tag des Herrn" sung splendidly by the Liederkreis of Lawrence, under the direction of Herr Krantz. Then came an ovation to the two young ladies who had loaned the American flag, Miss Tillie Borst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Borst, and a high school pupil, and Miss Mary Phileas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Borst. Then followed a brief address, receiving a hearty ovation. The fine band of the "Cincinnati" played many German patriotic airs, among them, "Die Wacht am Rhein" and "Euler Alles" with spirit and feeling, arousing great enthusiasm in the audience, many members of which have near relatives in the war. The band was under the direction of Franz Keltner, and the members were Messrs. Mosler, Schick, Beckendorf, Volkel, Ruland, Henssler, Zook and Teuchert. The Liederkreis of Lawrence was encored again and again in finely-rendered songs and the local organization gave some excellent selections. There were speeches by the local officers and the visitors. One of the notable figures was the popular August Mueckel, called "the grandfather of the club." Throughout the afternoon a liberal buffet luncheon was served. After the formal exercises, dancing was enjoyed to a late hour.

ALL EXAMINED

FOLKESTONE, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—English health officials at Folkestone are taking unusual precautions to prevent the admission of diseases into England from the war zone. Passengers arriving on the Flushing, Dieppe, Boulogne and Calais boats are examined with great care.

Folkestone is now practically the only commercial port open for passenger business from the continent, so the stream of refugees, tourists and wounded soldiers all pass through this port.

Health officers feel the pulse of every passenger, examine the wrist carefully, look into the throat and eyes and scrutinize the forehead for evidences of smallpox. In order that they may see the foreheads of ladies whose hair is fashionably dressed it is frequently necessary to push the hat and front hair back. This action on the part of physicians has frequently caused ladies to believe the physicians were secret service men who suspected they had messages concealed in their hair.

Immigration officials and plain-clothes men examine the papers of all passengers very carefully before they enter England and usually engage them in conversation in an effort to ascertain whether their French or English has a German accent. Baggage is also examined thoroughly by inspectors to make sure it contains no German newspapers or letters from Berlin for persons in England.

Because of the improper use made of American passports by Lieut. Lodge of the German Naval Reserve and other spies apprehended in England, France and Belgium, all holders of American passports are rigorously cross-questioned.

Flushing is the only open gateway from the United States and England to Germany which affords a direct trip and most travelers to and from Germany go by the Holland route as it is much shorter than a trip by way of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Consequently the Flushing boats would be probably selected by secret agents of the German government.

Scattered cases of scarlet fever and smallpox have already made their appearance among Belgian refugees in Holland and northern Belgium. Every effort has been made to prevent the spread of these diseases in the refugee camps, but the Belgians are living in such crowded and unsanitary conditions that it is difficult to protect them against contagion.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Germany's

BY A SPECIALIST

Failing eyesight is often caused by neglect and by forcing eyes to do work for which they are not fitted. Our eyes are rubbed by the strain modern conditions put upon them, a strain opposed to Nature and destructive to sight unless relieved by proper care.

Few people know what to do when their eyes begin to go wrong; therefore they do nothing at all until they are forced to resort to glasses for temporary relief.

A soothing, cleansing, healing, helpful lotion for eyes in trouble of those that wear glasses can be made from the following prescription:

Option 2 grains. (one Tablet)

Water 2 ounces.

Mix at home and use from two to four times a day. This prescription is in daily use by thousands. It cleanses vision, drives irritation, relieves inflammation and gives a smooth, well-lubricated feeling to the eyes. It has enabled many to discard glasses and see clearly again. It has restored many to perfect eye comfort. Its use is followed by a soothing sense of relief from strain and tired eyes. It is sold in drug stores and other druggists can fill this prescription. Any physician familiar with the formula will tell you it is perfectly harmless.

best wine-producing district, Alsace-Lorraine, has suffered heavily by the war, and it is claimed that the output this year will be far below normal.

Alsace, especially, has a poor crop, according to reports. Not alone had the bad seasons of the last ten years caused a reduction of the area of vineyards to 108,340 hectares, a decrease of 103 hectares (or about 200 acres) since 1903, but the earlier months of the year were very unfavorable for the development of the plant. The vines were affected by phylloxera which incessant cold rains made worse, and then, when hot weather finally came, the war broke out. In southern Alsace, where the valleys and hill-sides of the Vosges are almost entirely given to vine-growing, many vineyards were cut down in order to facilitate military operations, while others were trampled down during battles.

The result of this has been that the wine crop of Alsace will be approximately one-third normal. Conditions in Lorraine are better. Though some of the vineyards around Metz were cut down when the war began, the crop generally is plentiful enough to discount this. The quality, moreover, is said to equal that of 1904. Good weather early in the season favored a good average crop, and, unlike those of Alsace and eastern France, the mens of the German lance. It is not a wooden pole, but an eleven or twelve foot steel tube. It is very heavy and at first seems quite unmanageable to a man of ordinary strength. But two-thirds of the way down from the head towards the butt is a wrapping of thick twine to give a grip. And if you hold it there, and there only, you find that it is so evenly poised that as one admiring observer remarked, you could write your name with it.

"There have been some descriptions of cases where these tubular lances have crumpled up in action like an overburdened steel mast on a racing yacht. Perhaps that may be accounted for by the peculiar shape of the head. There is no point or spear head of any kind. Instead there is a solid piece of iron shaped exactly like the end of a giant poker, square and quite blunt."

THANKSGIVING EVE PARTY
A very enjoyable Thanksgiving eve party was held at the home of Miss Jennie Walsh, 2 Stanley avenue, Wednesday evening, at which a large number of friends of the young lady were present. The evening was spent in games and other indoor sports, followed by an impromptu musical entertainment in which Misses Nellie Costello, Nettie Carlson and Anna Gaynor and Messrs. John Costello, Thomas Paul, Harry Randall and H. Merrill took part. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Thomas Walsh, Miss Harry Randall and Mrs. David Smith.

OVERWORKED MOTHER
Finds Health in Our Vinol
Collinsville, Ill.—"I suffered from a nervous break-down and terrible headache, and was tired all over, totally worn out and discouraged but as I had a large family I had to work despite my suffering. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and within two weeks I noticed a decided improvement, and now I am a well woman."—MRS. ANNA BECKER.

We guaranteed Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, to strengthen and build up weak, run-down, overworked mothers.

OF AUTHORITIES IN LONDON AND
THE PROVINCES

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The matter of drinking among women, as well as the custom of treating recruits by the admiring public, is strongly engaging the attention of the authorities in London and the provinces. While the closing hours of public houses have been made earlier throughout England, other measures are discussed. One is that women be barred from the public houses altogether, since many of them have more money to spend while their husbands are away at the war. Another proposal is to exclude women from the drinking places in the morning.

Miss Boyle who is at the head of the political and militant department of the Women's Freedom League, makes an indignant protest in a letter to the prime minister's secretary. "It is my duty to warn you that these repeated attacks on our liberties are provoking the deepest indignation among men and women alike," says her letter. Miss Boyle also wrote:

"May I point out to you—That the allowances paid to women are their own money, and that they have the right to spend their money as they like as men have."

"That no attempt, apparently, is being engineered to regulate the allowances of soldiers and sailors, many of whom, according to information supplied me, are spending the money paid them by the government on drink and immoral women without restraint."
"That there has been no increase in drinking among women since the outbreak of war at all proportionate to the increase of drinking among men."
"The probable reason for this statement that more women are drinking now is that at the present time public houses are so thronged with male customers—of whom an enormous number are men in uniform—that women cannot gain access to the premises and are served outside, where naturally they are more conspicuous."

AIRSHIP RAID IN LONDON

"DISAPPOINTMENT" IN ENGLAND
ZEPPELINS

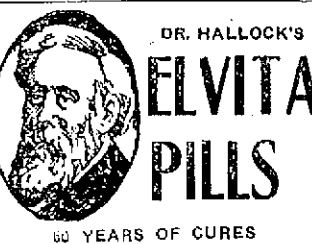

MANCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Speculating on the possibility of a Zeppelin raid on London, the Manchester Guardian says there is a noticeable feeling of "disappointment" in England over the non-appearance of these airships. While the Zeppelin would not be really welcome, there were those at home so hungry for excitement that as a whole England seemed ready to take the risk.
"It was coldly calculated that even if fifty Zeppelins were sent over, their concentrated devastation could not cover more than six acres,—or if they dropped all their bombs on the 'square mile' that makes up the city of London proper 'they could kill something under one in a hundred of the people who happened to be there.'"
"Over the whole of London, taking the metropolitan police area, the chances of escaping would be about 10,000 to one. Over what may be described as the central area of London, within which a Zeppelin might be expected to operate, the chances of escape would be about 15,000 to one."

"Personally, I think it would be a good job if the Zeppelins did come. Even if they did drop a few bombs, the stimulus to recruiting would be worth what it was." says Frank Hedrick Butler, who is founder of the Royal Aero Club.

Help the Stomach
Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that block the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women, and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle, write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 461 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

A HOLIDAY GIFT

TROUSERS FREE

$5.00 PANTS FREE

I told you in last Friday's ad. I purchased approximately 800 yards of fine woads, about 30 different styles. I advertised them made to order any style Suit or Overcoat for $12.50. Whether the approaching holiday made people feel poor, or the nasty, winterish weather was the depressing cause, I am not sure. I only know that the greatest trade offered in Lowell for many a day brought only normal business. I offered this special buy last Friday for $12.50 to order—a special trade.

I OFFER THE BALANCE TODAY AND TOMORROW

For the same price, only as an extraordinary inducement, I will give to each customer ordering a Suit or Overcoat

A Pair of $5 Trousers Absolutely Free

Excuses don't go with me. I don't care how bad the weather is. I don't care how many holidays are in the air. I have to do business all the time, and I am going to do it TODAY and SATURDAY, because I have put the price down where you have to buy.

To wind up the month of November—all things considered I must call it a successful month—to reduce my stock to normal, for two days only, TODAY and SATURDAY, come in, pick out the cloth you want, my head designer, Mr. Atwood, will measure you, cut you an individual pattern, try your garment on in the raw baste, have your Suit or Overcoat finished when you want it. MANCHESTER INSTITUTE

VALUABLE EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTION OFFERS COURSES

[From the Manchester Leader]
In few cities in the broad stretch of these United States can there be found opportunities for study and training in arts and crafts such as offered in the city of Manchester, N. H., by the Institute of Arts and Sciences.

Allied with no educational institution, absolutely free from domination by ecclesiastical bodies of any faith, an independent and heavily endowed organization in itself, this institute is conducted by citizens of Manchester elected to govern its diversified operations by the membership at large which consists of any worthy, knowledge-seeking citizen who possesses the modest fee of $5.

A course in drawing from models and from the antique, in charcoal, pen and ink, oils or water colors, for $3. A thorough course in English, French, German, Spanish or Esperanto, for the same initial payment of $3. The study of any musical instrument with opportunity for practical experience in the institute orchestra; voice culture and chorus singing; clay modeling and sculpture; wood carving, basketry, embroidery classes, all thrown in for the same $3. Metal work, jewelry and setting of precious stones and the raising of hawks, trays, etc., from sheet metal for no extra investment than the original $3. Practical domestic science and home economics classes and many other subjects are offered in this unique organization, any or all of which can be included in the self-chosen curriculum of any member.

Not Money-Making Proposition
The Manchester Institute is not a money-making scheme. Its membership is scarcely limited at all, an applicant for membership having only to clearly show that he is earnestly desirous of profiting, mentally or otherwise, from the work of the organization. Once admitted, he is not limited in the scope of selecting his subjects for study, but may, if time, strength and inclination permit, study in every class of every department of the whole body. The only requirement for all this is an initial entrance fee of $3.

Once burned out of commodious headquarters, the institute classes have been for several years conducted in separate rooms in public buildings throughout the city.
This week the institute council is considering architect's plans for a magnificent new structure, the gift of Mrs. L. Merville French of Manchester, which will, within a year, rise to house the institute and its many departments on a site directly opposite the new Carpenter Memorial Library which was dedicated last Wednesday.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

For a very small sum a little bed can be made that is pretty, comfortable and occupies none of the floor space in a small bedroom.

Get a store box about three feet long, a foot and a half wide and a foot deep. Have a blacksmith fasten two strong iron hooks securely on one side. Then paint with two coats of enamel paint, pink, white or blue. Fasten a full ruffle of dotted muslin edged with lace around it, and tie a ribbon bow in the color used to one corner. Make a little pillow and mattress to fit it.

When fastened on the foot of the bed it makes it possible for the mother to give baby his night nursing without getting out of bed, which is a blessing in winter.

A little girl, I know, has an allowance of twenty-five cents a week for spending money from an aunt. She has been provided with a small cheque book and bank deposit slips, and, on receiving her allowance, makes out a deposit slip and deposits the money with her aunt, who has instituted herself "The Trust Company."

When Betty wishes to spend any amount, however small, she writes a cheque and her aunt cashes it. She keeps an account book where all receipts and expenditures are carefully entered, and both her account book and her bank book are balanced monthly.

She feels much interested in these business transactions, and in this way is learning to keep both bank and personal accounts. I think it is a valuable training for any child of ten years, perhaps even younger.

In dressing my small son, who used to dread the ordeal, I have found a method that hurries him through without the word "Hurry" even once being used.

When it comes time for underwear, rompers, etc., the right foot (and hand) is called "Prince," and the left foot (and hand) is "Queen," and there is a great hurry to get the horses into the stalls.

"Boy" now takes such an interest in dressing that he came to me yesterday with "Prince and Queen are all in their stalls" and I find he has learned, at three years of age, to put his rompers on by himself, though they are really a little confusing sometimes to grown-ups.

To the baby's bonnet get a yard of satin or taffeta ribbon about three inches wide and make a small bow on each end. There should be about five inches of ribbon between the bows.

Fasten one bow securely to the bonnet and sew a hook on the under side of the other bow. Then sew an eye on the bonnet and be sure it is sewed even with the opposite bow.

I have found this way to be much

ARE YOU FULL OF URIC ACID?

Health Insurance for Meat Eaters

A well known authority states that the blood of every meat eater in America is filled with uric acid, the greatest foe to the kidneys.

The kidneys fight uric acid, something they were never made to do. The result is they become weak from overwork, they get sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

Let kidney trouble develop and it will lead to such fatal diseases as Dropsy and Bright's Disease.
Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness and bladder disorders come from weak, sluggish kidneys. You can help the weakened kidneys and put them in good working order again by getting from your druggist about five ounces of Rheumalax; take two teaspoonfuls in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will perform their duties in a perfect manner.

Rheumalax flushes the clogged kidneys and stimulates them to action. It cleans out the stomach and intestines of all poisonous matter and leaves the intestinal canal clean and sweet.

Rheumalax is very inexpensive. It acts quickly without griping or nausea. Delicious to take—delightfully palatable. Rheumalax is prepared by the famous Rheumabath Company, Minneapolis, Minn.

better than wet and soiled bonnet strings.

Baby will not chafe if cold cream is used instead of powder. It will not make skin tender, but makes it much easier to wash baby and you will not have to use it near as often as powder.

A pinch of borax used in the water to wash baby's head will keep "cradle cap" off.
I find that the tabs on infant's bands through which the diaper is pinned, wear out very quickly from constant pinning. Work two eyelets in the tab and stick the pin through these each time and the life of the band will be prolonged. The distance between the eyelets should be a little less than the length of the pin.

An ideal way to amuse a child who is convalescent, or one who has become tired from a long journey, is to place a picture or advertisement over a piece of white paper, then prick with a pin the outline of the picture. When the original picture is removed, the outline can be colored. This will afford pleasure for hours.

All "Kiddies" like to play in sand and nothing gives them more joy than to handle colored sands. Light sand should be procured and ordinary beet juice will make a beautiful shade of red and the most delicate pink; a drop of bluing will produce light blue and a small amount of coffee will produce yellow and brown, and as these substances are all perfectly harmless, there is no reason why the youngsters should not enjoy them.

NEW SEAT OF LEARNING

UNIVERSITY OF FRANKFORT
OPENED IN BERLIN, NOTWITH-STANDING THE WAR

BERLIN, Nov. 27 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Notwithstanding the war, the new University of Frankfurt has just been opened. The emperor signed the statutes of the new institution on Aug. 1, the day the German mobilization was ordered. Thus this new seat of learning will be identified for all time with the great world war, just as the University of Berlin is known throughout Germany for having been born during the Napoleonic wars. The University of Frankfurt has also attached to itself a reminiscence of these days by opening its doors on the anniversary of the battle of Leipzig, where Napoleon's power in Germany was finally broken.

The opening on Oct. 15, was without any special ceremony. The Kaiser sent from military headquarters a despatch expressing his regret that the "defense of the fatherland from the nefarious attacks of our enemies" rendered it impossible for him to be present.

The institution begins its career under favorable financial and intellectual auspices. An endowment fund of about $2,000,000 has been collected. A large part of this was given by members of the Frankfurt Speyer family, which is also represented in New York. A considerable contribution was also made. It is understood, by Jacob H. Schiff of New York, as a gift to his native city. The city of Frankfurt undertakes to make annual appropriations for meeting a part of the running

Childhood has many ills; but worms, whether pinworms or stomach worms, must be vigorously guarded against. No gain in health and strength is possible until they are removed. If you suspect that your child is suffering from worms, do not lose another minute, but get a bottle of this time-tried, dependable Trade Mark remedy—Dr. True's Elixir. Discovered by my father, this compound has for over 60 years been growing in reputation as a sure remedy for worms of all kinds and for keeping the stomach in the pink of condition.

Send for list of symptoms. Do not endanger your child's health, but get a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, at once. Good for adults also. At your dealer's, 35c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free. Special treatment for tapeworms. Send for book.

Auburn, Me. Dr. True's

pital established about 25 years ago. This gives the university better facilities in some departments of medicine than some of the older institutions. Thus it has two clinics especially for children's diseases, as well as others for ear and throat diseases—facilities which some of the other institutions are still longing for. The George Speyer house for making researches into pharmaceutical chemistry, which is presided over by the famous Prof. Paul Ehrlich, has apparently been incorporated bodily into the new university. This has also been the case with the Neurological Institute of Professor Edinger. There are also extensive museums of zoology, mineralogy, geology and botany.

BUSINESS VS. POLITICS

The two men who will be finally selected by the Lowell electorate to take a place in the municipal council should not blind themselves to the fact that the voters at the primaries strongly showed their disapproval of a government conducted on purely political lines and indicated their strong desire for a business-like administration. For once Lowell showed its disapproval of an administration conducted on other than strictly business lines. If the entire governing body of the present was up for reelection, public disapproval would be shown still more strongly.

Springfield had a like experience at the primary election. The administration of the present mayor of that city was repudiated, the Springfield public having backed up an alderman who had been ignored and opposed by the chief executive. Papers of all political persuasions in that city acknowledged that the election returns indicated a blow at petty political government. Connecting on this parallel result the Springfield Union said: "The city of Springfield will not stand for any other kind of politics in city affairs but that which considers only the city's good. The widespread interest in the agitation for a new charter affords positive indication that the people intend to put the government of that municipality on a better business basis, which means that they are tired of the intrusion of petty politics in the management of their affairs."

Judging by gratifying indications, so is Lowell tired of the intrusion of petty politics into our municipal affairs. Lately indeed does a citizen take it for granted that the vote of some members of the municipal council is sincere. Too often our directors of affairs show that in their official doings they are actuated more by desire of previous officials or policies or more by a desire to prepare for future triumphs than by a regard for the interest of their city. They rarely vote to support or to condemn a measure without first of all weighing the possibilities of their vote on their political fortunes. It was to get away from this kind of petty political administration that our city charter was changed, but the charter change, unfortunately, did not in every instance change the methods of our administrators.

Our municipal elections were arranged on a non-partisan basis to put politics as far as possible out of sight and to advance scientific and business-like administration. The public is to judge the qualifications of the aspirants and make their selection accordingly. No man is elected to office in order that he may build up a political machine to perpetuate himself or to scatter positions and favors broadcast among the members of a limited clique. A few voters, comparatively speaking, may vote for selfish and unworthy motives; but the mass of the electorate vote for decent and able government. That they did it this year in our own city is indisputable; it is a warning that our officials must come up to popular expectations or be rebuked on the first opportunity.

ALIEN LABOR

In New York, work on very important new subway being constructed is held up because of a recent act of the legislature which explicitly states that none but American citizens be employed in such undertakings. The law is said to have been framed at the request of the labor unions, but, be that as it may, it is having some unexpected results. Summed up briefly, the New York situation is this: American citizens will not do the subway work, and aliens are not permitted to do it. Consequently the subway construction is in danger of being held up indefinitely. Arguments for the repeal or amendment of the law are superfluous in view of its direct effects. The principle of the law, however, is open to discussion.

As contrasted with New York, the law of Massachusetts requires that, in Boston, a preference be given to citizens, but if citizens qualified for the job be not available, non-citizens may be hired for the work. This is a more just law, but even its desirability is questionable. Such labor problems are so merged with important civic, social and broadly economic considerations that it were better if common sense founded on a sense of fairness to all, be permitted to settle them.

Looked at from any angle, such legislative acts against alien labor are aimed at immigration. It is permissible, and possibly desirable, that laws be made to such an end, but laws such as that of New York begin at the wrong end. If aliens are permitted to land here they should be permitted to match brain and brawn with the native son without unfair discrimination. If a subway is to be built, those in charge of the construction would rather see a dozen brawny aliens applying for jobs than a dozen less physically fit, carrying citizenship papers. Besides, if the law aims at making citizenship attractive, it is a dubious good. The alien who becomes a citizen from such selfish motives will scarcely be a valuable acquisition to the community. Patriotism is often used as a cloak to cover selfish and unjust ambitions, and laws such as that of New York reveal the inevitable result. Luckily the direct failure of the New York law carries its speedy condemnation.

STRAWS OF PROSPERITY

This week notices have been posted at the immense works of the General Electric company at Lynn calling for the full working force of 15,000 men, to be on hand Monday morning. This sudden boom in the electric supplies business is due to large and unexpected orders, some of them from South American markets hitherto supplied by Germany. This indication of renewed prosperity follows fast on the announcement of unusual activity in the steel and shoe business; the textile lines and many other branches of manufacture are reporting cheerful outlooks.

From the many reports of unexpected booms in American business coming in from all directions, there is every prospect of great prosperity here beginning with the new year. The pinch of foreign trade restriction is already being felt as the supplies of the neutral countries—and of the warring countries in some commodities—are running short. The United States 225 Gorham st. Tel. 4636, Lowell, Mass.

is the only country of any manufacturing importance now neutral, and in the natural order of things our trade will receive the greatest impetus from world-wide conditions. It is no secret that England is striving to capture the German foreign markets, and Premier Asquith announced in parliament not long ago that the only possible competitor in the new field is America. If our manufacturing efficiency keeps pace with our opportunity, we are certain to profit by the present trade disruption of the rest of the world.

The influence of the revised currency system on general business is already apparent in greater confidence in the financial and business world and the restricted opening of the New York stock exchange will go still further in restoring business to a normal basis. Money will now circulate more freely and the country will reflect the improved financial and industrial conditions in general prosperity. The political or business prophet who would now pessimistic doctrines cannot get a hearing in the general chorus of optimism that arises on every hand.

IMPUDENT AND UNWISE

At a benefit address for German war victims made in San Francisco last Monday, Baron von Schank, Imperial German consul, called upon the "twelve million Germans or German-Americans" in this country to boycott the goods of the allies and to purchase either American or German-made products. He based his appeal on the alleged destruction of German trade by the allies, and made the boycott suggestion as a counter measure. Whatever one may say of the suggestion, in itself, it is entirely out of place as propagandist material in this country, and looks suspiciously like a flaccid branch of neutrality. Germans in this country, or those with pro-German sympathies should abide by the wishes of our government, as officially expressed by President Wilson, and should not use American institutions as a shield for any war activity. The publishing of such an appeal in this neutral nation is to be condemned as violating the spirit and letter of the president's proclamation. Apologists for the Germans are very quick to denounce anything like an expression of sympathy for the allies; let them be consistent and ask of their representatives who speak in public recognition of America's reasonable requests. In striving to light the allies through Germans or German-Americans in this country, Baron von Schank would very soon encounter a hostile expression of American public opinion. His appeal

A NOVEL PLAN

Proposed By One of the Leading Lowell Merchant Tailors
Mr. Paul A. Bogossian, a prominent merchant tailor of Lowell, has established a wonderful plan which is called "THE BOGOSSIAN SUIT CONTEST," open to all. Great interest is taken in this plan by people everywhere. Inasmuch as THE SUIT CONTEST is not like the ordinary suit plan but is a partial payment idea by which people who enter the contest will receive full value and some will get genuine $25 and $30 suits for as low as $1.00 and on up to $10.00. Regular explaining this plan require or write to Paul A. Bogossian, 100 Essex St., Lowell, Mass.

was not only impudent but in direct violation of the president's order to all American citizens.

RIFLE DRILL

Nothing will be lost in efficiency or effectiveness by a refusal of the government offer of real rifles to our high school regiments. The school board in refusing, on the advice of the physical instructor, did wisely, though undoubtedly the refusal was a disappointment to many of the boys. There is a strong fascination in rifles, swords, revolvers, and other arms for boys, and this feeling has been intensified by the reports of the European war. Still, it is doubtful if anything is to be gained by the use of real rifles at high school drills. The possession of arms, with the approval of the school authorities, would tend to inflame the imagination of the boy and incite him to rashness, with every possibility of danger. The tendency is to discourage the use of arms by juveniles rather than the contrary and this cause would not be served by the carrying of real rifles at drill. Again, there is something in the spectacle of high school boys drilling with real rifles which does not agree with the traditional American policy—though it must be admitted that this policy has been given a few serious jolts by the war.

CITY FUNDS GONE

Every little while a revelation comes to light regarding the misappropriation of city or town funds by a trusted public servant, and everybody talks about the need for annual audits and efficient systems of accounting. Yet, with amazing regularity, like instances crop out not far away to start the agitation all over again. The public learns very slowly. The latest account of such an incident comes from Melford, where an ex-city clerk is accused of taking an amount estimated at $10,000. The revelation follows a confession of the taking of some lesser amounts, and the resultant auditing of the city books by the state bureau of statistics and labor. Why were not the books audited for the past 15 years, or audited so that such an audacious theft could be discovered? All account books having to do with the expenditure or collection of public funds should be completely overlooked frequently, no matter what the personality of the person handling the funds may be. An honest official is the first to demand such a periodical audit.

General Carranza is reported to have made for Vera Cruz on the evacuation of the American troops. General Villa is marching on Mexico city, and murder and pillage are the order of the day. Next we will hear of the evacuation of Vera Cruz by Carranza who in all probability will depart for foreign parts to join the club of Mexican ex-presidents. Meanwhile, Pancho Villa is supreme.

Do not complain at the nipping airs that pinch the finger tips and make the nose blue. They have also banished that undesirable street ornament, the summer loafer, who used to spend his time between holding up some central building and ogling all the girls who passed.

Our prosperity boomers will not brag about one item of business which came our way on account of the war. This is the order to a Chicago concern for mechanical grave-diggers.

Just because Thanksgiving is past is no reason why you should not feel thankful today. Cultivate the thanksgiving habit for every day. 'Tis a paying one.

At last we understand "the unspeakable Turk." City elections, then Christmas.

SEEN AND HEARD

Nothing in a name. John Huntwork has a good job in Lawrence.

The things that do not concern us give us the most concern.

There never was any villain in any book or play who wasn't a now-born babe compared with what friend wife thinks friend husband is when she finds a hairpin in his vest pocket.

If some of the men could get a good rear view of the tight adhesive pants they are wearing they wouldn't laugh so much at the affectionate skirts worn by the girls.

Here are a few prohibition items culled from an exchange:

A four-headed rabbit with green over whippersnapper and killed two dogs in West Virginia.

A red, white and blue coyote walked into a Kansas drug store and bit the bartender on the leg.

A purple tree-toad with long, pink hair wandered into a Maine lumber camp and ate the coal.

A screech owl, with crane wings, chased an Arkansas man and stole a pint of wool alcohol from him.

FORCE OF HOTEL HABIT

After several years of hotel life Percival's parents took up their residence in a city suburb.

"What were you doing, son?" the mother asked him when Percival came into the house one afternoon.

"I was just out on the front porch," replied Percival, "listening to a man with a pushcart pating blackberries."

THE REAL TREASURE

The real treasure is that laid up by man or woman through charity and piety, temper.

BILE AND BILIOUSNESS

Bile is manufactured in the cells of the liver. It assists digestion and prevents putrefaction in the intestines. Bile is necessary to life but excess of bile is poisonous.

The effects of excessive secretion of bile and failure to eliminate it from the blood, which is also a function of the liver, are white-coated or brown-furred tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, indigestion, headache, lack of appetite, constipation and weariness.

"This is a condition popularly called biliousness and points directly to the need of something to regulate the liver. For this purpose the claim is made that Pinkettes, the new laxative, are greatly superior to old-fashioned liver medicines which over-stimulate the liver and, when their use is stopped, leave the liver more torpid than before. That over-stimulation debilitates the liver is as certain as anything known in the science of medicine. Pinkettes are tiny, sugar-coated pills, dainty to take, easy in action and they do not upset the stomach or cause griping. Given a thorough trial they really correct chronic constipation.

Your druggist sells Pinkettes or they will be sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 25 cents per bottle, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Send today for booklet and free sample.

IF THIS BE ALL

If this be all, and when we die, we die, then life is but a wanton, monstrous lie.

And the hapless creatures that draw breath, we who seem fonder and crown, rank far below the lowly things that do not know.

The dread of loss, the certainty of death.

If pain and sorrow are without a scheme, dealt out by chance, then life an evil, Of some dark fiend, this smiling, graceful earth;

If we that hunger, never shall be stilled, The sooner that our empty hearts are stilled.

The better for them, and their reaching death.

Yet close, I feel, there wraps us all around, Some unseen force, some mystic power, And, through my doubts and ignorance, I trust

The power that bound with laws the mean and life, And hung the stars in heavenly spaces wide, Must, by their witness, be both wise and just.

AGAINST IMPOSTERS—FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE BRINGS PRELUDERS OF QUACK REMEDIES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—Reports are now beginning to come in to the department of agriculture from several of the states quarantined for the foot and mouth disease that persons who have no connection whatsoever with the department are attempting to pass themselves off as federal inspectors. There are several possible motives that might account for the existence of these imposters. In the outbreak of 1908 there were instances of men who obtained money from credulous victims who believed that in this way they would escape the inconvenience of quarantine and disinfection. This is, of course, a very simple form of extortion. Another motive may be the sale of some quack remedy for the disease.

Stock owners can protect themselves very easily against this fraud, for there is no specific remedy for the foot and mouth disease. Since the germ has never been isolated, it has never been possible as yet to find any serum that would act either as a cure or preventive, and the public may be quite certain that any one who says that he is an employee of the department of agriculture, and at the same time attempts to sell, or even recommend anything of the sort, is simply an imposter. For this reason, stock owners are warned not to allow strangers to visit their stock or attempt any demonstrations of so-called cures by injections or otherwise.

There is, moreover, very great danger that such people might disseminate the disease. It is a well known fact that the germs may be carried on clothing. In infected territory, therefore, it is quite possible that a man who has come in contact with stricken animals may bring the disease to a perfectly healthy herd. This also accounts for much of the spread of hog cholera.

The department therefore recommends all farmers to keep their animals from contact with all such persons who have done business with them.

FOREST NOTES

The town forest of Baden-Baden, Germany, yields an annual profit of $5.25 per acre, or a total net profit of nearly $87,500.

Outside of its use for fence posts, black locust finds its principal utilization in insulator pins and brackets for telegraph and telephone lines.

One hundred shade trees will be planted by the Massachusetts Forestry association in cities or towns of four population classes which win prize contests for excellence in street tree planting.

The Russian government has placed an embargo on all kinds of lumber, to prevent its exportation, and has prohibited the exportation of Russian lumber, including Circassian walnut, much prized by American furniture makers, is specifically mentioned.

Experiences with forest fires on the national forests this year show that automobiles, where they can be used, furnish the quickest and cheapest transportation for crews of fire fighters.

Motor rates are higher than those for teams for the actual time employed, but the total cost per distance traveled and in wages paid to men in getting to fires is much less. The time-saving is self-evident; trips which formerly require two days' time by team have been made by automobile in a few hours.

MOST WARLIKE MEN

Three Shortest Men in House of Commons Long For Action on the Front

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—It appears that the three shortest men in the house of commons are three of the most warlike. Their names are Lord Bessborough, L. S. Amery, and Mr. Tennant. The first two have already gone to the front, and Mr. Tennant is parliamentary under-secretary for war. Mr. Amery also saw service in South Africa. Mr. Bessborough is affectionately known in the house as "Little Ben" and "Buttons."

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for women's ills known.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

NEW NAVAL PROBLEMS

Ships Need Armor to Resist Mines and Torpedoes — Ship Bottoms Need Protection

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—While the American navy officers have watched with critical eyes the deadly work of torpedoes fired from submarines and of contact mines in the European war, nothing has developed as yet which indicates any radical change in battleship construction to offer greater defense against underwater attacks. The problems presented are not new. They have been studied by naval constructors of every power since the Russian-Japanese war when many fine ships fell victim to mines and torpedoes. Proposals of many sorts have been discussed. Some have been adopted; but the theory of warship-building still clings to concentration of offensive power in terms of larger guns, bigger and swifter ships and wider cruising radius, even at the expense of defensive armor.

The heavy losses sustained by the British navy by submarine attacks has brought up for renewed discussion the subject of armor on the bottoms of warships. Recent issues of English service journals have noted a plan to cover the entire bottom of a battleship with four inches of armor plating. It was urged that the experiment be tried with an old ship which should be subjected to actual test with the explosion against her hull of the most powerful modern torpedoes. The ship also would be driven into contact mines of various types to determine their effect. It was said that American naval experts believe there is little doubt of the result. They say four inches of armor would resist any known torpedo or mine successfully. To equip a ship in that way, however, the enormous weight of the armor would require a reduction in weight elsewhere and the only way it could be accomplished would be to reduce the size and number of guns, the thickness of surface armor, the weight of engines and coal capacity and because of this last, the size of the ships themselves. With armored bottoms battleships would become slow, heavy vessels of small cruising radius and their usefulness as instruments with which to strike swift, terrible blows at distant points before word of their coming had gone out, would vanish. Cruisers and swift merchant vessels would take care only to keep out of range of their guns. The terrible power of the modern dreadnought would be a thing of the past.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get At the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't care feeling, no ambition or energy troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

A WOMAN'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE!

The Way a Nation Treats Its Women.

A country's civilization or barbarism can be told by the way it treats women. This is the test of the world. Husbandly should treat their wives with the greatest consideration for the wife is often weighed down by a crushing burden of weakness, dizziness or despair.

Thousands upon thousands of mothers, wives and daughters in every section of this great country, who have regained health, vigor and cheerfulness after months of misery and even despair, are the ones who truly appreciate the marvelous restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Every woman who has reason to believe that backache, headache, unnatural pains, low spirits, sleepless nights, irregularities or a catarrhal condition is caused by a derangement of the woman's functions, owes it to herself and dear ones to speedily overcome the trouble before a general breakdown causes permanent prostration.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a remedy that any ailing woman can safely take because it is prepared from roots and herbs, containing tonic properties of the most pronounced character.

It is not a secret remedy because its ingredients are printed on wrapper.

Churches United at Thanksgiving Services—Thanks for Blessings of Peace

There were two soloists at the union Thanksgiving service in the First Trinitarian Congregational church, yesterday, Mr. James P. Brown and Miss Eva Henderson.

Rev. E. H. Newcomb read the Thanksgiving day proclamation by President Wilson. Rev. R. G. Clapp led the responsive reading and Rev. C. A. Ferrin made the prayer of Thanksgiving. The sermon was preached by Rev. C. A. Ferrin, pastor of Kirk Street church, from the text, "Offer unto God a Sacrifice of Thanksgiving."

He said in part: "Notice these words: 'Offer the sacrifice of thanksgiving.' What is it? It must be the giving of one's self, the dedication of the heart and the life of man to God. The only people who can truly appreciate Thanksgiving are those who have thus dedicated themselves to the service of God, put themselves upon the altar of worship and praise. In fact, I think that only Christian people can rightly understand and enter into the spirit of Thanksgiving day. What is gratitude, but the giving of one's self, after all? Ingratitude is the withholding of one's self, where it rightly should be given to another. God never gives a man an excuse for ingratitude. He never condescends in His gifts, as men sometimes do. He gives abundantly, he over-gives; and that he does freely. Freely he has received, freely give. The only thing that you can really give is yourself.

"Dear as are all the treasures bestowed upon us, there is one gift that is unspeakably dear to man, and that is the gift of Jesus Christ to every man. The only fitting gratitude for this, is the dedication of a man's life to God. The early Christians understood this. They rejoiced in living as reborn children of God. Original Christians were the good of salvation by joy. The earlier religion was that of salvation by suffering.

"There is nothing but this firm grip upon the Almighty God of love Himself, that makes it possible for us to enter into the joy of Thanksgiving day while men across the sea are engaged in the awful struggle of the war. We need the gospel of joyousness to make us realize that after all 'God's in his heaven—all's right with the world,' and we can give thanks because not all the nations of the world are engaged in the war, and there are still millions of happy people and many peaceful, happy homes in the world."

Methodists and Presbyterians

Rev. James M. Craig conducted the union service yesterday morning of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches at the First Presbyterian church. There was a large congregation present and the pastor of the various churches assisted in the services. A large chorus choir sang anthems and joined in the hymn singing. The sermon was preached by Rev. Charles H. Davis of the Highland M. E. church.

The Episcopal Churches

The usual Thanksgiving services were held at St. Anne's and St. John's Episcopal churches and were attended by large congregations. At St. Anne's church, Rev. Appleton Grannis, in the course of his remarks said that this country had abundant cause for thanksgiving in that it was not being devastated by a destructive war, and that the labors of the husbandman had been bountifully rewarded, and suggested that a practical way of giving thanks was to aid those who, through no fault of their own, had been thrown out of work as an indirect result of the European struggle.

FITZGERALD TO SPEAK

DR. McCLUSKEY SECURES BOSTON'S FORMER MAYOR FOR ST. PATRICK'S ALUMNI BANQUET

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston, has accepted an invitation to be a speaker at the dinner of St. Patrick's Academy Alumni association to be held the latter part of December. Wednesday Dr. Richard J. McCluskey, chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner, went to Boston and personally invited Boston's well known citizen to speak to the alumni on the occasion. The doctor and the former mayor used to be among the regulars at Old Orchard beach and hence they are no strangers. The former mayor accepted the invitation, saying that he knew something of the alumni, and the success of its members have attained in every walk of life, and hence he said he would be delighted to come to Lowell and give to the members the benefit of his observations at home and abroad and of his experience in public life as councilman, representative, senator, congressman and mayor of Boston.

Returning to Lowell, Dr. McCluskey conferred with members of the alumni as to the success his visit met with and all congratulated him on his selection, for while a Lowell audience ex-Mayor Fitzgerald is no stranger, still like old wine he improves with age, and the years have not robbed him of his popularity here. Dr. McCluskey will submit his report formally to a meeting of the association on Sunday and confidently looks for the most successful reunion in the history of the organization.

Former Mayor Fitzgerald is in great demand as a public speaker all over the state and only recently accepted an invitation to speak to the members of the local board of trade on trade opportunities.

FOR HICKORY HANDLES

Through new specifications for axe, sledge, adz, pick and other hickory handles, the Panama canal authorities have recently purchased large quantities of this class of material for one-fourth less than formerly paid, and at the same time are getting just as serviceable stock.

The war department and the navy department, as well as the Panama canal commission, have adopted these specifications, which were prepared by the forest service primarily for the use of the various branches of the federal government. Subsequently, however, they have been approved by the trade, both manufacturers and dealers, and adopted by several of the leading railroads.

The new rules are the result of a long study of the subject, covering exhaustive strength tests, investigations of the growth of hickory in the woods, processes of manufacture, and market conditions. Under the new specifications handles are selected according to weight, as influenced by the density of the wood, and they now include material which may be either partly or wholly of heartwood, known generally as red hickory. Red hickory was formerly discriminated against in commercial grading, but it is now accepted, since it has been found that weight for weight it is just as serviceable as the white hickory. Handles which contain small sound knots or bird pecks, so located as not to affect the strength, are also accepted.

How PRINCE WAS KILLED

MAURICE OF BATTENBERG STRUCK BY SHRAPNEL BULLET—GRANDSON OF QUEEN VICTORIA

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The lamented Prince Maurice of Battenberg was Queen Victoria's youngest grandchild and was such a great favorite with the queen that he passed the first few years of his life continuously in her company.

Just a few years before the prince's untimely death, he wrote to a member of his family: "I am having the time of my life. Don't brother about me. It is like a picnic. I commandeer a chicken and cooked it with eggs. Tell Mrs. — (the princess's cook) that it was better than anything she ever cooked."

Prince Maurice was the youngest son of Princess Henry of Battenberg and a first cousin of King George. He was leading his company of the King's Royal Rifle at Ypres when a shrapnel bullet from a bursting shell struck him and ended his life almost instantly.

stantly. Prince Maurice was 23 years old and held the rank of lieutenant in the army. He was the only prince born in Balmoral castle, in fact no other prince has been born in Scotland since 1600, when Charles I. was born at Dunfermline.

Prince Leopold, Prince Alexander and Prince Maurice, all three sons of Princess Henry, entered the service at the beginning of the war. Prince Leopold was invalided home with a bullet in his knee before the death of his brother. The Queen of Spain is a sister of the lamented prince.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Official reports of the government show that unemployment among men is now about one per cent. less than it was at the opening of the war. These figures are somewhat surprising in view of the fact that nearly one million men have volunteered their services and are under training in the army.

Men who have not entered the army find little trouble now in finding work, notwithstanding the fact that thousands of places vacated by men have been filled by women. The government has hurried forward a contract for the construction of a new post office tube, which will also employ thousands of men for a year or more.

NEW POLISH CLUB HOUSE

FORMAL DEDICATION HELD YESTERDAY WITH SPEECHES BY CITY OFFICIALS AND OTHERS

Yesterday marked the opening of the new club house in Coburn street, the property of the Polish National Home association, which is composed of five different organizations. The building, a description of which was given in Tuesday's edition of The Sun, is one of the finest of its kind in the city and reflects great credit upon the Polish people of Lowell.

The new club is a two and a half story building and located in Coburn street near the corner of Lakeview avenue. The dimensions are 100 feet by 60 feet and the building is of wood. The lower floor consists of a large amusement hall and kitchen, while on the second floor are a dance hall with stage and gallery, ladies' room, dressing room, bath, toilet and check rooms. The building cost about $9,000. The plans were drawn by Architects Millard & Davis of this city, while the general contract was under the direction of Contractor Stanley Szwedzinski of Lynn. The club is composed of about 700 members, all members of the various Polish fraternal organizations of the city. The building is steam heated and equipped with electric lights. The floors are of hard wood, while the ceilings are of metal. The dedication exercises were held in the afternoon and consisted of a banquet followed by post prandial exercises and dancing in the evening. Stanley Monarszyski, president of the organization, acted as toastmaster and at the conclusion of a fine repast he thanked the visitors and in brief remarks explained the purpose of the building. He told of this building being the home of nearly 5,000 people and explained the amalgamation of five different orders into one organization in order to erect a suitable building for the gatherings of the members of this particular nationality and he said the structure was erected at a cost of $9,500.

Other speakers were Mayor D. J. Murphy, Rep. Henri Achin, Jr., Lawyer J. T. Masterson, Albert Tarka, Stanley Zwie, John Nowak, Emil Hanas and others. The Polish-American Cadet band was in attendance and during the afternoon furnished excellent music. At the close of the speeches a light luncheon was served and the guests repaired to the upper hall, where general dancing was enjoyed. Those responsible for the success of the event were the following officers:

President, Stanley Monarszyski; vice-president, Francis Wich; treasurer, Michael Gaskiewicz; financial secretary, Balamon Witkos; recording secretary, Ludwik Pajak; S. Polchlopek, J. Azana and S. Wozniak.

Prize walk, Associate, tonight.

FINE SCOTCH CONCERT

Large Audience at First Presbyterian Church Last Evening—Every Number Encored

A very fine Scotch concert was given last evening at the First Presbyterian church before a large audience which showed its appreciation by demanding an encore to each number. From the beginning to the end of the program, there was a genuinely Scotch atmosphere, many of the selections being the old folk songs that will live as long as hearts beat that love real music. Following is the program:

Quartet, Hall to the Chief, Miss Ella Thompson, soprano; Mrs. F. L. Roberts, contralto; Mr. Harry Hopkins, tenor; Mr. Warren T. Reid, bass.
Solo, Bonnie Sweet Bessie, Miss Ella Thompson.
Solo, The Pipers of Gordon's Men, Harry Hopkins.
Reading, Heart of Eber Rose, Lillian Bell.
Miss A. Livingston Gage
Solo, Cam' ye by Atholl, Mrs. F. L. Roberts.
Solo, Lochnagar, Warren T. Reid.
Solo, Mary of Argyll, Harry Hopkins.
Reading, Selected, Mrs. A. Livingston Gage.
Solo, Daddy (by request), Mrs. F. L. Roberts.
Solo, My Ain Folk, Miss Ella Thompson.
Solo, Sound the Pibroch, Warren T. Reid.
Quartet, Annie Laurie, Pianist, accompanist, Miss Minnie Tucker.

The committee which arranged for such a splendid affair consisted of the following: John B. Caddell, secretary; Donald A. McFadden, financial secretary; Edward Hanson, treasurer; and John A. McDonald, Paul McDonald, Robert J. Houston, David Dickson, Thomas McKee, Hector Sutherland, Thomas Sutherland and Thomas Courtney.

Broderick's orch., Associate, tonight.

PALMER STREET BASEMENT

TO THE MONEY SAVING WOMEN OF LOWELL AND VICINITY FOR THE NEXT THREE BUSINESS DAYS

At all times we are our own heaviest competitors—striving each month to out-do, in both sales and satisfaction, the work of the same month one year past—and when we've had special sellings in that particular month, we must need plan, perhaps a half a year ahead, for what we know is coming. You remember the sale of the White Store stock. It's one year since we placed those magnificent bargains in women's wearables before you, and you responded by giving us such a business in our MERRIMACK STREET BASEMENT as we had never seen before. That great business MUST be caught up with and beaten ere this month closes. For weeks and weeks, we've planned to that end, taking advantage of every spot cash bargain that was brought to our attention, getting big lots at half price, etc., so that now we come to you with these competition sale offerings. Prices made with no thought of profit, our one aim being to beat last year's sales. Our Merrimack street women's wear basement never held more attractive underprices for economical shoppers.

Ball of Firemen's Relief Association at Armory—Large Assembly Danced Hours Away

Resplendent with handsome gowns of the festive guests, made gay by the entrancing strains from the Sixth Regiment band, beautified by the decorations which clustered all about them and with the spirit of jolly good fellowship permeating the atmosphere, the grand concert and ball of the Lowell Firemen's Relief Association held Wednesday evening in the state armory on Westford street, was one long session of pleasure unrestrained.

The clanging of the fire alarm was forgotten and fortunately none was rung in from 8 o'clock until 2 Thursday morning, and the night was one of unalloyed pleasure. It was the first firemen's ball held in this city for over a dozen years, the custom of conducting annual parties having been dropped about that time, but its success was so great that the officers of the association will undoubtedly hold forth again in the near future.

The spacious but severely plain state armory, always looked upon as a huge drill shed large enough to accommodate a gathering of most any size, was transformed into a scene of brilliancy. Especially beautiful were the decorations which covered the large walls and ceilings of the hall, streamers of blue and pink bunting suspended from the centre of the hall room while the girders and beams were hidden from view by varicolored bunting, with bits of greenery intermingled at frequent intervals. Scores of American flags were hung about the wall and over the windows and doors which were covered with lace. The platform, banked with sweet music, was flanked with potted plants, cut flowers and greenery while the wall in the rear of the platform was covered with bunting of the prevailing colors.

In the centre of the back wall was a large shield, beautifully lighted with incandescents and surrounded with flowers and greenery containing the letters "L. F. R. A." The hallway from the main entrance to the drill shed was appropriately decorated while the different reception rooms were profusely dressed, the whole appearance making a very striking effect which was much appreciated by the guests of the evening.

At 8 o'clock the program was opened, the band playing its first series of selections which lasted until 9 o'clock. From the opening of the concert program until its conclusion the guests arrived and were met by members of the reception committee who were very much in evidence during the evening. At 9 o'clock when nearly 2000 people thronged the door and gallery, a start was made to form the line of march. At 9:15 o'clock the band struck up a lively march and Fire Commissioner and Mrs. James H. Carmichael started on their way. The following followed by nearly 200 couples. The grand conductor of the evening was J. C. O'Neill and he was assisted by John C. Rhinehardt. As those who participated in the march went through the various movements, making a very brilliant scene, they were loudly applauded by the well filled gallery, and the march was recorded as one of the features of the

BRITISH WARSHIP BLOWN UP--OVER 700 PERISHED

Sudden Explosion Destroyed the Bulwark Riding at Anchor Off Sheerness
—Vessel Vanished in Few Minutes
—Band Playing When Ship Sank

LONDON, Nov. 27.—It was officially announced here yesterday that the British battleship Bulwark had been blown up off Sheerness.

Only 14 men out of the 700 or 800 on board were saved.

According to the admiralty the explosion which resulted in the destruction of the Bulwark is believed to have originated in her own magazine. The announcement of the disaster was made by Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The explosion occurred at 7.53 a. m. A vice admiral and a rear admiral who were at Sheerness reported that they were convinced that the disaster was caused by a magazine explosion. There was no upheaval of the water. When the smoke had cleared away the ship had disappeared.

An inquiry will be held today and the admiralty believes that it may throw some light upon the occurrence.

Mr. Churchill, speaking in the house of commons said:

"The loss of the ship does not sensibly affect our military position, but I regret the loss of life which was very heavy. Only 14 men were saved. All the officers and the rest of the crew, which I suppose amounted to between 700 and 800, perished."

The force of the explosion aboard the boat was so great that houses in Sheerness and even in Southend, seven miles away, and on the other side of the Medway, were violently shaken.

The people fled into the streets in alarm. When the great ship blew up dense clouds of smoke and flames shot into the air. The vessel disappeared in three minutes.

So terribly was the Bulwark rent that it was impossible to give her any assistance. Immediately after the explosion the vessel was blown out by smoke, and as the vessel slowly lifted a handful of men were seen struggling in the water. Small craft rushed to their aid and picked them up.

Some of the crew were badly mutilated.

A touch of the dramatic was added to the catastrophe by the fact that the band of the Bulwark was playing when the explosion came.

Although 15 years old and no longer on the first fighting line, the Bulwark still was a useful unit. The loss of the ship, however, was nothing compared with the heavy loss in trained officers and men with whose relatives Mr. Churchill expressed in the house of commons his deep sympathy and sorrow. The Bulwark in her early career was a favored ship. For a long time she was the flagship of Admiral Charles Beresford in the Mediterranean.

Story of Eye-Witness

An eye-witness who was on a ship

a short distance from the ill-fated Bulwark, said:

"I was at breakfast at about 10 minutes to eight o'clock this morning when I heard an explosion and went on deck. My first impression was that the report was produced by the firing of a salute by one of the ships, but the noise was quite exceptional."

"When I got on deck I soon saw that something awful had happened. The water and the sky were obscured by dense volumes of smoke. We at once were ordered to the scene of the disaster to render what assistance we could. At first we could see nothing, but when the smoke cleared we were horrified to find that the battleship Bulwark had gone. She seemed to have entirely vanished from sight, but a little later we detected a portion of the huge battleship showing about four feet above the water."

"We kept a vigilant outlook for the unfortunate crew, but saw only two men. I don't know whether the other boats rescued anyone. One man we saw was dead. The disaster was the result of an accident."

Another eye-witness said that when the explosion occurred a great volume of flame and smoke shot into the air. The ship seemed to split in two and then heeled over and sank. She disappeared in less than five minutes.

The loss of the Bulwark, according to a Central News despatch received yesterday evening from Chatham, was due to an accidental explosion while ammunition was being loaded on the warship.

The Bulwark cost $5,000,000.

THREE CHILDREN EAT NUTS, DIED IN AGONY

Wards of State Partake of Shell-back Nuts and Die Within 3 Hours of Each Other

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Three children, state wards in the custody of Miss Norah O'Hara of Oak street, Woburn, died in agony within three hours of each other yesterday afternoon after apparently being poisoned. They had eaten shell-back nuts as they waited for their Thanksgiving dinner.

The victims are Peter Krukas, aged three; Anthony Krukas, aged five, and Caroline Krukas, aged six, members of a family of five children "farmed out" to Miss O'Hara some time ago by the state board of charities. The other two escaped. They had eaten no nuts.

The exact cause of the death probably will not be known until Dr. William H. Keleher, medical examiner for the Woburn district, performs an autopsy today. The physician scouted the theory that ptomaine poisoning might be responsible.

The symptoms and the manner of death of the children were identical. All three were sitting on the steps of the O'Hara home munching at the nuts and waiting impatiently for their dinner. The nuts were some bought by Miss O'Hara for the dinner and had been given to the children to appease their hunger.

Anthony and Caroline, sitting with their backs to Peter, noticed suddenly that he was not joining in the childish conversation, and turning to find him lying in a stupor on the steps. They screamed in fright and Miss O'Hara rushed to the scene.

Dr. Keleher was summoned in haste, and by the time he had reached the house both Anthony and Caroline complained of feeling sick. They, too, shortly passed into a state of coma.

Peter was seized with violent convulsions at 3 o'clock and died in the utmost agony 15 minutes later. His brother and sister were rushed to the Cheate Memorial hospital. The older boys seized with the same kind of convulsions as the little had, died at 6 o'clock, and the girl at 6.15.

Because none of the children had eaten dinner, and because their last known meal was shared by other children in the O'Hara household, who showed no ill effects, Dr. Keleher declared that ptomaine poisoning could not be assigned as the cause of death.

He declared that in his opinion the children died from the effects of one of two poisons, but declined to name either one under consideration.

Experts in poisons declared last night that the deaths bear all the marks of alkaloidal poisoning, like strychnine or aconite. There is a bare possibility that there was a quantity of the deadly material on the outside of the nuts.

It is considered more likely, however, that the nuts may at some time have been deliberately poisoned for use against marauding squirrels or other animals, and accidentally got mixed with nuts that had not been tampered with.

In the neighborhood of the O'Hara house there is a refuse dump, and there is a possibility that the children may have played about this place and may have picked up and eaten something that poisoned them.

The further possibility of their having found a deadly nightshade or foxglove plant and of having chewed a leaf from one or the other, is suggested as another solution of the mystery.

HORSES FOR ALLIES

LARGEST SHIPMENT FOR EUROPE LEFT NEW ORLEANS ON BRITISH STEAMER

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.—The largest shipment of horses for Europe was to leave here today on board the British steamer Roanmore. The horses, 1,820 in number, arrived here yesterday on two special trains from the Middle West. It was said the Roanmore would clear for a French port and that the horses would be used as mounts for the French cavalry.

1000 HORSES FOR EUROPE

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 27.—With a cargo of 1000 horses for use by the British and French governments, the British steamer Rayburn was to sail early today for French ports.

The steamer Shenandoah is now being fitted with stalls to carry about 1,000 horses and the steamer Raphael, it was announced, is expected to reach here today for a cargo of horses destined for Europe. They are British vessels.

A Simple Way to Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

FAMILY IN DIRE WANT

HOME ALMOST BARE AND LARGER EMPTY—MOTHER AND SIX CHILDREN Huddled in DARKNESS

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—In two small rooms, one of them windowless, way back on the second floor, reached through a dull looking street door which is numbered with chalk, 129 Endicott street, a reporter last night found the Stenzel family, huddled in darkness with pinched features and stony eyes, awaiting what destiny next held in store.

It was Thanksgiving night and all were present except the father, who is detained by authorities at Pemberton square. It might almost be said that there was no furniture, no bed clothing, no comfort and no hope. The tenement door had been bolted. They seemed to wait for starvation or whatever form misfortune might next choose to visit upon them. There was little food, the basket given them the day before, soon being exhausted.

It is a family of six children and there soon will be seven. The oldest child is Josephine, aged 14, almost unnaturally bright in conversation, motherly, the family interpreter and family business head. Mrs. Stenzel works for her children and tries to guard them from danger. At night she bundles them under rags on boxes, chairs, a crib and one large mattress.

In court Wednesday, when pressed by the judge, Josephine admitted that all of them were hungry. She was given a little money by Judge Murray, so pathetic was her story on the witness stand. Miss Elizabeth Lee, the probation officer, Louis Frank, the Jewish interpreter, and other attaches made up a Thanksgiving basket. Yesterday the Stenzel family ate its fill. It was long since this had happened before. They did not know when it might occur again.

Thomas Stenzel, the father, was on trial for non-support last Wednesday. He has spent for drink the money which ought to maintain his wife and children. Always he promises to drink no more, but the habit is so strong upon him that he fails. He burst into tears at the conclusion of his case and was led away. His case will be disposed of today.

RESINOL CURED AWFUL ITCHING IN ONE NIGHT

NEW YORK.—"The skin on my hand got red and rough. It itched and I began to scratch it. It itched so that sometimes I could not sleep all night. I was suffering very much. I used calve and ointment, but they did not seem to help me. This went on for six or seven months. Then I tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. I used them one night. In the morning, to my surprise, my hand was all well and the trouble has never returned. This is the absolute truth." (Signed) Miss Cella Kleinman, 81 Columbia St., April 26.

Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Miss Kleinman, say of it. It does its work quickly, easily and at little cost. If you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, try Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Sold by all druggists.

MAN KILLED HIMSELF

WHILE HIS NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY LAY ASLEEP IN BED BESIDE HIM—MADE PREPARATIONS

WORCESTER, Nov. 27.—While his 9-year-old son lay asleep in bed beside him, Charles Goodney, 35 years old, shot and killed himself with a shotgun at his lodgings, 32 Parker street, Wednesday night.

In order to make death certain, he had improvised a special rigging. He tied a piece of twine to the trigger, and passed it around the headboard, and then he carried it about the rail at the foot of the bed. Then he stretched himself beside his son and placed the muzzle at his head.

Just at that moment Mrs. Walter Mason, daughter of Edgar Plagg, with whom Goodney lodged, passed the room, the door of which was ajar. She ran in and seized the trigger, but as she did so, Goodney pulled the string. The discharge killed him instantly and blew off the index finger of Mrs. Mason's hand.

Goodney's wife had been dead for some time. He had been out of work and became despondent because he could not provide as well as he wished for his son, Charles, and his 8-year-old daughter, Mary. He was formerly employed by the Winslow Skate company.

Mrs. Mason was taken to the City hospital for treatment.

MOTION CAME TOO LATE

JUSTICE HOLMES REFUSES WRIT TO BRING FRANK MURDER CASE TO SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Justice Holmes yesterday refused to issue a writ to bring the Leo M. Frank murder case to the supreme court for review. Justice Lamar previously had refused the writ. Application for review will be made to the entire court Monday.

Justice Holmes in an informal statement of his decision said:

"I understand I am to assume that the allegations of fact in the motion to set aside are true. On those facts I very seriously doubt if the petitioner (Frank) has had due process of law not on the ground of his absence when the verdict was rendered so much as because of the trial taking place in the presence of a hostile demonstration and seemingly dangerous crowd."

The justice, however, added that he was bound by the decision of the Georgia supreme court that the motion to set aside the verdict came too late.

CATHOLIC CHURCH SERVICES
At practically all of the Catholic churches of this city yesterday, special masses of Thanksgiving were celebrated, attended by large congregations. The morning mass at the Immaculate Conception church was offered up in thanksgiving for the many favors of the year, and especially for the souls of deceased benefactors. At St. Patrick's, a mass was celebrated for the repose of the souls of deceased members of the Clan-na-Gael, and Irish National Brotherhood. There was no official celebration of thanksgiving other than the morning masses.

FIRING ON U. S. WARSHIP

Turkish Official Lays All Responsibility to Helmsman of Launch —Incident Closed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The Turkish commander of the forts at Smyrna lays all responsibility for the firing upon the cruiser Tennessee's launch upon the indifference of the helmsman of the launch, who, it is said, did not heed warnings of the presence of mines.

Secretary Bryan today issued a supplemental statement on the Tennessee incident based on the latest communication from the Turkish minister of war to Ambassador Morgenthau in Constantinople.

"The war minister's report," said the statement, "states that he ascertained from the commander of Smyrna that two blank shots of warning were first fired and that the sentinel after waiting two minutes was obliged to fire the third shot in another direction from that of the launch, which later shot was merely to prevent the helmsman of the launch from holding his course which would lead directly onto the mines at the entrance of the port, and to rescue him from a very certain danger. The commander of Smyrna expresses very great regret that such an obligation was presented to the sentinel of the port which he attributes to the indifference of the helmsman of the launch."

"Secretary Bryan said this latest report closes the incident."

SALE OF MILEAGE BOOKS
JUDGE ALDRICH AND JUDGE DODGE HAND DOWN OPINION IN B. & M. CASE

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 27.—Judge George Aldrich of the United States district court for the district of New Hampshire and United States Judges

Dodge and Bingham have handed down an opinion on the Boston & Maine railroad asking for an interlocutory injunction restraining the enforcement of the recent order of the New Hampshire public service commission fixing the maximum mileage rate in the state at two cents per mile and of the act of the legislature ordering the sale of 500 mile mileage books at two cents a mile on all railroads operating in the state until their legality and constitutionality can be determined. In their opinion the judges hold that the questions should have first been raised in the United States courts and the petition is held in abeyance until a determination can be had in the latter tribunal. The same order was made on the petition of the Grand Trunk railroad of Canada, heard at the same time.

ESCAPED WITH BRIDE

BIG CROWD "STUNG" WHEN COUPLE ESCAPE BY HOLE CUT IN SIDE OF HOUSE

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—How Ray S. Whitmore, a prominent shoe man of Cambridge and Brockton, made his escape with his bride Saturday night in Saco through a hole cut in the side of the house, was told to some friends yesterday at the United States hotel, where Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore are spending a portion of their honeymoon. Mr. Whitmore had been informed that his friends and friends of his bride—who was Miss Luques of Saco—intended to give them a great send-off as soon as the wedding ceremony was over.

Thus it happened that a large group of friends of the bride and groom waited, but waited in vain, for the appearance of the happy pair. By that time they discovered the ruse which had foiled their well-laid plans, Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore were speeding on their way to Boston.

more had a good sized opening cut, secretly, in a side of the Luques home. Then he arranged with the chauffeur of his automobile to come when signaled with a flashlight.

LAWRENCE HIGH WON

Defeated Lowell High 20-0 at Spaulding Park Yesterday in Presence of 2000 Spectators

The pass was high and a fumble of the ball resulted. It was Lawrence's ball inside Lowell's 20-yard line and the first touchdown came a few minutes later when a forward pass to Blair landed the ball safely between the uprights.

With the score 7-0 against the local schoolboys went back in the second half and gamely tried to fight off defeat. Individually the Lowell eleven should be commended. Possessed of practically no scoring plays, or at least uncovering nothing that resembled them, they fought it out in the line and in the backfield. Lawrence, however, was not to be denied and slowly but surely worked the ball down the field. Although the Lowell team held for down inside their ten-yard line on two occasions Lawrence pushed over one touchdown and worked a forward pass to Perry for the third score.

Captain Mochrie, Stevens and Ferguson played good football for Lowell in the line and the local backfield did all in that they could to stave off defeat. They did not appear to know what to do on the open plays directly against them and this fact accounts for the touchdowns from forward passes which were shot over the goal line. Roane, Lynch, and Lister did particularly well on the defensive, while Smith at end made several brilliant tackles.

Captain Callahan of the Lawrence team showed himself the dean of the

Outclassed in every department of the game, Lowell high went down to defeat yesterday morning at Spaulding park before the Lawrence high football eleven in one of the most decisive games ever played off between the two schools. The down-river schoolboys scored 20 points, three touchdowns and two goals from a touchdown, while the locals failed to get closer to their opponents' goal line than the ten yard line and this only on one occasion. Lowell high lost for the reason that her athletes lacked offensive power and could not break up the short forward passes of the Lawrence team. Although the field was in poor condition for the open game Lawrence succeeded in scoring two touchdowns on forward passes and worked the Lowell backfield in midfield on shifty formations.

The main factor in Lowell's defeat was the inability of the local team when they had the ball in their possession. They showed no versatility of attack, working a backfield shift boots were miserable failures. Lawrence gained from 10 to 20 yards on each exchange of punts. The largest crowd of the season attended the game, nearly 2000 people being present when the first kickoff was made. Capt. Mochrie won the toss and Lawrence kicked off.

At the outset it could plainly be seen that Lawrence possessed the superior football machine. Lowell made three vain attempts to puncture the Lawrence line and then Roane dropped back to punt from his own 15-yard line. He is the best working center that we have seen play in this city in years while on the defense it was seldom that he did not shift through the Lowell line. Redmond, Fleming, Blair and Perry divided the honors with their leader.

place, he is in a receptive mood and probably would not decline it. If the governor should see fit to send in his nomination and if the executive council should confirm it.

Those who know Mr. Fisher well, and especially those who have observed his legislative career closely, express the opinion that his Excellency might go much further and fare much worse than to name Mr. Fisher.

When seen by a reporter of The Sun, this morning, Senator Fisher said: "I understand that unknown to myself a number of citizens including some personal friends of mine have been before the governor to have him appoint me to a position on the public service commission but personally I haven't taken any part in the matter. My friends having gone ahead, I am simply awaiting developments. I have not seen the governor relative to the appointment."

Therefore, Mr. Fisher should accept a place on that commission, it would be at the risk of no inconsiderable personal and financial sacrifice, unless the 1914 statute should perchance be repealed. It is understood, however, that while he did not even know that his name would be presented to his Excellency until after it had been recommended, he was surprised to learn that such was the case, and has at no time made any personal effort to secure the

Boston Paper Booms Him as Candidate for High Office

Would Make Him Chairman of the Public Service Commission

The Boston Transcript on Wednesday evening suggests the appointment of Senator Edward Fisher to the public service commission, to succeed George W. Anderson who recently retired from the commission and says in part:

If His Excellency should name Mr. Fisher for that important position, it would be literally a case of the office seeking the man. Mr. Fisher has a lucrative law practice which, under Governor Walsh's policy, as enacted into law by the most recent legislature, he would have to surrender. Chapter 616 of the acts of 1914 provides that the "members of the public service commission shall hereafter devote the whole of their time to the business of the commission." Mr. Anderson, it will be remembered, in his letter of resignation, sharply scored that policy of the present chief executive. If, therefore, Mr. Fisher should accept a place on that commission, it would be at the risk of no inconsiderable personal and financial sacrifice, unless the 1914 statute should perchance be repealed. ROBBY ENDS LIFE IN HOTEL AFTER SHOOTING GUEST—WOMAN FORCED TO GIVE JEWELRY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—A young man entered the room occupied by Maurice C. Congdon, president of the H. B. Underwood Machine company of this city, and his wife in the Hotel Adelphi Wednesday night, robbed Mrs. Congdon at the point of a revolver, shot and severely wounded Mr. Congdon in a battle for the possession of the weapon, and then blew out his own brains in the hotel corridor when the terrified woman dashed to the telephone and called for help.

A knock at her door had brought Mrs. Congdon to it, to be confronted with the young man's revolver and to hear the demand that she give up all the money and jewelry she had. She complied. The thief made a similar demand on Mr. Congdon, who appeared in the doorway of the bathroom just then.

The thief, not satisfied with what he had received, leveled his revolver again at Mrs. Congdon and demanded that she take off her rings and give them to him. One ring dropped on the floor. As she stopped to recover it the youth sprang at her husband and fired.

Mrs. Congdon dashed to the phone while her husband and the would-be murderer wrestled about the floor. Hearing the rush of men in response to her call, the stranger broke loose from Congdon, sprang into the hall and shot himself. His dead body lay before the door when the hotel detectives ran up.

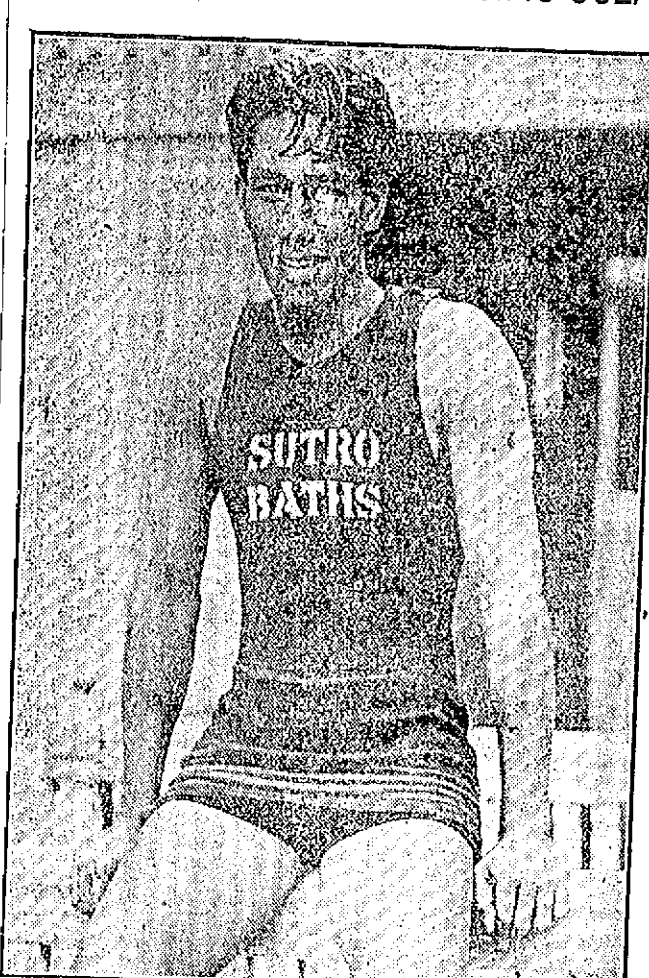

It is believed the robber was a member of an L. W. W. group which came to this city recently from New York, and an effort will be made today to trace his identity in co-operation with the New York police.

NEW FOOTBALL RECORD
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 27.—With a season's record of 544 points scored and none scored against it, the Rolla School of Mines football team which defeated St. Louis university, 63 to 0, here yesterday established a new national record for shutouts in college football, according to a statement made by Coach Kelly of Rolla last night. The Rolla school is a part of the University of Missouri.

DUKE KAHANAMOKU CAME NEAR BEING LEFT IN MIDDLE OF PACIFIC OCEAN

DUKE KAHANAMOKU

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Duke Kahanamoku, the world's champion swimmer, on his way home to Honolulu after a series of exhibitions on the Pacific coast, came near being left alone in the middle of the Pacific in unwitting punishment for a daring bit of foolery. Passengers on the steamer Wilhelmina, which arrived from Honolulu, brought the story. Kahanamoku sailed from here Nov. 4 on the Matsonia, of the same line as the Wilhelmina. Four days out from San Francisco the two ships passed each other and stopped to transfer a stowaway caught aboard the outbound Matsonia. While they lay to Kahanamoku leaped overboard and began showing off his prowess as a swimmer to the other passengers. Before the others knew he was overboard the two vessels began to get under way again in opposite directions, and it was necessary to lower a lifeboat to bring him back.

PARIS OFFICIAL REPORT

SLACKENING OF ARTILLERY FIRE OF GERMANS NOTED ALL ALONG THE LINE

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The French war office gave out an official announcement this afternoon as follows: "The slackening of the artillery fire of the enemy was noted all along the line during the day of Nov. 26. Two infantry attacks directed against the heads of bridges which we had thrown down on the right bank of the Yser to the south of Dixmude were easily repulsed.

"There was no other engagement on the rest of the front in Belgium and as far as the Oise, nor was there any action on the Aisne or in Champagne. Nevertheless, Rheims was rather violently bombarded during the time that a number of journalists from neutral countries were making a visit to the city.

City Championship Game Tomorrow Will Close the Local Football Season

Spaulding park will be the scene of Lowell's last and biggest gridiron struggle when the high school and Textile school eleven line up tomorrow afternoon for the city football championship tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. It is expected that one of the largest crowds which ever attended a football game in this city will witness tomorrow's inter-school clash.

Both teams have been developed this year with this game as the objective, although the high school also had another rival contest—that with Lawrence high yesterday. As is always the case in a game between two teams located in the same city, the rivalry between Textile and the high school is intense.

High School Always Wins

Textile and the high school have met twice before on the gridiron—in 1907 and 1908. In both games the high school eleven was returned the winner by a 6-5 score only after the most grueling kind of a struggle. This season negotiations between the high school and Textile were resumed, and the probabilities are that the game will become an annual event.

In the two games previously cited the high school was returned the winner over a team far heavier and in each instance the high school boys were scheduled for a defeat. This fall the same preliminaries seem to prevail. Textile will present a heavier lineup and a victory for the Moody street institution is predicted.

There is one salient item, however, which the public overlooks when comparing the two schools. At the high school ample opportunity is afforded the candidates for the eleven for practice, while at Textile there is at a premium.

The afternoon session at Textile does not close until 4:30 o'clock and although the players are allowed to quit their classes a few minutes before this time, yet there is hardly time for them to learn their signals and formations, and no chance for a drill in the fundamentals with which even the large colleges are pilled. So that, everything considered, the two teams are on a fairly even basis, admitting, of course, the superior age, weight and experience of the Textile eleven.

When the two teams line up tomorrow it is generally expected that two different styles of football will be seen.

The high school with its lighter line and backfield will probably attempt to overcome its weight disadvantage by fast and tricky maneuvers while the coaches at the high school expect Textile to attempt the old style game.

Both teams will present the strongest lineup of the season in tomorrow's game. The high school's hospital list has fully recovered. Textile, however, is not so fortunate as both Coleman and Barnes will be unable to play. Coleman has been laid up since the first game of the season with water-on-the-knee, while Barnes severely sprained an ankle three weeks ago. With these two men in the lineup Textile would present a formidable team.

A peculiar shift has been recently made in both teams. As a rule the captain of a team is held in his position, but both Captain Moehria and Captain Lane have been shifted.

Lane has played left end during his career at Textile until a few weeks ago when he was shifted into the back field. He will play right half tomorrow and is expected to prove a decided factor in his team's scoring machine. Both Moehria and Lane are ideal leaders.

Carl Moehria has been played both at tackle and end this season. He was originally a tackle, but was shifted ed to end in the middle of the season. Yesterday in the Lawrence high game he was sent in at his old position at tackle. It is quite probable that he will be used at tackle again tomorrow with Smith at end. Moehria is good at either position, although a trifle better as a tackle owing to his greater experience in this position.

Textile at Genoa Club

The Textile eleven took no chances of having their formations learned by the high school coaches on the eve of the big struggle and this afternoon returned to the spacious grounds of the Genoa club in Tyngsboro. A last thorough drill in signals was given them and the coaches gave them minute instructions as to the plays used by the high school in yesterday's game and the best way to break them up.

High School Held Back

In spite of the fact that Lowell high went down to defeat at the hands of Lawrence high yesterday the supporters of the Kirk street aggregation look for a win over Textile tomorrow. Their team will present a better looking appearance against Textile than they did against Lawrence for two reasons.

To begin with, Lowell high expected to be beaten by Lawrence high. The Lawrence team was considered to be superior and knowing that every play that they used in that game would be diagnosed by Textile, the high school smothered several trick formations and kept them in reserve for the final game of the season.

Another reason why the high school will be faster tomorrow will be the dry fields. Unless rain falls before the game tomorrow Spaulding park will present a dry, firm surface where open plays can be readily used. Lowell was at a disadvantage yesterday on the slushy field. On a wet field where every ounce of weight counts, Textile would have the advantage.

The game tomorrow is to be interesting from every angle. Never before has such enthusiasm been displayed at the Textile school, while the advance sale of tickets at the high school among the students has broken all previous records. A large delegation of alumni have sent to Faculty Manager A. A. Stewart of the Textile for tickets, something that was never known of before.

The probable lineup for tomorrow for both teams is as follows:

ARMY AND NAVY GAME

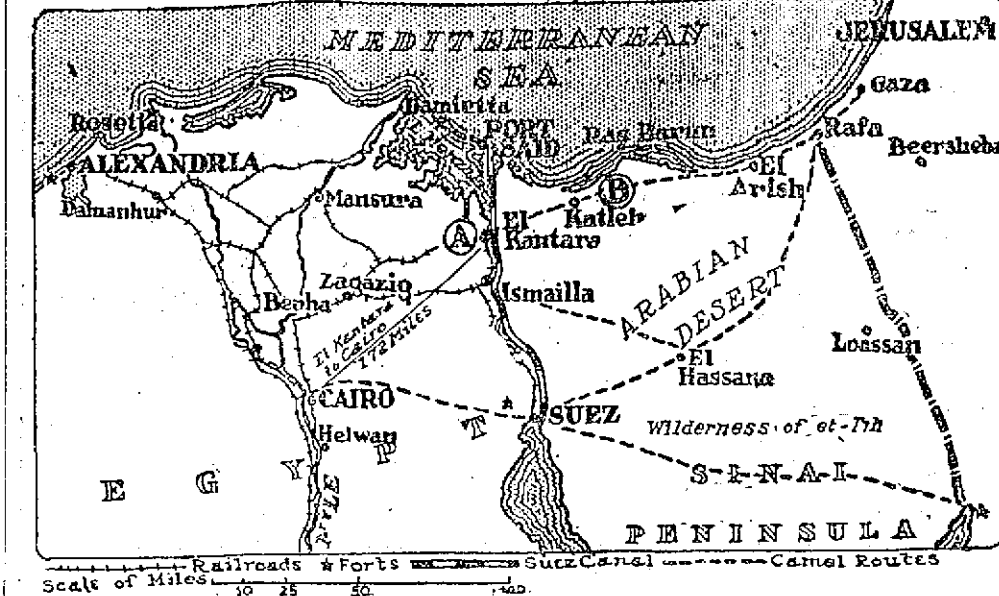

ADVANCE FORCES BEGAN TO ARRIVE AT PHILADELPHIA TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—The advance forces of the army and navy began to arrive today for the annual football battle between the West Point cadets and the Annapolis midshipmen on Franklin tomorrow afternoon.

The largest crowd that ever saw an Army-Navy football game in this city will be on hand to cheer their favorites.

As a whole the Army-Navy game is the most spectacular of the football schedule of the year. The uniforms of officers, the parading across the field of the battalions of gray-clad cadets and the regulation of blue-uniformed midshipmen, the martial music of the brass bands and the commingling of the colors of the American flag with the blue and gold of the navy, black, gold and gray of the army and red and blue of the University of Pennsylvania gave a picturesque setting that is inspiring.

President Wilson, who saw last year's game, will not be here but several members of his cabinet, including the secretaries of war and the navy will be on hand to root for the gray-iron warriors.

Where the Turks have reached the Suez canal, according to reports from Constantinople, is shown at (A). El Kantara, a small village on the west bank of this waterway, is at the head of Lake Mangala, a shallow inlet from the sea. It is on the great caravan route which for scores of centuries has been used by traders and conquerors who have skirted the edge of the Arabian desert. Kantich (B) is probably the Kantasa, where the Turks report fighting and a victory over British and Egyptian forces. El Kantara is about 200 miles from the railway constructed with German capital which runs to the east of Jerusalem, from the Upper Euphrates valley. Germans have stated that this railway was to be used to overcome many of the obstacles in the way of a march on Egypt. Yet, in spite of its assistance, the Turks have performed a remarkable military feat if they have brought any large forces across the arid waste to the shores of the canal. London has given little information about the situation in Egypt, but recent dispatches have shown that insurance rates on the passage of shipping through the Suez canal have gone to high figures, indicating a fear that the waterway will be closed. Official assurances have been given, however, that adequate military measures have been taken to protect the canal, and Australian forces and part of Earl Kitchener's new army are supposed to be included in the army of defense.

The hospital corps on duty at this post. The coaches planned to give the team a light limbering up exercise on Franklin field during the afternoon.

Before leaving the coaches announced the names of the players in the first string of substitutes. These included Kelley, the former Exeter star, and Britton as ends; Larkin and Parker as tackles; Goodman as center; Berlake as guard; Herick and Boots, Oliphant as quarterbacks, and Benedict in the backfield.

The battalion of cadets gave the team a rousing send-off on its departure. Headed by the academy band, the cadets marched to the top of the hill leading to the depot, where they halted and cheered every member of the squad, the coaches and trainers.

FOREST NOTES

Forbach, Germany, is said to have the most profitable town forest known. It yields an annual net gain of $12.14 an acre.

The state school of forestry at Botwin, North Dakota, announces that it will have one million trees for distribution to the citizens of the state during 1915.

Apple wood, used almost exclusively for saw handles, also makes the material for many so-called briar-pipes and particularly for the large wooden type used in printing signs and posters.

One of the most expensive woods used regularly in an established industry in the United States is boxwood, the favorite material for food carvings.

It has been quoted at four cents a cubic inch, and about $1200 per thousand board feet.

What is supposed to be the record speed for getting men to a forest fire is reported from Oregon, where on one of the national forests, a ranger went to town, hired ten men and got them to the fire in twelve miles away within 45 minutes after he was notified by telephone.

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

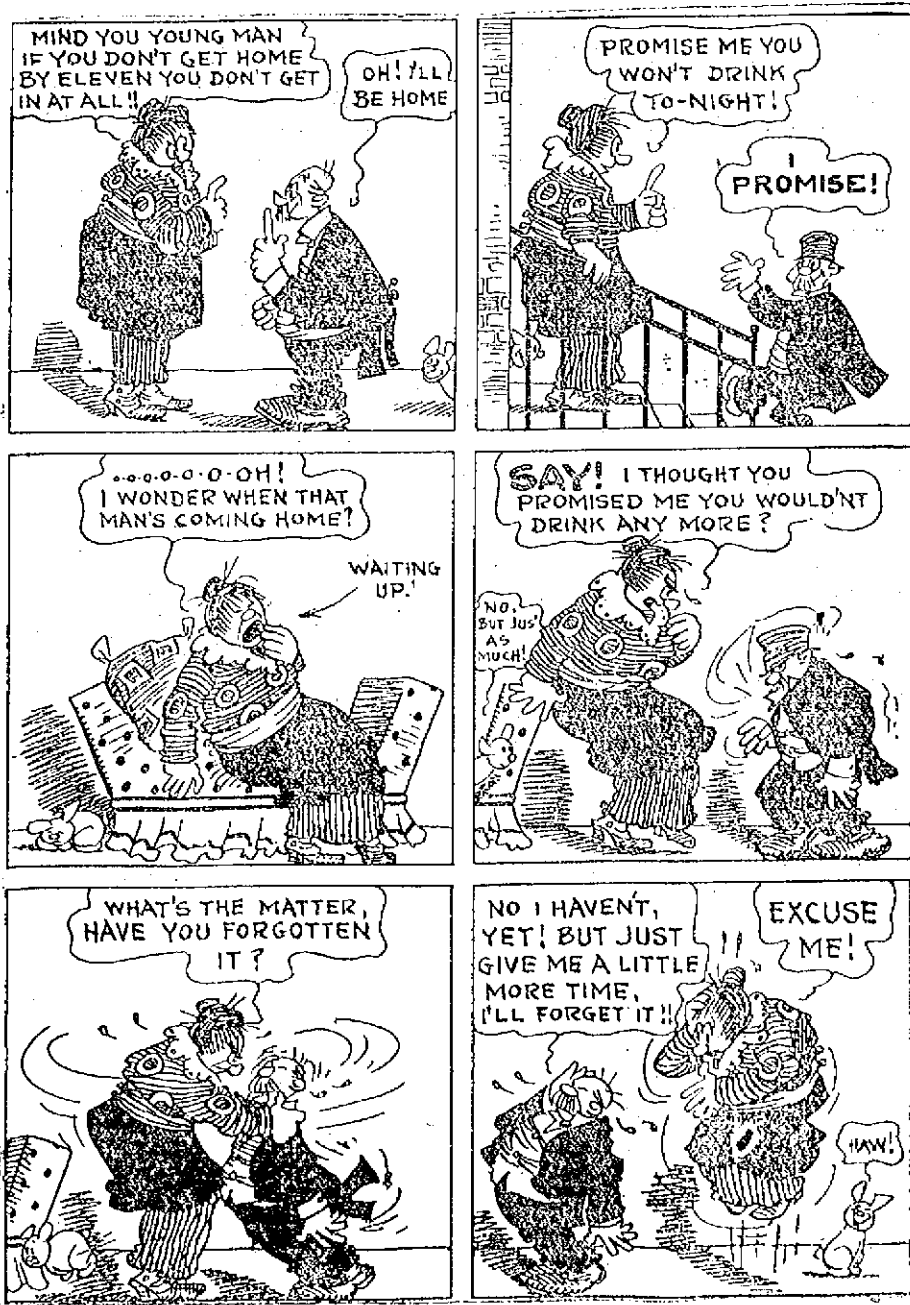

The Lowell High-Lawrence high game yesterday proved a big disappointment to the host of local enthusiasts who attended the game. The expression on the faces of the majority of those who filed through the gate after the contest showed plainly how hard the defeat came.

There was a time when Lawrence could defeat other teams on their schedule but when it came to the Lowell High game there was nothing to it but a win for our side. We haven't won a game from Lawrence now for some time. Seems like something was the matter somewhere. We'd better get together and win a game pretty quick or the interest will start to wane.

Freddy Welsh hurt his arm in his bout with Yelle last Tuesday night, it was said. Frederick, however, gave

EXCUSE ME

Young Brown a boxing lesson last night which will do that young man for some time. If his arm was injured he certainly showed no signs of it.

Billy Peters, official scorer of the New England league, was one of the spectators at yesterday's football game at Spaulding park. He seems to be just as proficient following a winning gridiron aggregation as he was with Louis Pieper's outfit. However, the luck will change sometime, William, and then we'll talk.

Sam Langford came very close to a bad beating in his argument with Harry Wills last night in California. Samba embraced the canvas four times in the first few rounds but managed to hold off his giant opponent until the going got easier. It was all off with Wills last night, however, when he began to get in his vicious body smashes. Langford smothered him in the fourteenth session when Wills went to sleep without rocking.

Brown surprised the football world yesterday by whipping the Carleton Indians, 20-14. The Providence college scored all of their points on trick plays. The game resembled the Yale-Princeton game in that Carleton put over two touchdowns in the last period.

The First Corps Cadets scored their first victory in the ten year series with Battery A yesterday. In the presence of 35,000 spectators, "Win Snow, former Dartmouth fullback, twice crossed the Battery's last chuck line. Both teams were composed of former college gridiron stars.

Young Ahearn, the Albany dancing master, tangled his way around Duck Crouse last night in Pittsburgh so fast and furiously that Crouse was in distress when the final gong sounded. Ahearn has been dancing through all of the good ones lately and has been signed to meet Jack Dillon. If the Indianapolis boxer happens to slip squarely he'll put in a awful grimace in that one step.

Eddie Cavley, former high school star, had another highly successful football season at Colby. Although he shone at the Maine college last season this year he was even better. From all accounts they are thinking of giving Eddie a few college buddies.

It looks as though the next Dartmouth-Fenn game will be played at Fenway Park instead of in Philadelphia. From the way in which the Dartmouth-Syracuse contest was received it is certain that the Fenig game would be nearly as popular in Boston as the Harvard-Yale clash.

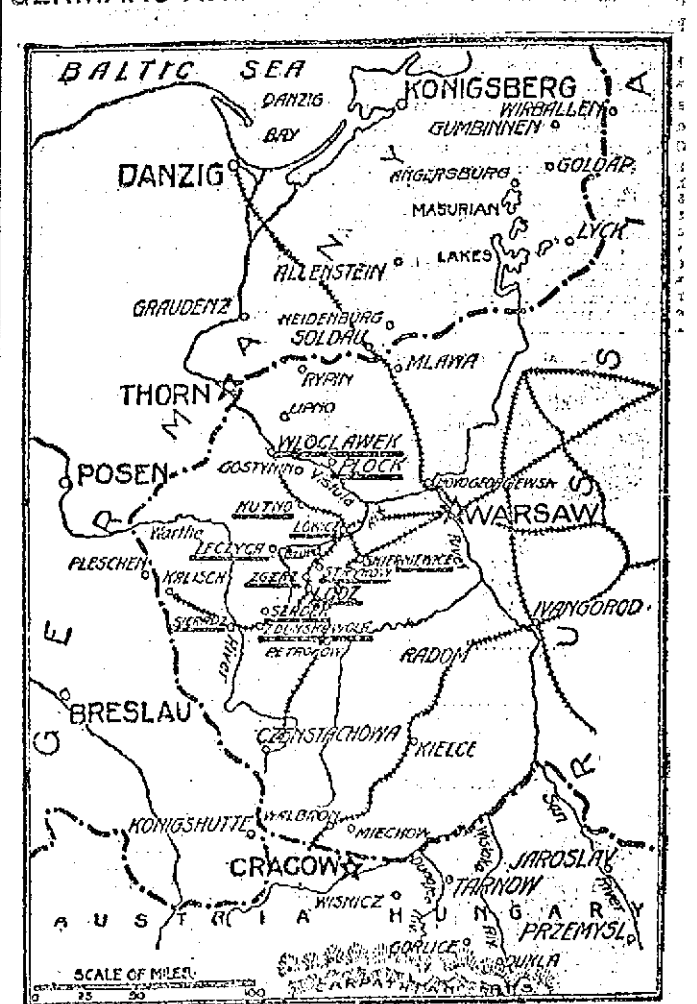

BROADWAY ATHLETIC CLUB

The Broadway Social and Athletic club held a pleasing entertainment yesterday at its headquarters in Broadway. A well arranged program of songs and orchestra selections was given to the members and a few friends.

PRINCIPAL POINTS IN POLAND WHERE GERMANS AND RUSSIANS ARE FIGHTING

The principal places in the day's news from Russia are underlined in the accompanying map, and the headquarters of the armies, the German at Thorn, Austrian at Cracow and Russian at Warsaw, are marked with stars. Reports indicated that General von Hindenburg's army had not only been checked in its drive toward Warsaw, but in some places had been driven back as much as thirty or thirty-five miles.

WORKING MACHINERY OF A TORPEDO FIRED AT BATTLESHIP FROM DEADLY SUBMARINE

SKETCH OF TORPEDO FIRED AT BATTLESHIP BY SUBMARINE

This sketch shows a sectional view of a torpedo shot at a warship. It is self explanatory. When fired from a submarine the mechanism of the torpedo is automatically set in motion and the impact of the nose against the hull of a ship springs the trigger which explodes the deadly missile. The exploits of the German submarine U-9 in sinking several English cruisers prove once for all the efficiency of the submarine use of the torpedo.

CROKER WEDS INDIAN MAID

Groom 73, Bride 23—Will Pass Honeymoon in Florida

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Richard W. Croker, former leader of Tammany Hall, was married yesterday to Miss Edmondson, a member of the Cherokee Indian tribe, who is 23 years his junior. He is 73 years old and she is 23. The bride and groom are on their way to the Croker estate near Palm Beach, Florida, for their honeymoon.

The wedding took place at the home of Nathan Strauss, an old friend of Croker's. A number of persons whom Croker had not taken into his confidence as to just where the ceremony would be performed went to St. Agnes' church under the impression they would be witnesses of the nuptials, only to be disappointed.

However, Croker did not evade all the unwelcome guests, as seemed to be his purpose, for the street in front of the Strauss home was crowded with men and women. Only about 25 guests were invited to the wedding.

Uncle Gives Bride The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. W. Hastings, who for 15 years has been attorney for the Crokers and who recently was elected to congress from Oklahoma. The bridesmaids were Miss Frances Pike, a sister of Croker's, who comes from Muskogee, Okla.; Miss Ethel Brown of Dayton and Miss Wills Townsend of Memphis.

Mr. Henry A. Braun, rector of St. Agnes' church, performed the ceremony. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl dog collar. Croker was attended by Thomas F. Smith, who has long been secretary of Tammany Hall. A typewritten statement given out by the bride after the ceremony made clear a good deal of her life history, which had been reported in many different ways since knowledge of her engagement became known. Neither she nor Croker would talk much then, so the newspapers made the best of it by interviewing her friends. Some reports expressed doubt if she really was descended from the Indians, pointing out that she was blonde and very fair. Others said maybe she was one-quarter Indian.

She is Princess The bride proclaimed her an Indian princess, and her statement says the latter were correct, for she is known as Princess Sequoyah of Kewah Kalumtuch among her tribe. Her father, the statement continued, was Michael Smith Edmondson, a descendant of Roger Montgomery, who commanded the van of the Norman army at the battle of Hastings, and her mother was a famous Chief Sequoyah, inventor of the Cherokee alphabet.

"She is proud of her ancestry, and the Crokers are proud of her as a college girl, lecturer, ranch owner and business woman," the statement says.

The ranch, it was further set forth, consists of 640 acres, and 1000 apples trees and yields 110,000 a year.

Croker first saw the girl, who yesterday became his bride, in Kansas City, when she was nine years old, according to the statement, and he later became interested in her zeal to make her people better understood. Miss Edmondson took inspiration for her work from Pocahontas and other Indian girls.

"I have been inspired by the example of Pocahontas, who did so much to make the English people understand our race," she said. "Then there was Sacagawea, the 'bird woman' who piloted the Lewis and Clark expedition on 8000 miles and made it a success. On the way back in crossing the Missouri, her husband, a renegade Frenchman, upset the canoe, carrying the records of the expedition.

"She died again and again until she saved all the valuable papers and trophies. I also had inspiration in Tall-hi, the Cherokee maiden who helped Sam Houston to free Texas."

And then she turned to Mr. Croker, who long was known as the "chief" of Tammany Hall, and remarked:

"But it is the dearest ambition of every Indian girl to win a chief, and I have won the chief of men."

In April the couple will go to the groom's estate in Ireland, where he has lived for many years, since retiring from public life in New York.

Mr. Croker and Miss Edmondson gave interesting details of their life history to P. J. Scully, the marriage license clerk at city hall. It developed that he has a middle name, Welsted. None of his intimate friends, however, knew his name. The bride, seeing it in print before a lecturer, said she was a poet and a lecturer, chiefly on subjects relating to her race. She is an accomplished singer, very talented and popular among a wide circle of friends.

Mr. Croker and Miss Edmondson last week obtained from the chancery office of the archdiocese two dispensations of the archdiocese, the newly appointed chancellor. The first was based on the fact that then Mr. Croker was a Catholic and Miss Edmondson not of that faith, but as last Thursday she joined the same church as that to which her husband belongs, this will no longer be necessary. The second dispensation permitted them to be married without the usual publication of the banns from the pulpit two weeks in advance.

In the marriage license the full name of the bridegroom is given as Richard Welsted Croker, his place of residence is 5 East 44th street. His birthplace is noted as Ireland. The name of the bride is given as Edmondson, and her father is Elie Croker Croker, and his mother is Elie Croker Croker. The affidavit sets forth that this is Mr. Croker's second marriage, his first wife having died several months ago.

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR CONDUCTED AT ROOMS OF THE CLUB IN PAWTUCKETVILLE

One of the most successful whist and socials conducted under the auspices of the C. M. A. C. took place Wednesday evening in the large hall of the association in Pawtucketville. The program was in charge of the president, Isidore Trudel, and the various musical numbers were most enjoyable.

A large turkey was presented the honor of the lucky number on the admission tickets, while forty chickens were awarded the winners at cards. Those who took part in the musical program were Adolphe Brassard, Arthur Giroux, Eugene Morrisette and

BUSLEWICH ACQUITTED

INDICTED ON CHARGE OF ARSON

BUT FOUND NOT GUILTY IN SUPERIOR COURT WEDNESDAY

At the criminal session of the superior court in East Cambridge Wednesday afternoon, Jilpoleta Buslewich of this city, who had been indicted by the grand jury for arson, was found not guilty and discharged. Buslewich had been arrested on a complaint charging him with having set fire to his jewelry store in East Merrimack street, and after hearing the evidence in the case Judge T. J. Enright of the police court found probable cause and laid the man for the superior court. Assistant District Attorney McCarthy appeared for the government and B. J. Moloney and D. J. Donahue for the defendant.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

THE LITTLE GIRL'S DREAM

Once upon a time the Gnomes got together and the oldest one said: "I guess we had better get a basket of good things together for that poor woman who lives alone with her little girl. She works hard all day long and then she is not able to earn money enough to buy the things that the little girl needs."

All the Gnomes were willing to help and they set to work to do their share. One of them went out in the woods and gathered a lot of chestnuts. He sewed together with dried grass some lovely colored leaves and put the nuts in the leaves.

Another went to the market and got a nice turkey, another brought vegetables and others cakes, fruit, and everything they could think of that would taste good to the little girl and her mother.

That night they fixed the basket so it looked very pretty and after bedtime they stole softly up to the door and slipped the basket into the house.

The next morning when the little girl and her mother woke, the first thing they saw was the basket of goodies. The Gnomes had not forgotten anything and there was so much of everything that it lasted a long time.

One day the little girl was sitting beside the window and all at once beside her she heard a voice saying: "How did you like the basket of good things we sent you?" Looking up she saw one of the Gnomes.

"Oh, did you send those things?" she asked.

When the Gnome told her that they all sent them and that they would be glad to again if she wanted, the little girl was so pleased that she leaned over to kiss the little fellow and as she did so she fell out of the chair and bumped her nose.

Her mother was just opening the door and so was there to help her into the chair again.

"How did you happen to fall?" she asked. "I was trying to kiss the little Gnome who sent us the basket," she answered and the little girl wondered why her mother smiled at her.

I guess we know it was only a dream.

THANKSGIVING WITH GRANDPA

Once upon a time Grandpa and Grandma asked all their children and grandchildren to come and have Thanksgiving dinner with them and as Grandpa said: "It will be a real old-fashioned one." They arrived early in the morning and were so hungry that it didn't seem as though they could wait until dinner time. The children all had a table by themselves and Grandma served them herself, so, as she said, that they would be sure to have enough.

After dinner Grandpa said they would go out and look at all of the animals in the barn but they must be very careful and not touch them. Little Jenny wanted to go and see the chickens and turkeys and so she went there by herself.

All at once Grandpa was startled by a loud cry and he went in the direction of the noise. There he saw poor little Jenny running as fast as she could and close behind her was a big turkey. Grandpa drove the turkey back and picked the little girl up in his arms and carried her back to her mother. Jenny was so frightened that the rest of the time she could not be persuaded to go very far from her mother.

In the evening the big kitchen was given up to the children and they played games, made molasses candy, cracked nuts, and had a fine time until someone said: "I wish Grandpa would tell us a story about when he was a little boy." Grandpa said: "I will tell you about the time I shot a turkey for our dinner."

He told them that a few days before Thanksgiving his father said to him: "I am going out hunting for a wild turkey today. Do you want to go?" He said yes and they started out. Soon a turkey flew up out of the bushes just over his head and he was so excited that he reached up and caught hold of the turkey's legs.

He held on, although the turkey tried to get away, until his father came and together they tied the turkey's legs and carried it home. That was how Grandpa helped get Thanksgiving dinner.

The children thought that a fine story and begged for another but just then Grandpa said: "Bedtime children," and they had to say good-night. Grandpa said as he kissed them: "I'll tell you another story tomorrow."

ANOTHER BRITISH SHIP
BLOWN UP BY A MINEParis, London and Petrograd State Germany Has Been Decisively Defeated—Vienna and Berlin Claim the Outcome Not Yet Decided

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The British admiralty this evening announced that the collier Kartoum had been blown up today by a mine off Grimsby. The crew of the Kartoum was landed at Grimsby. Grimsby is on the south bank of the Humber, 15 miles southeast of Hull.

The Kartoum was 4930 tons, 315 feet long, forty feet beam and 20 feet deep. The vessel was built at Stockton in April, 1893.

SITUATION IN RUSSIAN POLAND
MOST PUZZLING PHASE OF WAR

The situation in Russian Poland, at present the scene of the most important conflict of the European war, has become the most puzzling phase of the war. An official Austrian statement is to the effect that the fighting has assumed the character of a continuous battle. In Western Galicia, it is said, the Russians have been repulsed by the Austrians. Latest news from Berlin state that the outcome has not been decided, although partial German victories are reported. Opposed to this are the official statements from Petrograd, Paris and London that Germany has been defeated decisively and Earl Kitchener's announcement in parliament that Germany has suffered the greatest reverse of the war. For nearly a week these claims have been made with the utmost confidence, yet the Russian war office withholds any word of decisive developments.

In some particulars, a similar situation prevails in the west. London expects this week would witness one of the most important and deadly struggles of the war as a result of a renewed German effort to break through to the British channel. Official statements, however, indicate that only sporadic fighting is in progress and as to the results there is no reconciling the reports from Berlin and Paris.

There is a corresponding conflict concerning the campaign in Serbia. The Austrian war office declares that the advance into Serbia is being pushed forward successfully and that the Serbs were beaten in two engagements. An official statement issued at St. Petersburg, however, contains no reference to such occurrences, merely saying that the battle continues along the main front near the Kolubara river.

A holy war which might seriously affect the issue should it bring to arms the millions of Moslems of the eastern countries has been formally proclaimed, as decided upon ten days ago. The proclamation signed by the sultan of Turkey calls on every Moslem the world over to fight Great Britain, France and Russia.

Fears of friction between the countries in South America and European powers over alleged violations of neutrality in South American waters has led the southern countries to ask the aid of the United States in looking toward exclusion of belligerent warships from the waters of the two Americas.

SUPERIOR COURT SESSION

In Jury Waived Cases—Judge
Quinn Granted Many Divorce
Decrees

At this afternoon's jury-waived session of the superior court, Justice Quinn presiding, the divorce proceedings of Alphonse Valashia vs. Helen Valashia, both of Cambridge, were resumed. In this case a decree nisi was granted sometime ago to Alphonse Valashia on the grounds of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication inasmuch as the divorce proceedings were not contested. Now the libellee comes back to have the decree annulled on the grounds that she was not properly notified to appear in court at the time of the trial. The libellant has been connected with superior court work as an interpreter for a number of years. This last trial was started last week and this afternoon after it was resumed the libellant was called to the witness stand and he occupied the attention of the court for several hours.

Decrees nisi was granted in the following cases:
Nellie Brown vs. Clement Brown, Maynard, desertion, custody of minor children to libellant.
Bessie D. Shipley vs. Clifford L. Shipley, Cambridge, desertion, custody of minor children to libellant.
Ella G. Wilmet vs. Alden L. Wilmet, Lowell, gross and confirmed habits of intoxication; custody of minor children to libellant. Libellee to see child once a week.
Lillah M. Harvey vs. Sidney Harvey, Newton, statutory offense.
Helen L. Vroom vs. Norman P. Vroom, Cambridge, cruel and abusive treatment.
Ida Weeks vs. Maurice S. Weeks, Somerville, cruel and abusive treatment; custody of minor child to libellant.

Emma L. Martin vs. Walter S. Martin, Melrose, desertion; libellant allowed to resume maiden name.
Ella Cronin vs. Michael J. Cronin, Cambridge, cruel and abusive treatment; libellant allowed to resume maiden name.
Ella A. Card vs. Joseph Card, Cambridge, desertion.

CALL DECREE AN INSULT
BERLIN, Nov. 27.—The Evangelical clergyman of Berlin and its suburbs have signed a declaration protesting against the military decree which says that student clergyman, clergyman ordained or clergyman who have been pensioned may not be called to arms.

In their protest the clergyman declare this decree cannot be justified and is an insult to them. All other classes and professions have the honor of being able to fight for their country with arms and they would do likewise. They are going to petition the reichstag to abolish this decree.

APPEALS TO HUB MAYOR

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Kadoff has appealed to Mayor Curley in an effort to have her 15-year-old son Abraham, who recently enlisted in the British army returned to this country. The woman has received a letter from her son telling of his enlistment in an English brigade and in the same letter he complains of being homesick.

The boy went to Canada four months ago to work in a factory and the first heard from him was the letter which was mailed in London. Mayor Curley has taken the matter up with a view to having the boy's enlistment annulled, and the child returned to his parents.

THAT RAVAGES OF CATTLE DIS-EASE HAVE BEEN CHECKED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Satisfied that the ravages of the foot and mouth disease of cattle have been checked and that the epidemic is now under control, officials of the bureau of animal industry today determined to begin lifting the quarantine imposed on the cattle markets of various states.

As rapidly as the bureau can be assured that all infected cattle have been destroyed in any locality the quarantine will be lifted from that particular district.

GUARD AGAINST SPYING

ING PASSPORTS ORDERED BY GOVERNMENT

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Greater precaution in granting passports to persons who may desire them to facilitate in spying in the countries now at war was recommended by the federal government in a communication by Gov. Walsh today.

Every applicant in future must satisfy the clerk of a federal or state court as to his identity supported by two or more witnesses known to the court, the government says.

The federal authorities in urging additional care pointed out that passports had been obtained by persons representing themselves to be American citizens to help in their work of espionage.

PLANK'S TERMS TOO HIGH
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—"I would like to see Eddie Plank in a Chicago Fed uniform," said President Weegham of the Chicago club today. "But I have practically ended all negotiations with him. His terms are too steep for me."

PRECINCT OFFICIALS
INVITED TO RESIGNCommissioner Brown, Who Appointed Them, Will Ask Them to Retire—Other City Hall Items

George H. Brown, commissioner of finance, stated today that he would ask the 11 precinct officers in precinct two of ward one to resign as the result of the alleged tampering with ballots in that precinct at the preliminary election.

"I do not know," said the commissioner, "that any one of the 11 precinct officers is guilty of any misdemeanor. I do not know that any of them tampered with the ballots, but I do believe that the public demands their removal. I am sorry to have to take this course, but I am going to ask them to resign. I have instructed the city clerk to address special delivery letters to the officers."

30 BODIES FOUND

Victims of Explosion on Battleship Bulwark Picked Up

SHERNESS, England, Nov. 27.—Thirty bodies from the British battleship Bulwark were recovered from the River Thames today. The Bulwark was blown up off Sheerness yesterday, the result of an internal explosion, the government explains.

Most of the bodies so far recovered are mutilated almost beyond identification. Up to the present time the authorities have not given out a list of the lost.

Walter H. Page, the American ambassador, president. Among those present were Lord Northcliffe, Sir George Riddell and Robert P. Skinner, the American consul general. Mr. O'Laughlin described the organization of the enterprise and the enthusiasm with which American women and children contributed to the unique undertaking. Sir George Riddell expressed the appreciation of Great Britain.

QUET IN MINING REGIONS

SPECIAL INVESTIGATION OF TROU-BLE BY DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
OFFICIALS

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 27.—The work of the special investigation of the Hartford Valley Mining troubles by Ethelbert Stewart of the department of labor was begun today. After talks with Roger B. Hall, special assistant to the attorney general Mr. Stewart had a conference with William Harris, special agent of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, with the result that Harris will remain here a few days to assist Stewart.

Quiet prevails in the mining regions, according to reports from Camp Harrison.

STOCK EXCHANGE TO OPEN
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—An announcement was made today that the Philadelphia stock exchange will be re-opened on Monday, Nov. 30, at 10 a. m. for the transaction in all securities listed in regular and unlisted departments of the exchange.

The board of governors of the exchange made the following announcement:

Pursuant to a resolution adopted at a special meeting of the governing committee held today the Philadelphia stock exchange will re-open on Monday, Nov. 30, at 10 a. m. for transactions in all securities unlisted on the regular and unlisted departments of the exchange transactions to be made at not less than the minimum prices established by the special committee on each individual security. Minimum prices will be posted in the board room of the exchange each morning.

BATTLESHIP AGROUND MISSING FOR NINE DAYS

HIGH TIDE AWAITED TO FLOAT BATTLESHIP AGROUND OFF CAPE CHARLES, VA.

CAPE CHARLES, Va., Nov. 27.—High tide was awaited early today to float the battleship Michigan, aground off Cape Charles, Va. The weather was calm and the water was not thought to be in any immediate danger. It was believed that with 20 feet of water under her at high tide, the Michigan, with a mean draft of 25 feet, would float herself free. Four naval tugs stood by to assist in getting the vessel off.

JUDGE—SWALLOW

Thomas H. Judge and Miss Cordelia Swallow were married Wednesday at the residence of the Gorman Street Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. N. W. Matthews. The couple were unattended.

PUFFY—BURNS

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Wednesday evening, when Mr. Michael Puffy and Miss Mary Burns were united in marriage at St. Patrick's rectory by Rev. Timothy Callahan. The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of white chrysanthemums. The bride was attended by Miss Edith Burns, a sister of the bride, who was attired in a suit of green broadcloth with hat to match and carried a large bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. John Duffy, a cousin of the groom, was best man. They left on the 6:22 train on a brief honeymoon trip. Will be at home to their friends at 814 Moody street after Jan. 1st.

TAYLOR—ROBINSON

Robert Taylor and Miss Ada Robinson were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride, in Methuen street, by Rev. Forrester Macdonald, pastor of the Fifth Street Baptist church. The bride was attended by Miss Edith C. Perkins, while Stephen Pratt was best man. The couple will make their home at 43 Coral street.

PRATT—DAIGNAULT

Frank Pratt and Miss Virginia Daignault were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Marie Daignault, 115 Dalton street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. E. C. Ramette, pastor of the French Baptist church in West Sixth street. The bride was attended by Miss Edith C. Perkins, while Stephen Pratt was best man. The couple will make their home at 115 Dalton street.

MOREAU—TESSIER

At a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Joseph's church, Wilfrid Moreau and Miss Marie L. Tessier were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Augustin Grignon, O. M. I. The witnesses were Jean Priore and Fraser Moreau. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, 54 Common street, followed by a reception in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Moreau, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, will make their home at 54 Common street.

WALSH—BRETT

Mr. Edward S. Walsh, a prominent employee of the J. W. Barry shoe company, and Miss Helen M. Brett were united in marriage at the Immaculate Conception rectory at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I. Owing to the recent death of a member of the bride's family the wedding was attended by relatives of the bride and bridegroom only. Following the wedding ceremony a supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, in Fayette street, after which the happy couple departed on a wedding tour to New York, Washington and other interesting points. They will be at home to their friends after December 10.

CROWLEY—MOLONY

At St. Peter's rectory at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Miss Alice V. Molony, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Molony, the former the well known police officer of 41 Whipple street, and Mr. William F. Crowley, a prominent young man of this city, and formerly a member of the old city council, were united in marriage by Rev. W. George Mullin. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss May Molony, and the best man was Mr. Arthur L. Eno, Esq., a close friend of the groom. The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe de chine and wore a white picture hat. She carried a beautiful bouquet of Killarney roses. The bridegroom wore a pink chambray, trimmed with pink chiffon, and wore a black velvet picture hat. The wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and was attended by a large circle of relatives and close friends. Mr. and Mrs. Crowley left on the late afternoon train for Boston, en route for New York, Washington and Philadelphia. On their return they will reside at their new home, 23 Sarah avenue. The brilliant display of costly and beautiful gifts spoke eloquently of the popularity of the newly married couple. There was a great profusion of silver, cut glass, china, and all that goes to make up a happy and elegant home. None of their many friends wish them more happiness than those who were most closely associated with them.

GILCHRIST—WARD

David Gilchrist and Mrs. Georgiann Ward were married at the home of the bride, 49 Keene street, Wednesday evening, the officiating clergyman being Rev. George E. King, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church. The best man was George Coburn and the bridegroom was George Coburn. On their return from a honeymoon trip to New York and Connecticut, the couple will make their home in this city.

HIGHLAND—SULLIVAN

John J. Highland and Miss Elizabeth G. Sullivan were married at the Sacred Heart rectory Wednesday, the ceremony being performed by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I. The witnesses were Frank J. Highland and Miss Adelaide Sullivan. Mr. and Mrs. Highland will

PAUL R. CLARK

and that Mr. John Reane of this city would act in that capacity. The inspection car was then pushed out of the rear entry containing the committee, Edward F. Shaw, James J. Spillane and John A. Payne, and the course inspected. This car was one of the latest models and embodied all the latest and greatest found in high priced touring cars. The car attracted considerable attention, and many were the favorable remarks overheard from prospective buyers.

The doors of the afternoon were again opened, and amid loud explosions transmitted by a large electric motor cycle, and smoke from the same source, six racing models were pushed out of their pits by a corps of handlers to the starting point. Here the drivers were numbered and given final instructions by Starter Reane, and the automobile event started. The cars, propelled by human mechanism, went around the circular track at great speed, and although many collisions took place, none of the drivers were injured. R. DePalma, driving a Locomotor, Atlanta, and R. Burman Reane, piloting a Newmonta, came, followed at one of the corners, and both drivers were thrown out. The Locomotor Atlanta was pushed to its pit with a broken crankshaft, while the Newmonta was not damaged, and after its driver had regained his wits proceeded on its way and finally won the event. Louis Struggle Harrington, of Worcester, N. H., was thrown out of his Skutz car when on his last lap, and at first it was feared that he had met with serious injury, but upon medical examination it was found that he had sustained only a severe shaking up. He entered the next event, the pursuit race, and succeeded in winning over a large field. The winners in the different events were as follows: R. Burman Reane and John King, in the one-mile open; William H. Harrington in the pursuit; and Barney Goldfield in the 100 yard dash. The officers of the dance were: General manager, George F. Clark; floor director, Edward A. Farrell; assistant floor director, Frank J. Roane; prize committee—Paul Clark, chairman; William Warren, William Harrington, Andrew Doyle, Patrick Farrell, George Clark, Edward A. Farrell, John King.

Advertising and race committee—James J. Spillane, chairman; Edward F. Shaw, John L. Payne, Frank J. Roane; Frank McCarthy, treasurer.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Warren F. Borden and Miss Mary J. Canney were married Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Columba's rectory in Manchester road, Rev. Frederick S. Borden of Andover, a cousin of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. John A. Deegan, pastor of St. Columba's parish, officiated. Mr. Edward L. Canney, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Edith E. Cox was bridesmaid. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a gold piece, as was the bridegroom's gift to the best man. The bride wore a white dress with a pink sash and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party went to the bride's home in Manchester road, where a wedding supper was served. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John A. Deegan, assisted by Rev. John A. Deegan, pastor of St. Columba's parish, officiated. Mr. Edward L. Canney, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Edith E. Cox was bridesmaid. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a gold piece, as was the bridegroom's gift to the best man. The bride wore a white dress with a pink sash and carried a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James J. Canney. She is a graduate of the Sacred Heart and Lowell high schools. Mr. Borden is the official scorer of work and measures for the city of Lowell. The happy couple left at 8:45 o'clock on a brief wedding tour that will include New York city and Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will reside at 11 Woodward avenue where they will be at home after Jan. 1. Among those present at the reception were: Mayor Brown, Commissioners Duggan, Murphy, Connelley and Mrs. Forrester Macdonald, and Miss Duggan. Messrs. Owen Mearns and his assistant, Cornelius F. ANGELES IS REPULSED

VILLA GENERAL UNABLE TO CAPTURE GUADALAJARA, ACCORDING TO CLAIMS

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 27.—That Guadalupe has not surrendered to the Villa forces under General Felipe Angeles and that the city is so strongly fortified that Angeles cannot take it, are the claims made last night by Carranzista officials, who claim to have advices from the besieged city. The despatches say General Angeles has again been repulsed and that he was today attempting to reorganize his force by a new attack, having apparently decided not to await reinforcements. Carranzista sympathizers say it is practically impossible for Villa to send any reinforcements to Angeles, because of strong Carranzista armies in the territory through which the reinforcements must pass.

day afternoon and evening, at the home of Miss Leora Elkins, 52 A Lake street, Nashua, N. H. The entire afternoon was spent in whist and games, after which the gathering repaired to the spacious dining-room of the residence where a sumptuous repast was served. A musical program was carried out in the evening, which proved highly enjoyable. The hostess, who is an accomplished pianist, presided at the piano and won applause with her rendition of several of the latest operatic scores. Mr. Frank O'Brien of Lowell gave "Asleep at the Switch" in his inimitable manner and Miss Anna Ward pleased in her vocal selections. Mr. Walter Hall played the banjo, accompanied by Mr. Walter Cleary of Lowell. Miss Grace Ward of Lowell won favor with a recitation and Mr. William Gray contributed a song. The following Lowell members were represented in the gathering: Misses Grace Ward, Agnes Connelly, Ruth Ashburn, Esther Reedy, and Mildred Deane; Messrs. John Egan, Frank O'Brien, Fred Smith, Frank Sullivan, John Farrell, Thomas Connelly and Walter Cleary.

GERMAN AMERICAN CLUB

ITS NEW CLUBHOUSE ON PLAIN STREET OPENED WITH FINE PROGRAM

The fine new clubhouse of the German-Americans of this city, situated at 199 Plain street, was opened formally yesterday with over 400 enthusiastic Germans and German-Americans in attendance. Men, women and children were represented in the audience which was one of the most enthusiastic ever gathered together on such an occasion in this city. There was music in abundance, both vocal and instrumental, and stirring speeches, through which shone devotion to the Fatherland and its ideals, but even more noticeable was the distinctively American note heard throughout. The most impressive moment in the services came when the band of the Hamburg-American liner Cincinnati played the "Star-Spangled Banner" as the beautiful new American flag went to the peak of the flag staff. All present joined in singing the national melody and hundreds who were gathered in the neighboring streets cheered lustily.

Among those in attendance yesterday were many German-Americans from Lawrence, Manchester, N. H., Boston and other neighboring cities. These added to the relatives of the members of the club, packed the main hall to capacity. German cordiality was displayed on every hand and all

SOUR STOMACH AFTER THANKS-GIVING DINNER?

Take Dys-pep-tics. They are hand-some oval-shaped tablets, sugar-coated and pleasant to take. They combine the best correctives, carminatives and digestives, and have remarkable efficacy in sweetening the stomach and relieving heartburn and nausea. A gentleman writes: "Dys-pep-tics make you forget you have a stomach, they give so much easy and digestive comfort."

They are made by a house that has a record of forty years in producing medicines of merit, and of which is truly said "It Made by Hood It's Good."

You will have good cause to be thankful after, as well as on, Thanks-giving day, if you use Dys-pep-tics.

who entered the portals of the new club found a hearty welcome. Many present were not members of the club, but the occasion called together hundreds who have a common sympathy in a stirring time.

After the holding of the Stars and Stripes came the German patriotic air "Der Tag des Herrn" sung, splendidly by the Liederkreis of Lawrence, under the direction of Herr Krantz. Then came an ovation to the two young ladies who had loosened the American flag, Miss Tillie Borst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Borst, and a high school pupil, and Miss Mary Pfeiffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berthold Pfeiffer. President Carl Heiderich then made a brief address, receiving a hearty ovation. The fine band of the "Cincinnati" played many German patriotic airs, among them, "Die Wacht am Rhein" and "Euber Alles," with spirit and feeling, arousing great enthusiasm in the audience, many members of which have near relatives in the war. The band was under the direction of Franz Keltner, and the members were Messrs. Mostler, Schunk, Beckendorf, Volk, Ruhfeld, Hesselbarth, Zock and Touchet. The Liederkreis of Lawrence was heard again and again in finely-rendered songs and the local organization gave some excellent selections. There were speeches by the local officers and the visitors. One of the notable figures was the popular August Moeckel, called "the grandfather of the club." Throughout the afternoon a liberal buffet luncheon was served. After the formal exercises, dancing was enjoyed to a late hour.

ALL EXAMINED

FOLKESTONE, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—English health officers at Folkestone are taking unusual precautions to prevent the admission of diseases into England from the war zone. Passengers arriving on the Flushing, Dieppe, Boulogne and Calais boats are examined with great care.

Folkestone is now practically the only commercial port open for passenger business from the continent, so the stream of refugees, tourists and wounded soldiers all pass through this port. Health officers feel the pulse of every passenger, examining the wrist carefully, look into the throat and eyes and scrutinize the forehead for evidences of smallpox. In order that they may see the foreheads of ladies whose hair is fashionably dressed it is frequently necessary to push the hat and front hair back. This action on the part of physicians has frequently caused ladies to believe the physicians were secret service men who suspected they had messages concealed in their hair.

Immigration officials and plainclothes men examine the papers of all passengers very carefully before they enter England and usually engage them in conversation in an effort to ascertain whether their French or English has a German accent. Spillage is also examined thoroughly by inspectors to make sure it contains no German newspapers or letters from Berlin for persons in England.

Because of the improper use made of American passports by Lieut. Lady of the German Naval Reserve and other spies apprehended in Iceland, France and Belgium, all bearers of American passports are rigorously cross-questioned.

Flushing is the only open gateway from the United States and England to Germany which affords a direct trip and most travelers to and from Germany go by the Holland route as it is much shorter than a trip by way of Denmark, Norway and Sweden. Consequently the Flushing boats would be probably selected by secret agents of the German government.

Scattered cases of scarlet fever and smallpox have already made their appearance among Belgian refugees in Holland and northern Belgium. Every effort has been made to prevent the spread of these diseases in the refugee camps, but the Belgians are living in such crowded and unsanitary conditions that it is difficult to protect them against contagion.

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Germany's WHY EYESIGHT FAILS

BY A SPECIALIST

Failing eyesight is often caused by neglect and by forcing eyes to do work for which they were never intended. One of the most common strains modern conditions put upon them, a strain opposed to Nature and destructive to perfect sight unless relieved by proper care.

Few people know what to do when their eyes begin to go wrong; therefore, they do nothing at all until failing sight or actual agony forces them to act. Often, then, they are forced to resort to glasses for temporary relief.

Nothing, cleansing, healing, helpful lotion for eyes in trouble of those that wear glasses can be made from the following prescription:

Optima 5 grains, (one Tablet) Water 2 ounces.

Mix at home and use from two to four times a day. This prescription is in daily use by thousands. It sharpens vision, allays irritation, removes inflammation and gives a smooth, well-ventilated feeling to the eyes. It has enabled many to discard glasses they did not really need. It has restored many to perfect eye comfort. Its use is followed by a soothing sense of relief from strain and over-use. The Riker-Jaynes stores and drug lists can fill this prescription. Riker-Jaynes is familiar with the formula will tell you it is perfectly harmless.

best wine-producing district, Alsace-Lorraine, has suffered heavily by the war, and it is claimed that the output this year will be far below normal. Alsace, especially, has a poor crop, according to reports. Not alone had the bad seasons of the last few years caused a reduction of the area of vineyards to 108,840 hectares, a decrease of 108 hectares (or about 300 acres) since 1905, but the earlier months of the year were very unfavorable for the development of the plant. The vines were affected by phylloxera which incessant cold rains made worse, and then, when hot weather finally came, the war broke out. In southern Alsace, where the valleys and hillsides of the Vosges are almost entirely given to vine-growing, many vineyards were cut down in order to facilitate military operations, while others were trampled down during battles.

The result of this has been that the wine crop of Alsace will be approximately one-third normal. Conditions in Lorraine are better. Though some of the vineyards around Metz were cut down when the war began, the crop generally is plentiful enough to discount this. The quality, moreover, is said to equal that of 1904. Good weather early in the season favored a good average crop, and, unlike those of Alsace and eastern France, the wine growers of Lorraine were able to give their vineyards all needed care.

THE GERMAN LANCE

Several Specimens Among War Trophies Brought to Manchester, England

MANCHESTER, England, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Among the most interesting of the war trophies that have found their way over here, says the Manchester Guardian, "are some specimens of the German lance. It is not a wooden pole, but an eleven or twelve foot steel tube. It is very heavy and at first seems quite unmanageable to a man of ordinary strength. But two-thirds of the way down from the head towards the butt is a wrapping of thick twine to give a grip. And if you hold it there, and there only, you find that it is so evenly poised that as one admiring observer remarked, you could write your name with it. "There have been some descriptions of lances where these tubular lances have crumpled up in action like an overburdened steel mast on a racing yacht. Perhaps that may be accounted for by the peculiar shape of the head. There is no point or spear head of any kind. Instead there is a solid piece of iron shaped exactly like the end of a giant poker, square and quite blunt."

HIBERNIAN CLUB DANCE

The first Thanksgiving eve social and dance conducted by the Hibernian club was held in Hibernian hall, Merrimack square, Wednesday evening, and it proved highly successful. Sheehan's orchestra furnished the music for the dancing which started at 8 o'clock and continued until midnight. Glide dancing was a noticeable and very enjoyable feature of the evening.

THANKSGIVING EVE PARTY

A very enjoyable Thanksgiving eve party was held at the home of Miss Jennie Walsh, 2 Stanley avenue, Wednesday evening, at which a large number of friends of the young lady were present. The evening was spent in games and other indoor sports, followed by an impromptu musical entertainment in which Misses Nellie Costello, Nettie Carls, and Anna Gaynor and Messrs. John Costello, Thomas Paul, Harry Randall and H. Merrill took part. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Thomas Walsh, Mrs. Harry Randall and Mrs. David Smith.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Just 25 years ago today, the city of Boston was visited by one of the most disastrous conflagrations in its history. The fire broke out in the building occupied by Brown, Dorell & Co. and owned by Eben B. Jordan, at the corner of Bedford and Kingston streets and before it had been gotten under control it was necessary to summon assistance from several of the cities and larger towns within a radius of 100 miles. The loss was estimated at over $10,000,000 and the fire took in the business section of the city. Two firemen were killed and a large number injured and many others were killed. The fire was the worst in the history of the city.

The local fire department took a heavy loss in the fire. As a call for assistance was telegraphed to this city and immediately an alarm was rung from box 12 in Middlesex street near the depot. Stations 2 and 4 and hose 4 and 5 were called to go to Boston and Agent T. J. of the Boston fire department was called to go to Boston. A fireman was killed and a large number injured and many others were killed. The fire was the worst in the history of the city.

Editor Breaks Arm
Says the old Sun:
"After Marden's left arm is broken, but his writing is in good condition."

The editor referred to, is not the present editor of the Courier-Citizen but his respected father. The present editor Marden, happily, is in full possession of both arms and legs and while the results of the recent primaries might momentarily have cramped his writing arm, the indications are that he will continue to swing the trenchant pen without restraint.

The accident of Editor Marden occurred at the sumptuous quarters of the exclusive Algonquin club in Boston, where in company with a number of members of the Boston city government and newspaper men he had partaken of luncheon preparatory to a tour of inspection of the electrical plant of the West End street railroad, which had just substituted electric cars for horse cars. While proceeding downstairs in the clubhouse, in conversation with two gentlemen, Mr. Marden made a mis-step and fell, breaking his arm.

but the attempt failed. Mr. Collins was 25 years of age and a cousin of Michael Collins, the owner of the mill. He leaves a wife whom he married one year and a half ago and a young child.

A milkman passing the mill in his wagon about 2:30 o'clock on the morning of the accident noticed that the waters of Beaver Brook were considerably swollen and pausing to view the spectacle he discovered that water was pouring into the basement of the Collins mill. Immediately he went to the home of Supt. Collins, nearby, and upon awakening him, notified him of his discovery and then went on his way. Supt. Collins dressed and hurried to the dam for the purpose of removing the flashboards and thus preventing the water from reaching the boiler-room in the mill. When the hour arrived for the opening of the mill the situation was apparent to all, but there was no trace of the superintendent. It was noticed that the bridge at the dam had been swept away as had some gangplanking overhanging the brook. The mills were closed down and all the male employees turned out to assist in the search for the body. The body was recovered two days later and the old Sun's account of the funeral was as follows:

"The funeral of the late John H. Collins took place Monday afternoon and it was one of the most touching burials ever held in this city. There were no services held at the home of the deceased in Collinsville, but a large number of friends accompanied the remains to the grave. The cortege winding its way along the thoroughfares presented a mournful spectacle. At the place of interment in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. John J. O'Leary of St. Michael's church read the committal service. In the presence of a concourse of sorrowing spectators, the remains were committed to the earth. The survivors were Messrs. T. E. McCarthy, Thomas W. Donohue, Joseph H. Keefe, John Kiernan, William Sullivan and Jeremiah Mahoney. Scores of handsome floral tributes were laid upon the grave, including a large anchor from the employees of the mill, over whom the deceased lately exercised authority and by whom he was loved to a remarkable degree.

"Mr. Collins' body was found Sunday morning in Beaver Brook near the plant and not far from where he slipped into the icy current. His head was somewhat bruised, evidently from contact with timbers on the bridge, but no serious injury was done. The body was recovered and the investigation, judging from the position of his limbs he had made a desperate struggle for life."

To Ward Off Winter Complexion Ills

To keep the face smooth, white and healthy all winter there is nothing quite so good as ordinary mercurized wax. Rough, clapped or discolored skin, inevitable in this weather, is rapidly absorbed by the wax and replaced by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, the latter being applied at bedtime and washed off mornings. Creams, powders and rouges on the other hand, are apt to appear conspicuous at this season, because of the waxing and contraction of the skin, due to changing temperatures. I advise you to try this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercurized wax at any drug-store and use like soap cream. This will help any skin at once, and in a week or so the complexion will look remarkably youthful and healthy.

Winds and flying dust often cause pimples and other contortions which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every wrinkle, however, produced by using a harmless face cream made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered

WHAT THE FRENCH MAID SAID

HOW TO GIVE A JAPANESE LUNCHEON

"Oh, Marie, my mother says I may give a Japanese luncheon, and I would so love to have you help me with some original ideas," exclaimed Marjorie one day.

"I should be glad to help you," responded Marie, who was very flattered.

"It is just a nice time of the year to give such a luncheon," continued Marie, "because you can decorate your home and the table with chrysanthemums the flower of that quality land. How many guests will there be?"

"There will be eight of my girl-chums," exclaimed Marjorie enthusiastically. "And our maid and auntie will wait on table."

"If I were you, I should suggest that they wear cotton crepe kimonos and a few little flowers in their hair, that will add a touch," said Marie.

"And then, I would give a visit to a Japanese store, or even in one of the Japanese goods and I would purchase paper napkins, table cloth, miniature fans and lanterns, and perhaps artificial sprays of iris. For the favors, I think little Japanese dolls would be very appropriate, and may be the pin cushion kind would appeal to the girls for their dressers."

"Oh, how you frightened me," Marie exclaimed, "I did not hear you come in! What did you ask?"

"I asked if you had a magic charm to make those plants grow," laughed Marjorie.

"Oh, how you frightened me," Marie exclaimed, "I did not hear you come in! What did you ask?"

often uses the perfume," answered Marie.

"I wonder which one she will give me," pondered Marjorie. "Do you know the names of the different species?"

"Yes, this scarlet one is a Pteris, the white one is a Kieles, the salmon pink variety, is a Charles Greville," replied Marie pronouncing the names in the quaint French accent.

"Do they love geraniums in Paris," asked Marjorie.

"Indeed they do. The ladies wear them as a corsage bouquet especially the scarlet blooms. In almost every little home, through the lattice window on can spy a geranium in the winter time. It seems to add cheer when all out of doors is so dreary," answered Marie with a faraway look in her eyes.

BUSINESS VS. POLITICS

The two men who will be finally selected by the Lowell electorate to take a place in the municipal council should not bind themselves to the fact that the voters at the primaries strongly showed their disapproval of a government conducted in purely political lines and indicated their strong desire for a business-like administration. For once Lowell showed its disapproval of an administration conducted on other than strictly business lines. It is the entire governing body of the present was up for reelection, public disapproval would be shown still more strongly.

Springfield had a like experience at the primary election. The administration of the present mayor of that city was repudiated, the Springfield public having backed up an alderman who had been ignored and opposed by the chief executive. Papers of all political persuasions in that city acknowledged that the election returns indicated a blow at petty political government. Commenting on this parallel result the Springfield Union said: "The city of Springfield will not stand for any other kind of politics in city affairs but that which considers only the city's good. The widespread interest in the agitation for a new charter affords positive indication that the people intend to put the government of that municipality on a better business basis, which means that they are tired of the intrusion of petty politics in the management of their affairs."

Judging by gratifying indications, so is Lowell tired of the intrusion of petty politics into our municipal affairs. Rarely indeed does a citizen take it for granted that the vote of some members of the municipal council is sincere. Too often our directors of affairs show that in their official duties they are actuated more by dislike of previous officials or policies or more by a desire to prepare for future triumphs than by a regard for the interest of their city. They rarely vote to support or to condemn a measure without first of all weighing the possibilities of their vote on their political fortunes. It was to get away from this kind of petty political administration that our city charter was changed, but the charter change, unfortunately, did not in every instance change the methods of our administrators.

Our municipal elections were arranged on a non-partisan basis to put politics as far as possible out of sight and to advance scientific and business-like administration. The public is to judge the qualifications of the aspirants and make their selection accordingly. No man is elected to office in order that he may build up a political machine to perpetuate himself or to scatter positions and favors broadcast among the members of a limited clique. A few voters, comparatively speaking, may vote from selfish and unworthy motives; but the mass of the electorate vote for decent and able government. That they did it this year in our own city is indisputable; it is a warning that our officials must come up to popular expectations or be rebuked on the first opportunity.

ALIEN LABOR

In New York, work on very important new highways being constructed is held up because of a recent act of the legislature which explicitly states that none but American citizens be employed in such undertakings. The law is said to have been framed at the request of the labor unions, but be that as it may, it is having some unexpected results. Summed up briefly, the New York situation is this: American citizens will not do the subway work, and aliens are not permitted to do it. Consequently the subway construction is in danger of being held up indefinitely. Arguments for the repeal or amendment of the law are superfluous in view of its direct effects. The principle of the law, however, is open to discussion.

As contrasted with New York, the law of Massachusetts requires that, in Boston, a preference be given to citizens, but if citizens qualified for the job be not available, non-citizens may be hired for the work. This is a more just law, but even its desirability is questionable. Such labor problems are so merged with important civic, social and broadly economic considerations that it were better if common sense founded on a sense of fairness to all, be permitted to settle them.

Looked at from any angle, such legislative acts against alien labor are aimed at immigration. It is permissible, and possibly desirable, that laws be made to such an end, but laws such as that of New York begin at the wrong end. If aliens are permitted to land here they should be permitted to match brain and brawn with the native son without unfair discrimination. If a subway is to be built, those in charge of the construction would rather see a dozen hawny aliens applying for jobs than a dozen less physically fit, carrying citizenship papers. Besides, if the law aims at making citizenship attractive, it is a dubious good. The alien who becomes a citizen from such selfish motives will scarcely be a valuable acquisition to the community. Patriotism is often used as a cloak to cover insidious and unjust aspirations, and laws such as that of New York reveal the inevitable result. Luckily the direct failure of the New York law carries its speedy condemnation.

STRAWNS OF PROSPERITY

This week notices have been posted at the immense works of the General Electric company at Lynn calling for the full working force of 15,000 men to be on hand Monday morning. This sudden heave in the electric supply business is due to large and unexpected orders, some of them from South American markets hitherto supplied by Germany. This indication of renewed prosperity follows fast on the announcement of unusual activity in the steel and shoe business; the textile lines and many other branches of manufacture are reporting cheerful outlooks.

From the many reports of unexpected booms in American business coming in from all directions, there is every prospect of great prosperity here beginning with the new year. The pinch of foreign trade restriction is already being felt as the supplies of the neutral countries—and of the warring countries in some commodities—are running short. The United States is the only country of any manufacturing importance now neutral, and in the natural order of things our trade will receive the greatest impetus from world-wide conditions. It is no secret that England is striving to capture the German foreign markets, and Premier Asquith announced in parliament not long ago that the only possible competitor in the new field is America. If our manufacturing efficiency keeps pace with our opportunity, we are certain to profit by the present trade disruption of the rest of the world.

The influence of the revised currency system on general business is already apparent in greater confidence in the financial and business world and the restricted opening of the New York stock exchange will go still further in restoring business to a normal basis. Money will now circulate more freely and the country will reflect the improved financial and industrial conditions in general prosperity. The political or business prophet who would now pessimistic doctrines cannot get a hearing in the general chorus of optimism that arises on every hand.

IMPUDENT AND UNWISE

At a recent address for German war victims made in San Francisco last Monday, Baron von Schack, imperial German consul, called upon the "twelve million Germans or German-Americans" in this country to boycott the goods of the allies and to purchase either American or German-made products. He based his appeal on the alleged destruction of German trade by the allies, and made the boycott suggestion as a counter measure. Whatever one may say of the suggestion, in itself, it is entirely out of place as propaganda material in this country, and looks suspiciously like a flagrant breach of neutrality. Germans in this country, or those with pro-German sympathies should abide by the wishes of our government, as officially expressed by President Wilson, and should not use American institutions as a shield for any war activity. The publishing of such an appeal in this neutral nation is to be condemned as violating the spirit and letter of the president's proclamation. Apologists for the Germans are very quick to denounce anything like an expression of sympathy for the allies; let them be consistent and ask of their representatives who speak in public representation of America's reasonable requests. In striving to fight the allies through Germans or German-Americans in this country, Baron von Schack would very soon encounter a hostile expression of American public opinion. His appeal

A NOVEL PLAN

Proposed By One of the Leading Lowell Merchant Tailors
Mr. Paul A. Bogosian, a prominent merchant tailor of Lowell, has established a wonderful plan which is called THE BOGOSIAN SUIT SYSTEM. It is open to all. Great interest is taken in this plan by people everywhere in the city. The plan is not like the ordinary tailor-made suit, but is a partial patterned suit by which people who wear the Bogosian suit receive full credit and cash value of $25.00 and $30.00. For free literature explaining this plan inquire of Mr. Paul A. Bogosian, 100 Merrimack Square, Lowell, Mass.

was not only impudent but in direct violation of the president's order to American citizens.

RIFLE DRILL

Nothing will be lost in efficiency or effectiveness by a refusal of the government order of real rifles to our high school students. The school board in so refusing, on the advice of the physical instructor, did wisely, though undoubtedly the refusal was a disappointment to many of the boys. There is a strong fascination in rifles, swords, revolvers, and other arms for boys, and this feeling has been intensified by the reports of the European war. Still, it is doubtful if anything is to be gained by the use of real rifles at high school drills. The possession of arms, with the approval of the school authorities, would tend to inflame the imagination of the boy and incite him to rashness, with every possibility of danger. The tendency is to discourage the use of arms by juveniles rather than the contrary and this cause would not be served by the carrying of real rifles at drill. Again, there is something in the spectacle of high school boys drilling with real rifles which does not agree with the traditional American policy—though it must be admitted that this policy has been given a few serious jolts by the war.

CITY FUNDS GONE

Every little while a revelation comes to light regarding the misappropriation of city or town funds by a trusted public servant, and everybody talks about the need for annual audits and efficient systems of accounting. Yet, with amazing regularity, like instances crop out not far away to start the agitation all over again. The latest public learns very slowly. The latest account of such an incident comes from Medford, where an ex-city clerk is accused of taking an amount estimated at $16,000. The revelation follows a confession of the taking of some lesser amounts, and the result—auditing of the city books by the state bureau of statistics and labor. Why were not the books audited for the past 15 years, or audited so that such an audacious theft could be discovered? All account books having to do with the expenditure or collection of public funds should be examined and overlooked frequently, no matter what the personality of the person handling the funds may be. An honest official is the first to demand such a periodical audit.

General Carranza is reported to have just for Vera Cruz on the evacuation by the American troops. General Villa is marching on Mexico city, and murder and pillage are the order of the day. Next we will hear of the evacuation of Vera Cruz by Carranza, who in all probability will depart for foreign parts to join the club of Mexican ex-presidents. Meantime, Pancho Villa is supreme.

Do not complain at the nipping airs that pinch the finger tips and make the nose blue. They have also banished that undesirable street ornament, the summer loafer, who used to spend his time between holding up some central building and ogling all the girls who passed.

Our prosperity boomers will not brag about one item of business which came our way on account of the war. This is the order to a Chicago concern for mechanical grave-diggers.

Just because Thanksgiving is past is no reason why you should not feel thankful today. Cultivate the thanksgiving habit for every day. 'Tis a paying one.

FORCE OF HOTEL HABIT

After several years of hotel life Percival's parents took up their residence in a city suburb. "What were you doing, son?" the mother asked him when Percival came into the house one afternoon. "I was just out on the front porch," replied Percival, "listening to a man with a pishant pashing blackberries."

THE REAL TREASURE

The real treasure is that laid up by man or woman.

Through charity and piety, temper.

BILE AND BILIOUSNESS

Bile is manufactured in the cells of the liver. It assists digestion and prevents putrefaction in the intestines. Bile is necessary to life but excess of bile is poisonous.

The effects of excessive secretion of bile and failure to eliminate it from the blood, which is also a function of the liver, are white-coated or brown-furred tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, indigestion, headache, lack of appetite, constipation and weariness. This is a condition popularly called biliousness and points directly to the need of something to regulate the liver. For this purpose the claim is made that Pinklets, the new laxative, are greatly superior to old-fashioned liver medicines which over-stimulate the liver and, when their use is stopped, leave the liver mara torpid than before. That over-stimulation debilitates the liver is as certain as anything known in the science of medicine. Pinklets are tiny, sugar-coated pills, dainty to take, easy in action and they do not upset the stomach or cause griping. Given a thorough trial they really correct chronic constipation. Your druggist sells Pinklets or they will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 25 cents per bottle, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Send today for booklet and free sample.

ance and self control. The treasure that he is secure and passes not away. Though he leave the fleeting riches of this world, this is a man takes with him. A treasure that no wrong of others and no thief can steal. Let the wise man do good deeds. The treasure follows of itself.

SPOKE HER MIND

The artistic temperament is accountable for many things. Mary Garden possesses it. Which leads to the story of a company with which she sang the leading role in a western city. In the last act but one of "Louise," where Louise is supposed to kneel on the grass and see the lights of Paris, when it came to the situation Miss Garden found no grass and saw no lights. When the crowd fell, so it goes, she flew at the stage manager. "What kind of a management is this? Here I have had to sing with that midwife (collected from the hospital) (unfortunate) no grass to kneel on and not a light in all Paris!"

GAVE ORDERS TO THE KING

Shortly before the European conflict broke out the king of the Belgians, one of the most democratic of European monarchs, spent a few weeks in Switzerland. At Terriest the king and queen were motoring. His majesty was driving, and there were no attendants. The queen went into a shop to make some purchases.

The king was standing by the car reading a newspaper when an American woman came out of the shop, jumped into the car, which she mistook for a public conveyance, and bade the monarch to drive her quickly to her hotel. "Certainly, madam," said the king and deposited the woman at the hotel.

Accounts vary as to whether the king accepted or did not accept any fare.

In the meanwhile the queen had come out of the store and was surprised to find that her husband and the car had been absent. However, they speedily returned, and the majesties laughed over the incident together.

A STAGE MANAGER'S RUSE

The house bill of the Imperial theater at La Roche-sur-Yon announced for the evening performance "La Tour de Nesle," a five act melodrama, and "La Soeur de Joerise," a one-act farce. The drama had been disposed of, but the low comedian misreading the bill, and mistaking the one-act for a five-act play, entered the manager's mind. The orchestra played an overture, then another, then a third, then a polka and finally a quadrille. At last, when the audience had grown quite chattering, the stage manager appeared. He addressed the three conventional bows to the spectators and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, you are anxious, I know, to listen to 'La Soeur de Joerise.' The piece has just been acted, but through an unaccountable oversight on the part of the stage hands they forgot to raise the curtain."

IF THIS BE ALL

If this be all, and when we die, we die. Then life is but a wanton, monstrous dream. And of the hapless creatures that draw breath. We, who seem flower and crown, rank and power, are all the same. The least of living things that does not know. The dread of loss, the certainty of death.

If pain and sorrow are without a scheme, If death be chance, then like an evil dream Of some dark fiend, this smiling, graceful earth; If we are hungry, never shall be filled. The sooner that our empty hearts are stilled, The better for them, and their aching dearth.

Yet close, I feel, there wraps us all Around, Some mighty force, some mystery profound, And, through my doubts and ignorance, The power that bound with laws the moon and tide, And hung the stars in heavenly spheres wide, Must, by their witness, be both true and just.

STOCK OWNERS WARNED

AGAINST IMPOSTERS—FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE BRINGS PEDDLERS OF QUICK REMEDIES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—Reports are now beginning to come in to the department of agriculture from several of the states quarantined for the foot and mouth disease that persons who have no connection whatsoever with the department are attempting to pass themselves off as federal inspectors. There are several possible motives that might account for the existence of these impostors. In the outbreak of 1908 there were instances of men who obtained money from credulous victims who believed that in this way they would escape the inconvenience of quarantine and disinfection. This is, of course, a very simple form of extortion. Another motive may be the sale of some quack remedy for the disease.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota. "I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." —Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for women's ills known.

ence of quarantine and disinfection. This is, of course, a very simple form of extortion. Another motive may be the sale of some quack remedy for the disease. Stock owners can protect themselves very easily against this fraud, for there is no specific remedy for the foot and mouth disease. Since the germ has never been isolated, it has never been possible as yet to find any serum that would act either as a cure or preventive, and the public may be quite certain that any one who says that he is an employee of the department of agriculture, and at the same time attempts to sell, or even recommend anything of the sort, is simply an imposter. For this reason, stock owners are warned not to allow strangers to visit their stock or attempt any demonstrations of so-called cures by injections or otherwise.

There is, moreover, very great danger that such people might disseminate the disease. It is a well known fact that the germs may be carried on clothing. In infected territory, therefore, it is quite possible that a man who has come in contact with stricken animals may bring the disease to a perfectly healthy herd. This also accounts for much of the spread of hog cholera.

The department therefore recommends all farmers to keep their animals from contact with all save those who have definite business with them.

FOREST NOTES

The town forest of Baden-Baden, Germany, yields an annual profit of $5.25 per acre, or a total net profit of nearly $57,500. Outside of its use for fence posts, black locust finds its principal utilization in insulator pins and brackets for telegraph and telephone lines. One hundred shade trees will be planted by the Massachusetts Forestry association in cities or towns of four population classes which win prize contests for excellence in street tree planting. The Russian government has placed an embargo on all kinds of lumber, to prevent its exportation, without lumber, including Christmas trees, much prized by American furniture makers, is specifically mentioned. Experiences with forest fires on the national forests this year show that automobiles, where they can be used, furnish the quickest and cheapest transportation for crews of fire fighters. Motor rates are higher than those for teams for the actual time employed, but the total cost per distance traveled and in wages paid to men in getting to fires is much less. The time saving is self-evident; trips which ordinarily require two days' time by team have been made by automobile in a few hours.

MOST WARLIKE MEN

Three Shortest Men in House of Commons Long For Action on the Front

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—It appears that the three shortest men in the house of commons are three of the most warlike. Their names are Wedgwood Benn, L. S. Amery, and J. J. Tennant. The first two have already gone to the front, and Mr. Tennant is parliamentary under-secretary for war. Mr. Amery also saw service in South Africa. Mr. Benn is so short that he is affectionately known in the house as "Little Ben" and "Buttons."

NEW NAVAL PROBLEMS

Ships Need Armor to Resist Mines and Torpedoes — Ship Bottoms Need Protection

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—While the American navy officers have watched with critical eyes the deadly work of torpedoes fired from submarines and of contact mines in the European war, nothing has developed as yet which indicates any radical change in battleship construction to offer greater defense against underwater attacks.

The problems presented are not new. They have been studied by naval constructors of every power since the Russian-Japanese war when many fine ships fell victim to mines and torpedoes. Proposals of many sorts have been discussed. Some have been adopted; but the theory of warship building still clings to concentration of offensive power in terms of larger guns, bigger and swifter ships and wider cruising radius, even at the expense of defensive armor.

The heavy losses sustained by the British navy by submarine attacks has brought up for renewed discussion the subject of armoring the bottoms of warships. Recent issues of English service journals have noted a plan to cover the entire bottom of a battleship with four inches of armor plating. It was urged that the experiment be tried with an old ship which should be subjected to actual test with the explosion against her hull of the most powerful modern torpedoes. The ship also would be driven into contact mines of various types to determine their effect, it was said.

American naval experts believe there is little doubt of the result. They say four inches of armor would resist any known torpedo or mine successfully. To equip a ship in that way, however, the enormous weight of the armor would require a reduction in weight elsewhere and the only way it could be accomplished would be to reduce the size and number of guns, the thickness of surface armor, the weight of engines and coal capacity and because of this last, the size of the ships themselves. With armored bottoms battleships would become slow, heavy vessels of small cruising radius and their usefulness as instruments with which to strike swift, terrible blows at distant points before word of their coming had gone out, would vanish. Cruisers and swift merchant vessels would take care only to keep out of range of their guns. The terrific power of the modern dreadnaught would be a thing of the past.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get At the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, fatty, don't care eating, no ambition or energy, troubled with indigestion, food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

UNION SERVICES HELD

Churches United at Thanksgiving Services—Thanks for Blessings of Peace

There were two soloists at the union Thanksgiving service in the First Trinitarian Congregational church, yesterday, Mr. James P. Brown and Miss Eva Henderson.

Rev. E. H. Newcomb read the Thanksgiving day proclamation by President Wilson. Rev. R. G. Clapp read the responsive reading and Rev. C. A. Ferrin made the prayer of Thanksgiving. The sermon was preached by Rev. C. A. Lincoln, pastor of Kirk Street church, from the text "Offer unto God a Sacrifice of Thanksgiving."

He said in part: "Notice these words: 'Offer the sacrifice of thanksgiving.' What is it? It must be the giving of one's self, the dedication of the heart and the life of man, to God. The only people who can truly appreciate Thanksgiving are those who have thus dedicated themselves to the service of God, put themselves upon the altar of worship and praise. In fact, I think that only Christian people can rightly understand and enter into the spirit of Thanksgiving day. What is gratitude, but the giving of one's self, after all ingratitude is the withholding of one's self, where it rightly should be given to another. God never gives a man an excuse for ingratitude. He never condescends in His gifts, as men sometimes do. He gives abundantly, he over-gives; and that he does freely. 'Freely ye have received, freely give.' The only thing that you can really give is yourself."

"Dear as are all the treasures bestowed upon us, there is one gift that is unspeakably dear to man, and that is the gift of Jesus Christ to every man. The only fitting gratitude for this, is the dedication of a man's life to God. The early Christians understood this. They rejoiced in living as reborn children of God. Original Christianity was the gospel of salvation by joy. The earlier religion was that of salvation by suffering. "There is nothing but this firm grip upon the Almighty God of love, Himself, that makes it possible for us to enter into the joy of Thanksgiving day while men across the sea are engaged in the awful struggle of war. We need the gospel of joyousness to make us realize that after all God's in his heaven, all's right with the world, and we can give thanks because not all the nations of the world are engaged in the war, and there are still millions of happy people and many peaceful, happy homes in the world."

Methodists and Presbyterians
Rev. James M. Craig conducted the union service yesterday morning of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches at the First Presbyterian church. There was a large congregation present and the pastor of the various churches assisted in the services. A large chorus choir sang anthems and joined in the hymn singing. The sermon was preached by Rev. Charles H. Davis of the Highland M. E. church.

The Episcopal Churches
The usual Thanksgiving services were held at St. Anne's and St. John's Episcopal churches and were attended by large congregations. At St. Anne's church, Rev. Appleton Grandin, in the course of his remarks said that this country had abundant cause for thanksgiving in that it was not being devastated by a destructive war, and that the labors of the husbandman had been bountifully rewarded, and suggested that a practical way of giving thanks was to aid those who, through no fault of their own, had been thrown out of work as an indirect result of the European struggle.

FITZGERALD TO SPEAK

DR. McCLUSKEY SECURES HUSTON'S FORMER MAYOR FOR ST. PATRICK'S ALUMNI BANQUET

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston, has accepted an invitation to be a speaker at the dinner of St. Patrick's Academy Alumni association to be held the latter part of December. Wednesday Dr. Richard J. McCluskey, chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner, went to Boston and personally invited Boston's well known citizen to speak to the alumni on the occasion. The doctor and the former mayor used to be among the "regulars" at Old Orchard beach and hence they are no strangers. The former mayor accepted the invitation, saying that he knew something of the alumni, and the success its members have attained in every walk of life, and hence he said he would be delighted to come to Lowell and give to the members the benefit of his observations at home and abroad and of his experience in public life, as congressman, representative, senator, congressman and mayor of Boston.

Returning to Lowell, Dr. McCluskey conferred with members of the alumni as to the success his visit met with and all congratulated him on his selection, for while to a Lowell audience ex-Mayor Fitzgerald is no stranger, still like old wine he improves with age, and the years have not robbed him of his popularity here. Dr. McCluskey will submit his report formally to a meeting of the association on Sunday and confidently looks for the most successful reunion in the history of the organization.

Former Mayor Fitzgerald is in great demand as a public speaker all over the state and only recently accepted an invitation to speak to the members of the local board of trade on trade opportunities.

FOR HICKORY HANDLES

Through new specifications for axe, sledge, adz, pick and other hickory handles, the Panama canal authorities have recently purchased large quantities of this class of material for one-fourth less than formerly paid, and at the same time are getting just as serviceable stock.

The way department and the navy department, as well as the Panama canal commission, have adopted these specifications, which were prepared by the forest service primarily for the use of the various branches of the federal government. Subsequently, however, they have been approved by the trade, both manufacturers and dealers, and adopted by several of the leading railroads.

The new rules are the result of a long study of the subject, covering exhaustive strength tests, investigations of the growth of hickory in the woods, processes of manufacture, and market conditions. Under the new specifications handles are selected according to weight, as influenced by the density of the wood, and they now include material which may be either partly or wholly of heartwood, known generally as red hickory. Red hickory was formerly discriminated against in commercial grading, but it is now accepted, since it has been found that weight for weight it is just as serviceable as the white hickory. Handles which contain small sound knots or bird pecks, so located as not to affect the strength, are also accepted.

How PRINCE WAS KILLED

MAURICE OF BATTENBERG STRUCK BY SHRAPNEL BULLET—GRANDSON OF QUEEN VICTORIA

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The late Prince Maurice of Battenberg was Queen Victoria's youngest grandchild and was such a great favorite with the queen that he passed the first few years of his life continuously in her company.

Just a few years before the prince's untimely death he wrote to a member of his family: "I am having the time of my life. Don't bother about me. It is like a picnic. I command a chicken and a rabbit and I eat eggs. Tell Mrs. — (the princess) that it was better than anything she ever cooked."

Prince Maurice was the youngest son of Prince Henry of Battenberg and a first cousin of King George. He was leading his company of the King's Royal Rifles at Ypres when a shrapnel bullet from a bursting shell struck him and ended his life almost instantly.

standby. Prince Maurice was 23 years old and held the rank of Lieutenant in the army. He was the only prince born in Balmoral castle. In fact no other prince has been born in Scotland since 1600, when Charles I. was born at Dunfermline.

Prince Leopold, Prince Alexander and Prince Maurice, all three sons of Prince Henry, entered the service at the beginning of the war. Prince Leopold was invalided home with a bullet in his knee before the death of his brother. The Queen of Spain is a sister of the late prince.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Official reports of the government show that unemployment among men is now about one per cent. less than it was at the opening of the war. These figures are somewhat surprising in view of the fact that nearly one million men have volunteered their services and are under training in the army.

Men who have not entered the army find little trouble now in finding work, notwithstanding the fact that thousands of places vacated by men have been filled by women. The government has hurried forward a contract for the construction of a new post office tube, which will give employment to thousands of men for a year or more.

EFFECT OF THE WAR

MAY BE SEEN IN THE STYLE OF WHISKERS WORN BY THE SOL-DIERS

LONDON, Nov. 27.—There is a new newspaper speculation as to whether the war will follow precedent in instituting any change in fashion. At what some of the writers delight to call "face fur." The Waterloo campaign introduced the mustache, and the English troops, and their officers, borrowed from certain Austrian officers, then allies. It was taken up by the guards who resented very much any attempt to follow the fashion of the part of their line regiments, while as for civilians it will be remembered, says the Manchester Guardian, how great a snub to New Year dress upon himself by wearing a ferocious mustache.

The Crimean war brought in the whisker again in desperate civilian emulation of the gallant officers who, having grown all their hair from sheer necessity and perhaps from a certain compensable war in the winter in the trenches, brought back their new appendages to grace Bond Street and Pall Mall.

The British war office has made some effort to encourage the growth of mustaches among soldiers without conspicuous success, and there are signs that the trenches of 1914 are going to bring in a new fashion of beards. "As far as we have observed," says the Guardian, "the average British soldier's first desire when he gets a breathing space from the trenches, and sometimes in the intervals of the war, is to rid himself of the beard and whiskers though one has seen a few stalwarts in these towns still bearded, and it must be confessed that they look much more awe-inspiring than the clean-shaven variety. French soldiers near the firing lines are much less abashed by beards, and continue to wear the most ragged growth with something of an air, while the younger Belgians seem to follow the British in their preference for clean shaven."

WHY GOOD BLOOD IS RED

Why are we continually being told that good blood must be bright red? What has color to do with the quality? Just this. The oxygen in the air is the great supporter of animal life. One business of the blood is to take oxygen from the air, which it meets in the lungs, and deliver it to the tissues of the body. When the blood, filled with life-sustaining oxygen, is sent out by the heart it is bright red. When it returns, filled with impurities and deprived of its oxygen, it is dark. From this it is clear that there are two prime requisites of health, pure air and bright red blood. The pure air to furnish the oxygen, the rich blood to carry it where it is needed. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red because they increase its power to carry oxygen, actually making it so much more able to carry increased life and strength to every organ of the body. Try these tonic pills and note the increased color in cheeks and lips; see how your nerves become sturdier, your appetite better, your digestion stronger, your step quicker, your troubles lighter.

"Building Up the Blood" is a handy little book to have. It is free on request from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

THE RABBIT'S FOOT

BY GWEN SEARS

POSE OF LARGE WOMEN

When a kitten curls itself up on a cushion we say it is cute, but we would laugh at a Newfoundland dog to be used in the same pose. Both animals are lovely and artistic in their own ways.

A large woman should carry her self with regal pose at all times. She should not affect pike bonnets and high gowns or chatter baby talk. It is unbecoming to her and makes her ridiculous.

The small woman, no matter how she holds herself erect and assumes the full dignity of lovely womanhood.

THE MORNING WALK

Did you ever dress hurriedly and rush out into the crisp morning air for a hunt before breakfast? Mayhap you are a business woman, and are obliged to do this every morning of your life, except Sundays, and on that day you prefer the luxury of your warm bed. You have earned it, and deserve it, but there are hundreds of women who do not open their sleepy eyes until noon and drag themselves around the house, until dinner time, in a kimonos.

If ever they experienced the ecstasy of the crisp wind whipping their pallid cheeks, if ever they knew the thrill of filling their arms with crimson leaves or pine boughs or holly, if ever they allowed themselves the joy of purring over the frozen earth with the red blood tingling in their veins, they would never more don the kimono in the morning or when they arise. They would be up early in their outdoor costume, and hustle about in the great joyous open.

Trying to believe, no words can convince as easily as the experiment.

DRAFT HORSES

Importation of Them to the United States No Longer Necessary

With the exception of a very limited number from England, importation into the United States of pure-bred draft horses for breeding purposes has been practically stopped by the outbreak of the European war. For several years previous, from 2,500 to 4,500 stallions and mares have been brought annually into this country. In the opinion of experts in the department, however, the standard of draft horses in America will not suffer from the interruption of these importations. There is, it is said, a sufficiently large amount of pure blood already in the country to answer all requirements and the American draft horse will now have an opportunity to demonstrate its own qualities. Hitherto a certain "fascination" has hung over the word "imported," which has had a marked effect upon prices. For example, an imported Percheron stallion might sell for $2,000, where an equally well-bred American Percheron would bring only $1,200 to $1,400.

There is no apparent reason why the same thing should not take place in the case of draft horses. The principal breeds of these are now thoroughly established in the United States. Their various characteristics and merits are discussed in a new bulletin published by the United States department of agriculture under the title of "Farmers' Bulletin No. 618, Breeds of Draft Horses." This bulletin deals with the Belgian, Percheron, French Draft, Clydesdale, Shire and Suffolk types.

Of these the Percheron probably outnumbered in this country, all other breeds combined. Grade Percherons, the product of pure-bred stallions crossed with ordinary mares, have proved very popular on our markets. Of late years the Belgian has also made great strides, but this breed is still comparatively new in America. It is found chiefly in the middle west, where the heaviest types of draft horses are prevalent. During the past 10 years approximately 100 Clydesdales have been imported each year. This type is particularly well liked by those who want style and action, and in consequence is used to a great extent in cities. The Shires, though similar to the Clydesdales, are massive and less active. They are popular on the Pacific coast and in the central west.

England now permits the exportation for breeding purposes of Clydesdales and Shires, but it is not likely that under present conditions the importation of these breeds will be carried on to any considerable extent. As has already been said, however, experts in the department believe that importations are no longer necessary. The bulletin describing, with illustrations, the breeds already introduced will be sent free on application to the department as long as the supply lasts.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

the Guaranteed Remedy.

There is no more common yet dangerous and distressing disease than catarrah, which is generally indicated by dull headaches, snuffling, raising of mucus, and frequent colds. If it is not cured it will surely weaken the delicate tissues lining the air passages and frequently destroys the hearing.

Hyomei is a most effective, safe and reliable remedy for all catarrah ills. No dangerous drugs are taken into the stomach. You simply breathe it, using a small inhaler that comes with every complete outfit. All druggists sell Hyomei of Hyomei being taken in with the air you breathe simply has to reach all the sore, raw and inflamed surfaces of the air passages—its antiseptic healing begins at once. You feel better after the first Hyomei treatment—even almost hopeless cases respond quickly.

Hyomei is inexpensive, pleasant and easy to use, and surely gives quick and permanent benefit. Ask for the complete outfit. All druggists sell Hyomei and are authorized by Broch's Hyomei Co. of Buffalo to return the purchase price to anyone who is not satisfied. You certainly cannot afford to neglect your catarrah trouble, head colds or bronchitis when you can get this harmless remedy without risking a penny.

SEVERAL SCORES OF ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIESTS RESPOND-ED TO CALL OF FRANCE

PEKING, Nov. 27.—Immediately after the declaration of war reservists of the several continental nations that were implicated proceeded by previous standing arrangements back to Europe or to various centers of mobilization in the Far East. The Germans went to Tsingtao; Frenchmen to various garrisons along the coasts or proceeded homeward; Austrians went by way of America back to their native land. The British have only now begun to move. Reserve officers, of which there are a number in the Far East, have been summoned to return to England, and with them several hundred young men are leaving China, throwing up their positions and paying their own expenses back home to volunteer. German, French and Austrian business houses were at first seriously affected as a consequence of the drafting of their clerks. Now the British interests are beginning to suffer depletion in their staffs, and also the Chinese customs service, the directors of which are largely British. Several scores of Roman Catholic priests from the interior of China, some from the remote province of Szechwan, having responded to the requirements of the French mobilization, have come to garrison posts along the China coast and at Peking.

"Take it from me—
I know!"

You swing on some real tobacco!

If you're a red-blooded citizen, you beat it across the fields to a tidy red tin of Prince Albert and get some smoke joy jammed into that system of yours.

Because P. A. was produced to put a new high top record on pipe and cigarette liberty. You can smoke it until the cows come home, it can't bite your tongue, can't parch your throat. And that's a fact!

is made by a patented process that cuts out the bite and the parch and just puts in the joy wallop—flavor, fragrance. Me-o-my, but what fun there's coming to the man who's game enough to match a dime against a tidy red tin of Prince Albert—tobacco that cost three years and a fortune to perfect!

Just kind o' let it sink in that you nor any other man anywhere ever did pack a pipe or roll a cigarette with such tobacco. P. A. is a revelation—a tobacco revolution that sure certain will smash joy right into your smoke department.

And today's fine for a go-to-it try-out!

Prince Albert is sold everywhere in tippy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; also in handsome pound and half-pound humdors.

MIDDLESEX WOMEN'S CLUB OPENS ITS HEADQUARTERS TO AID WORTHY CAUSE

During the first three days of next week, the Middlesex Women's club has offered the use of its rooms and headquarters for the collection of clothing for the suffering Belgians. All kinds of underclothing for men, women and children are desired, and shawls and sweaters will be especially acceptable. If any donors prefer to have their gifts used by the needy of Lowell, all contributions so marked will be distributed to some of the worthy charities here. If not convenient to bring clothing to the club, donors may send them by mail to Colonial hall, Palmer street, or telephone 321 and the goods will be called for.

Undoubtedly in hundreds of Lowell homes are discarded garments which would prove a veritable God-send to some poor afflicted Belgian driven out of home and rendered penniless. Millions of men, women and children in that devastated country are absolutely dependent on charity, and without any great sacrifice, many Lowell people could aid them by answering the timely appeal of the Middlesex Women's club. It would be a pity if unused clothing should be permitted to hang in old closets or be hidden away in attics in this city when the need of the suffering Belgians is so urgent. The response will undoubtedly be—as it should be—prompt and generous.

IRISH SOLDIERS WAR CRY

SHOUT OF ERIN GO BRAGH AND SIGHT OF OLD FLAG TURNED DEFEAT INTO VICTORY

The following is from the Dublin Freeman:
(Corporal Michael O'Mara, of the Irish Guards, writes home to his relatives in Ireland.)

We are British soldiers and proud of the name, but in doing our duty for the glory and honour of the empire we have always also in our minds to add if we can more lustre to the fair name of Erin.

Our flag of green, with the harp and shamrock, and the words "Erin go bragh" is now faded and torn, but still loved and cherished. Talking about that dear old flag I shall endeavour to describe how at C—, when the fate of the day seemed to waver in the balance, when the ruthless enemy by sheer weight of numbers were pressing onward at every point of vantage, that faded flag turned a threatened defeat into decisive victory.

On our left were the Munsters, on our right the Leinsters and Connaught Rangers. All were hard pressed and were about to retire, when suddenly from the firing line one of our comrades rushed flourishing the old green flag and shouting "Erin go bragh." With the blood coursing fast through my veins I watched with pride and admiration the marvellous effect produced by these simple words.

With a mighty cheer that seemed to rend the heavens and that rose and swelled even more above the din of battle, those hard-pressed sons of Erin charged down on the advancing enemy with fixed bayonets. The Germans were completely staggered by this unexpected turn of events when victory seemed just within their grasp. But they were given little time for hesitation, for, slightly to alter the words of a well known Irish ballad,

Like lions leaping at a fold
When mad with hunger's pang,
Right up against the German lines
Those Irish heroes sprang.

NEW POLISH CLUB HOUSE

FORMAL DEDICATION HELD YESTERDAY WITH SPEECHES BY CITY OFFICIALS AND OTHERS

Yesterday marked the opening of the new club house in Coburn street, the property of the Polish National Home association, which is composed of five different organizations. The building, a description of which was given in Tuesday's edition of The Sun, is one of the finest of its kind in the city and reflects great credit upon the Polish people of Lowell.

The new club is a two and a half story building and located in Coburn street near the corner of Lakewood avenue. The dimensions are 102 feet by 60 feet and the building is of wood. The lower floor consists of a large amusement hall and kitchen, while on the second floor are a dance hall with stage and gallery, ladies' room, dressing room, bath, toilet and check rooms. The building cost about $2,000. The plans were drawn by Architects Millard & Davis of this city, while the general contract was under the direction of Contractor Stanley Swedzinski of Lynn. The club is composed of about 700 members, all members of the various Polish fraternal organizations of the city. The building is steam heated and equipped with electric lights. The floors are of hard wood, while the ceilings are of metal.

The dedication exercises were held in the afternoon and consisted of a banquet followed by post prandial exercises and dancing in the evening. Stanley Monarszyski, president of the organization, acted as toastmaster and at the conclusion of a fine repast he thanked the visitors and in brief remarks explained the purpose of the building. He told of this building being the home of nearly 5,000 people and explained the amalgamation of five different orders into one organization in order to erect a suitable building for the gathering of the members of this particular nationality and he said the structure was erected at a cost of $2,500.

Other speakers were Mayor D. J. Murphy, Rep. Henri Achin, Jr., Lawyer J. T. Masterson, Albert Tarka, Stanley Zwiz, John Nowak, Emil Hannas and others. The Polish-American Cadel band was in attendance and during the afternoon furnished excellent music. At the close of the speeches a light luncheon was served and the guests repaired to the upper hall, where general dancing was enjoyed. Those responsible for the success of the event were the following officers:

President, Stanley Monarszyski; vice-president, Francis Wich; treasurer, Michael Gaskiewicz; financial secretary, Baltimore Witkos; recording secretary, Ludwik Pajak; S. Poling secretary, Ludwik Pajak; directors, Francis Kush, chairman; S. Polchlopek, J. Azana and S. Wozniak.

FINE SCOTCH CONCERT

Large Audience at First Presbyterian Church Last Evening—Every Number Encored

A very fine Scotch concert was given last evening at the First Presbyterian church before a large audience which showed its appreciation by demanding an encore to each number. From the beginning to the end of the program, there was a genuinely Scotch atmosphere, many of the selections being the old folk songs that will live as long as hearts beat that love real music. Following is the program:

Quartet, Hail to the Chief.
Miss Etta Thompson, soprano;
Mrs. F. L. Roberts, contralto; Mr. Harry Hopkins, tenor; Mr. Warren T. Reid, bass.
Solo, Bonnie Sweet Bessie.
Miss Etta Thompson.
Solo, The Piper of Gordon's Men.
Harry Hopkins.
Reading, Heart of Brion Rose.
Lillian Bell.
Miss A. Livingston Gage.
Solo, Cam' ye by Atholl.
Mrs. F. L. Roberts.
Solo, Lochmear.
Warren T. Reid.
Solo, Mary of Argyll.
Harry Hopkins.
Reading, Selected.
Mrs. A. Livingston Gage.
Solo, Daddy (by request).
Mrs. F. L. Roberts.
Solo, My Ain Folk.
Miss Etta Thompson.
Solo, Sound the March.
Warren T. Reid.
Quartet, Annie Laurie.
Piano accompanist, Miss Minnie Tucker.

The committee which arranged for such a splendid affair consisted of the following: John B. Caddell, secretary; Donald A. MacFadden, financial secretary; Edward Hanson, treasurer; and John A. McDonald, Paul McDonald, Robert J. Houston, David Dickson, Thomas McKee, Hector Sutherland, Thomas Sutherland and Thomas Courtney.

Broderick's orch., Associate, tonight.

SUN FEATURES FOR SATURDAY

People Interested in Real Estate, Building, Etc., Should Read The Sun Real Estate Page—Other Specials

A page devoted exclusively to news of the real estate and building fields and the other trades connected with these will be published in tomorrow's Sun. This page serves to keep the real estate men and the builders and contractors in close touch with the public and readers should study the advertisements if they are contemplating the purchase of property or the effecting of any building or altering operations.

The spellbinder will discuss the "middle in precinct" two of ward one and other local political matters of interest.

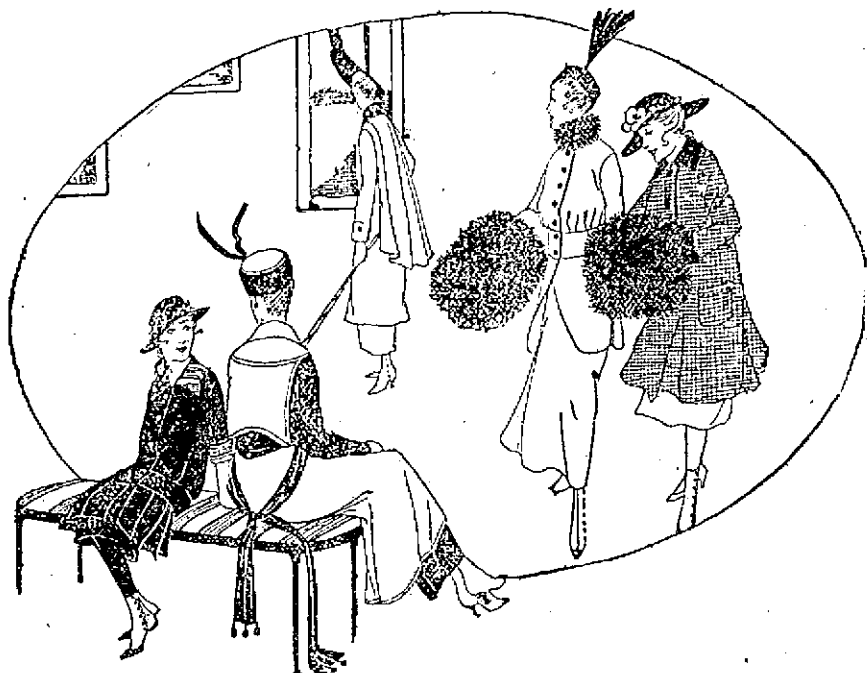

The Sun readers look forward to the "They Do Say" column of The Sun which are published every Saturday, and show a keen interest in this feature. These bright comments on a variety of topics will be printed tomorrow.

Exercise is one way of doing away with that constant tired feeling and of curing many every day ills. In "What the French Maid Said" in tomorrow's Sun, Marie will tell of the health and beauty value of exercise and the wearing of fur and lace give the appearance of usefulness, according to the writer of "The Bah-Sit's Foot." This article will discuss this topic in an interesting way tomorrow.

The little readers of The Sun will enjoy the "Sleepytime Tale" tomorrow, title of which is "The Trip." Mrs. Ray's menu for the entire week will be printed tomorrow.

BRITISH WARSHIP BLOWN UP--OVER 700 PERISHED

Sudden Explosion Destroyed the Bulwark Riding at Anchor Off Sheerness
—Vessel Vanished in Few Minutes
—Band Playing When Ship Sank

LONDON, Nov. 27.—It was officially announced here yesterday that the British battleship Bulwark had been blown up off Sheerness.

Only 14 men out of the 700 or 800 on board were saved.

According to the admiral the explosion which resulted in the destruction of the Bulwark is believed to have originated in her own magazine. The announcement of the disaster was made by Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The explosion occurred at 7.53 a. m. A vice admiral and a rear admiral who were at Sheerness reported that they were convinced that the disaster was caused by a magazine explosion. There was no upheaval of the water. When the smoke had cleared away the ship had disappeared.

An inquiry will be held today and the admiral believes that it may throw some light upon the occurrence.

Mr. Churchill, speaking in the house of commons said:

"The loss of the ship does not sensibly affect our military position, but I regret the loss of life, which was very heavy. Only 14 men were saved. All the officers and the rest of the crew, which I suppose amounted to between 700 and 800, perished."

The force of the explosion aboard the ship was so great that houses in Sheerness and even in Southend, seven miles away, and on the other side of the Medway, were violently shaken.

on. The people fled into the streets in alarm. When the great ship blew up dense clouds of smoke and flames shot into the air. The vessel disappeared in three minutes.

So terribly was the Bulwark rent that it was impossible to give her any assistance. Immediately after the explosion the vessel was blotted out by smoke, and as the vessel slowly lifted a handful of men were seen struggling in the water. Small craft rushed to their aid and picked them up.

Some of the crew were badly mutilated.

A touch of the dramatic was added to the catastrophe by the fact that the band of the Bulwark was playing when the explosion came.

The disaster occurred while the Bulwark was lying at anchor off the naval port of Sheerness near the mouth of the Thames, but the officers of the port scout the public impression that the vessel was the victim of a German submarine. This seems to be supported by the absence of an upheaval in the water, as the first lord of the admiralty explained.

Although 15 years old and no longer on the first fighting line, the Bulwark still was a useful unit. The loss of the ship, however, was nothing compared with the heavy loss in trained officers and men with whose relatives Mr. Churchill expressed in the house of commons his deep sympathy and sorrow.

The Bulwark in her early career was a favored ship. For a long time she was the flagship of Admiral Charles Beresford in the Mediterranean.

Story of Eye-Witness
An eye-witness who was on a ship

a short distance from the ill-fated Bulwark, said:

"I was at breakfast at about 10 minutes to eight o'clock this morning when I heard an explosion and went on deck. My first impression was that the report was produced by the firing of a salute by one of the ships, but the noise was quite exceptional.

"When I got on deck I soon saw that something awful had happened. The water and the sky were obscured by dense volumes of smoke. We at once were ordered to the scene of the disaster to render what assistance we could. At first we could see nothing, but when the smoke cleared we were horrified to find that the battleship Bulwark had gone. She seemed to have entirely vanished from sight, but a little later we detected a portion of the huge battleship showing about four feet above the water.

"We kept a vigilant outlook for the unfortunate crew, but saw only two men. I don't know whether the other boats rescued anyone. One man we saw was dead. The disaster was the result of an accident."

Another eye-witness said that when the explosion occurred a great volume of flame and smoke shot into the air. The ship seemed to split in two and then heeled over and sank. She disappeared in less than five minutes.

The loss of the Bulwark, according to a Central News despatch received yesterday evening from Chatham, was due to an accidental explosion while ammunition was being loaded on the warship.

The Bulwark cost $5,000,000.

THREE CHILDREN EAT NUTS, DIED IN AGONY

Wards of State Partake of Shell-back Nuts and Die Within 3 Hours of Each Other

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Three children, state wards in the custody of Miss Norah O'Hara of Oak street, Woburn, died in agony within three hours of each other, yesterday afternoon after apparently being poisoned. They had eaten shell-back nuts as they waited for their Thanksgiving dinner.

The victims are Peter Krukas, aged three; Anthony Krukas, aged five, and Caroline Krukas, aged six, members of a family of five children "farmed out" to Miss O'Hara sometime ago by the state board of charities. The other two escaped. They had eaten no nuts.

The exact cause of the death probably will not be known until Dr. William H. Keeler, medical examiner for the Western district, performs an autopsy today. The physician scouted the theory that ptomaine poisoning might be responsible.

The symptoms and the manner of death of the children were identical. All three were sitting on the steps of the O'Hara home, munching at the nuts and waiting impatiently for their dinner. The nuts were some bought by Miss O'Hara for the dinner and had been given to the children to appease their hunger.

Anthony and Caroline, sitting with their backs to Peter, noticed suddenly that he was not joining in the childish conversation, and turning to find him lying in a stupor on the steps. They screamed in fright and Miss O'Hara rushed to the scene.

Dr. Keeler was summoned in haste, and by the time he had reached the home both Anthony and Caroline complained of feeling sick. They, too, shortly passed into a state of coma. Peter was seized with violent convulsions at 3 o'clock and died in the utmost agony 15 minutes later. His brother and sister were rushed to the Choate Memorial hospital. The older boy seized with the same kind of convulsions as the little girl, died at 6 o'clock, and the girl at 6:15.

Because none of the children had eaten dinner, and because their last known meal was shared by other children in the O'Hara household, who showed no ill effects, Dr. Keeler declared that ptomaine poisoning could not be assigned as the cause of death. He declared that in his opinion the children died from the effects of one of two poisons, but declined to name either one under consideration.

Experts in poisons declared last night that the deaths bear all the marks of alkaloidal poisoning, like strychnine or acetone. There is a bare possibility that there was a quantity of the deadly material on the outside of the nuts.

It is considered more likely, however, that the nuts may at some time have been deliberately poisoned for use against marauding squirrels or other animals, and accidentally got mixed with nuts that had not been tampered with.

In the neighborhood of the O'Hara house there is a refuse dump, and there is a possibility that the children may have played about this place and may have picked up and eaten something that poisoned them.

The further possibility of their having found a deadly nightshade or foxglove plant and of having chewed a leaf from one or the other, is suggested as another solution of the mystery.

HORSES FOR ALLIES

LARGEST SHIPMENT FOR EUROPE ROPE LEFT NEW ORLEANS ON BRITISH STEAMER

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.—The largest shipment of horses for Europe was to leave here today on board the British steamer Roanmore. The horses, 1,620 in number, arrived here yesterday on two special trains from the Middle West. It was said the Roanmore would clear for a French port and that the horses would be used as mounts for the French cavalry.

1000 HORSES FOR EUROPE

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 27.—With a cargo of 1000 horses for use by the British and French governments, the British steamer Roanmore was to sail early today for French ports.

The steamer Shenandoah is now being fitted with stalls to carry about 1,000 horses and the steamer Raphael, it was announced, is expected to reach here today for a cargo of horses destined for Europe. They are British vessels.

FAMILY IN DIRE WANT

HOME ALMOST BARE AND LARGER EMPTY—MOTHER AND SIX CHILDREN Huddled in DARKNESS

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—In two small rooms, one of them windowless, way back on the second floor, reached through a dull looking street door which is numbered with chalk, 129 Endicott street, a reporter last night found the Stenzel family, huddled in darkness with pinched features and stony eyes, awaiting what destiny next held in store.

It was Thanksgiving night and all were present except the father, who is detained by authorities. Pemberton square. It might almost be said that there was no furniture, no bed clothing, no comfort and no hope. The tenement door had been bolted. They seemed to wait for starvation or whatever form misfortune might next choose to visit upon them. There was little food, the darkness grew, the day before soon being exhausted.

It is a family of six children and there soon will be seven. The oldest child is Josephine, aged 14, almost unnaturally bright in conversation. In her family, the family interpreter and family business head. Mrs. Stenzel works for her children and tries to guard them from danger. At night she bundles them under rags on boxes, chairs, a crib and one large mattress.

In court Wednesday, when pressed by the judge, Josephine admitted that all of them were hungry. She was given a little money by Judge Murray, so pathetic was her story on the witness stand. Miss Elizabeth Lee, the probation officer, Louis Frank, the Jewish interpreter, and other attaches made up a Thanksgiving basket. Yesterday the Stenzel family ate its fill. It was long since this had happened before. They did not know when it might occur again.

Thomas Stenzel, the father, was on trial for non-support last Wednesday. He has spent for drink the money which ought to maintain his wife and children. Always he promises to drink no more, but the habit is so strong upon him that he fails. He burst into tears at the conclusion of his case and was led away. His case will be disposed of today.

RESINOL CURED AWFUL ITCHING IN ONE NIGHT

NEW YORK.—"The skin on my hand got red and rough. It itched and I began to scratch it. It itched so that sometimes I could not sleep all night. I was suffering very much. I used --- salve and ---, but they did not seem to help me. This went on for six or seven months. Then I tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. I used them one night. In the morning, to my surprise, my hand was all well and the trouble has never returned. This is the absolute truth." (Signed) Miss Celia Kleinman, 61 Columbia St., April 26.

Nothing we can say of Resinol equals what others, such as Miss Kleinman, say of it. It does its work quickly, easily and at little cost. If you are suffering from itching, burning, skin troubles, pimples, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, try Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Sold by all druggists.

MAN KILLED HIMSELF

WHILE HIS NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY LAY ASLEEP IN BED BESIDE HIM—MADE PREPARATIONS

WORCESTER, Nov. 27.—While his 9-year-old son lay asleep in bed beside him, Charles Goodney, 35 years old, shot and killed himself with a shotgun at his lodgings, 62 Parker street, Wednesday night.

In order to make death certain, he had improvised a special rigging. He tied a piece of twine to the trigger and passed it around the headboard, took a turn and carried it about the rail at the foot of the bed. Then he stretched himself beside his son and placed the muzzle at his head.

Just at that moment Mrs. Walter Mason, daughter of Edgar Flagg, with whom Goodney lodged, passed the room, the door of which was ajar. She ran in and seized the weapon, but as she did so, Goodney pulled the string. The discharge killed him instantly and blew off the index finger of Mrs. Mason's hand.

Goodney's wife had been dead for some time. He had been out of work and became despondent because he could not provide as well as he wished for his son, Charles, and his 8-year-old daughter, Mary. He was formerly employed by the Winslow State company.

Mrs. Mason was taken to the City hospital for treatment.

JUSTICE HOLMES REFUSES WRIT TO BRING FRANK MURDER CASE TO SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Justice Holmes yesterday refused to issue a writ to bring the Leo M. Frank murder case to the supreme court for review. Justice Lamar previously had refused the writ. Application for review will be made to the entire court Monday.

Justice Holmes in an informal statement of his decision said:

"I understand I am to assume that the allegations of fact in the motion to set aside are true. On those facts I very seriously doubt if the petitioner (Frank) has had due process of law not on the ground of his absence when the verdict was rendered, so much as because of the trial taking place in the presence of a hostile demonstration and seemingly dangerous crowd."

The Justice, however, added that he was bound by the decision of the Georgia supreme court that the motion to set aside the verdict came too late.

CATHOLIC CHURCH SERVICES

At practically all of the Catholic churches of this city yesterday, special masses of Thanksgiving were celebrated, attended by large congregations. The morning mass at the Immaculate Conception church was offered up in thanksgiving for the many favors of the year, and especially for the souls of deceased benefactors. At St. Patrick's, a mass was celebrated for the repose of the souls of deceased members of the Clan-na-Gael and Irish National Brotherhood. There was no official celebration of thanksgiving other than the morning masses.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 27.—Gray Sloop was killed and two other riders were seriously injured yesterday in the second annual 300-mile motorcycle race over the Savannah course, which was won by Lee Taylor, of Middletown, Ohio, in 5:02:32. Sloop lost his life when his motorcycle crashed into a tree.

CENTRALVILLE SOCIAL CLUB

The annual turkey dinner at the Centralville Social club in West Sixth street was held Wednesday evening and the affair was largely attended. The repast was served at 11:30 o'clock and at the close of the meal speeches were in order with Rep. Henri Achin, Jr., acting as toastmaster.

Among those who addressed the gathering were Senator George B. Marchand, Representatives Achin and Jewett, Newell P. Putnam, James F. Miskella, Pierre A. Brousseau, John H. Beaulieu, Joseph A. Desrosiers, W.W. Duncan, and others. A social hour followed the most splendid exercises and the guests departed at a seasonable hour, all being unanimous in saying the affair was the best ever.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arsen from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and dandruff of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

PRES. WILSON OPPOSED TO AERIAL ATTACKS

Disapproves of Airship Attacks on Unfortified Cities Occupied by Non-Combatants

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Wilson has communicated unofficially with the diplomatic representatives of the United States in the belligerent countries of Europe his disapproval of attacks by bombs from air craft dropped on unfortified cities occupied by non-combatants.

The president was careful not to take the matter up officially and did not even make his communication through the state department but personally addressed the American ambassadors abroad. The president took this course, it became known today, nearly two months ago. The facts came to light through the publication of a report that the president had discussed the matter with European diplomats here. This, however, was denied by some of the prominent diplomats mentioned in connection with it, including the German ambassador.

Just how the diplomats abroad were to convey President Wilson's feeling in the matter to the foreign governments has not been disclosed, as White House officials in the absence of the president declined to discuss the subject.

It is believed here, however, that the president called attention to the article in The Hague convention of 1864 to which all the principal belligerents are signatory, which provides for notice of 24 hours before bombardment or attack in order that non-combatants may remove themselves from the danger zone.

Whether there have been any official responses from the belligerents was not known here today but American diplomats were instructed by the president, it is understood, to handle the matter with such discretion and delicacy as would tend to end aerial attacks without notice and at the same time preserve the friendship which the United States feels toward all the belligerents involved.

It is believed that the president did not mention any specific violation but expressed his views on the general subject of aerial attacks.

Through the unofficial character of the communication it was intended by the president to induce a better understanding about aerial warfare without actually involving the American government in the matter.

It is supposed the American diplomats used their good offices, consequently in a personal way with the belligerent governments without perhaps even mentioning the fact that they were doing so at the request of the president as such methods of obtaining a desired end are not unusual in diplomacy.

MAY GET BIG TAX 104 YEARS OLD

Millionaire Had Home R. K. Powers Chopped in Vermont but Stopped and Carried in Wood at N. Y. Hotels for Cooking Turkey

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Testimony concerning the life and habits of Henry Rutherford, who died Feb. 23, 1913, will be submitted to the surrogate next week by the counsel of the state comptroller, and the court will be asked to decide whether he lived in this state or in Vermont, for the amount of the transfer tax can be fixed. Joseph I. Berry, the appraiser, has gone so far with this work as to set the value of the estate down definitely at more than $2,000,000. The will was filed here on March 1, 1913.

Elizabeth H. Connor, a cousin of the deceased, protested its probate, but objections were withdrawn and the will was admitted to probate on July 11, 1913.

The difficulty in deciding the fixing of the home of Mr. Rutherford arises from the fact that he lived a lonely and obscure life. He was a bachelor and in poor health, and was 63 years old when he died. He owned a home some where at Grand Isle, Vt., but he spent the greater part of his time in the big hotels here, living mainly at the Waldorf, Plaza and Astor.

Among the witnesses examined by Mr. Berry were L. E. Connor, son of Mr. Rutherford, who said that Mr. Rutherford suffered from diabetes and was not physically strong. He had few associates, and indulged very little in social pleasures.

His death, like his life, caused little comment. Even the filing of his will received little notice, although it created a trust fund of $200,000, the income of which was to be used by the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research "for investigations into the causes and nature of the disease known as cancer and the methods of its prevention and cure."

Mr. Rutherford left $2,000 each to his friends Lydia Pearson Stearns and Elizabeth Clark Penhall, $1200 a year to Mary Nicholson and to his friend and executor, Charles K. Philpott of Brooklyn, $100,000. The residue was left to the children of his father, James Rutherford. If any of them had died leaving children, the latter were to get the share of their parents. This clause created about 44 heirs. Many of them live in England.

Mr. Rutherford inherited $1,081,151 from his brother, John H. Rutherford, who died in Cannes, France, Feb. 21, 1911. He left $44,078 in bank, $1,327,200 in stocks and bonds, and $25,000 in mortgages. Shortly before his death he ordered a $65,000 yacht, but he died before it was finished and the cost of this was added to his debts, which amounted to $69,374. The household effects are valued at $24,728.

WILL OF MISS FLYNN

SEVERAL REQUESTS TO RELATIVES—ONE TO MRS. MCGREEVEY OF THIS CITY

The will of Maria Flynn of New York, sister of Mrs. Annie McGreevey, of 13 Burns street, this city, on file for probate at New York City, disposes of her estate of unknown value, at present, as follows, after all debts are paid:

John Flynn, brother, of Ireland, $500; Annie McGreevey, sister, of Lowell, $500; Margaret, of Lowell, address not given, $2500 "for the tender and loving care extended to me during my long and serious illness; Hugh Flynn, nephew, of Ireland, $500; Mary Frances Curtin, niece, of 13 Burns street, Lowell, $500; Maria Nolan, of 367 West Fifth street, and Lizzie Flynn, of Brooklyn, each $400; Sister Ambrosia, of St. Agnes' convent, Sparkhill, N. Y., $300; $400 for masses, and the rest of the estate to John J. Hogan, grandnephew, whose address is not given.

Mark Flynn, nephew, of 408 St. Mark's Place, Brooklyn, the executor under date of will which was executed on April 8, last.

Miss Flynn passed away on Sept. 19, last, just exactly how large an estate she left was known only to the transfer tax state appraiser, is designated by the court to appraise the estate so as to see how much of it is taxable under the transfer tax state laws, and a report of such appraisal, as the executor is filed with the clerk of the surrogate court, as a public document.

If no time is lost by the executor a report of such appraisal can be filed within the next few months.

Miss Maria Flynn is evidently not related to Miss Sue Flynn, who recently left Lowell.

OF ZEEBRUGGE ON BELGIAN COAST DID VERY LITTLE DAMAGE

BRUGES, Belgium, Nov. 27.—A personal visit to Zeebrugge, on the Belgian coast about 15 miles east of Ostend, shows that contrary to previous reports, the English bombardment of Nov. 12 did very little damage. The shells from the British ships destroyed two fishermen's houses on one of the dikes. The British threw many shells which did not explode into the fields between Heyst and Zeebrugge. They knocked down the chimney of a factory and one person was mortally wounded. The bombardment and the shells of Zeebrugge, which are occupied by the Germans are today all in perfect working order.

LANE—CONWAY

Mr. Simon Lane, a well known police officer of this city, and Miss Theresa A. Conway, also of this city, were united in marriage at the private residence of the Sacred Heart church Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I. The bridesmaid was Miss Nellie G. Conway, a sister of the bride, and the best man Frederick Finnegan, nephew of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Lane left for a brief wedding trip to New York city and Bridgeport, Ct. Upon their return they will reside at 11 Burns street where they will be at home after Dec. 15.

Borrowed a Directory

City Clerk Monahan has loaned his directory to Uncle Sam and Owen feels that he should be called upon for a little touch. It seems that when the appropriation was made for the next federal census of manufactures, the 1914 census, congress failed to specify that any portion of the amount should be expended for the purchase of directories, and in order for the director of the census to prepare his statement it is necessary for him to have city directories. Hence, the call on the city clerk messenger for the loan of his directory, which the director of the census promises to return in good condition. The director, in a very nicely worded letter, told the city messenger that to get the correct census of the manufactures of Lowell it would be necessary for him to have a copy of the Lowell city directory for 1914. The director enclosed a penalty label in his letter so that the city messenger didn't have to pay any postage.

Going to Washington

Chairman Thomas McKay of the park commission will in all probability attend a convention to be held in Washington, Dec. 2, 3 and 4. The civic association will meet there on the dates mentioned for the purpose of discussing parks, city planning, playgrounds, etc. The meeting will be addressed by such men as George A. Parker, superintendent of parks in Hartford, Conn., who is said to be the very best authority on parks and playgrounds in the country. John W. Kern, superintendent of parks for this city, says he would like to take in the convention, but he allows that the pressure would be too great for his bank roll.

Would Be Chauffeurs

Thirteen applicants for chauffeurs' licenses took the weekly examination held by the city clerk yesterday. This examination is given every Friday under the auspices of the Massachusetts highway commission. The examiners do not go to Lawrence or any of the surrounding towns so that it is necessary for persons seeking such licenses to come to Lowell. Some of the applicants today were from Lawrence, Haverhill and Andover. The examiners today were Messrs. Olsen and Bliss.

Election Expense Accounts

The following expense accounts in connection with the recent preliminary election have been filed with the city clerk since the last were published: James E. Donnelly, candidate for alderman, $204.62; Andrew E. Barrett, candidate for alderman, $30.10; Henry H. Aubrey, candidate for alderman, nothing; John McManus, candidate for alderman, $4; James W. McKenna, candidate for school board, $12.50; John E. White, candidate for school board, $6.50.

Commissioner Charles J. Morse was at his office at city hall this morning. Mr. Morse has been suffering from a very severe cold and had been confined to his home since Monday.

The weekly pay roll for the present week figured $20,738.57.

A Plunkett. The energetic workers are trained nurses, graduates of the various hospitals who have generously given of their time and labor to aid the suffering soldiers of Europe. Nurses from this department have also gone to schools and other places interested in Red Cross work to give demonstrations in bandage cutting, rolling, etc.

Now that Thanksgiving activity is past, the society is receiving a great many encouraging offers of aid. Mrs. T. Bartlett, secretary of the Benjamin Butler relief corps committee, has kindly offered the services of the committee for sewing and cutting out. The high school at North Chelmsford has volunteered to do sewing and the cutting of bandages, and a nurse has been delegated to give practical instruction at the school. The Junior Aid society of the High Street church will sew for the Red Cross at the home of Mrs. John L. Robinson, Andover street, Saturday afternoon.

Lady Paget has written to a friend in Lowell thanking her most warmly for the aid sent from this city and stating that in the Devonshire hospital where she was stationed they were absolutely in dire need of all hospital supplies. Nevertheless, she stated as a proof of the efficient treatment that out of the 600 patients, only six have died.

Lady Paget has also written the following self-explanatory letter to Miss Grace Cummeck of this city:

35 Belgrave Square, London, Nov. 11, 1914.

Dear Miss Cummeck: Thank you so much for your kind note and for the really excellent bands, which will be most valuable and useful to our men in the cold and wet of the trenches. The queen has asked me to say how touched and pleased she is by the help that is coming from America, and the sympathy shown by the kind givers.

Yours very sincerely,
Minnie Paget.

Spending to a representative of the Sun this morning, one of the most earnest of the Red Cross committee said: "The great need is still for workers. We have a great deal of material and every facility for getting much accomplished, but we need women to sew. Many have responded to our appeals, but there is still much to be done. I am a busy woman with many duties to attend to, but I manage to give an hour or more daily to the splendid work of the Red Cross. There are hundreds of Lowell women who could spare a little time in the forenoon or afternoon, or who could do some work at home, and it is to these women here without hesitation where they will find many sisters aiding the soldiers who are in the terrible trenches or wounded in the battlefields. Now that Thanksgiving is over, I feel sure that we will have a great many more workers to aid the world-wide movement of the Red Cross."

MANY SHOPPERS OUT

The downtown section of the city was thronged with shoppers today as a result of the mills and factories being shut down for the week-end. It seems that the people were taking advantage of the opportunity to do their Christmas shopping early for the stores were all crowded and the clerks were very busy selling goods.

the disease as it affects human beings. Agent Bates said the board didn't have any literature except that furnished by the animal industry commission and it deals solely with the symptoms as displayed by animals.

Dr. Martin said he had looked high and low for some authority as to symptoms displayed by human beings and he said he couldn't find any. A man called at his office a few days ago, he said, and his face was badly bruised. There were festers about his mouth and he told the doctor he was afraid he had foot and mouth disease. Dr. Martin looked in the man's mouth and found that there was eruption there and he allowed that the man didn't have the disease.

"I suppose," said Dr. Martin, "that a man would show about the same symptoms as a cow, but I am not positive about it because I have been unable to find anything in my library or elsewhere that treats of the disease as it affects human beings. I presume that a man would drive at the mouth and show about the same symptoms as an animal would show, but I would like to come across some good authority in the matter."

Suspecting the Milk Supply

Asked what he thought about the orders issued by the bureau of animal industry excluding inspectors connected with the local board of health from farms where cattle are kept, Dr. Martin said: "I have no criticism to make of the cattle industry commission, but I am not blind to the incompetency of the local inspectors. It is necessary for the local inspectors to go to the farms in order to inspect the dairies, the source of supply, but there is an order forbidding them to do that. There isn't any doubt but what the state board is doing its very best to combat the foot and mouth disease, and of course it is impossible to have everything run as smoothly as one would like to have it run, but it does seem as if local inspectors ought to be allowed to visit the farms. Of course the state board is afraid that the inspector would become a carrier, but there are methods of prevention that can be as easily followed by the local inspectors as by the state inspectors.

"The state board recommends that the milk be boiled, and of course if the board didn't think there was opportunity for contamination it would not suggest the precautionary measures of boiling the milk. Now then comes the question. If there is danger of contamination, how are we to know about it? The local board of health is helpless in the matter because the board's inspectors are not allowed to visit the farms and there is no possible way in which we can ferret out the place where the danger lies. If such danger really exists, I must confess that I am rather at sea in the matter, but I presume that it will straighten itself out after a while and the disease is not fatal. That is some consolation."

ORDER OF MOOSE

The Lowell Lodge of Moose No. 418, organization department, opened up its commodious quarters in suite 5 and 6, Odd Fellows Temple, Middlesex street, yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the members and their families. The lodge called to offer congratulations and wish the committee success. A variety of refreshments were served. Several members of the order participated in the local entertainments, with songs and recitations. The progressive minstrels, a local organization with their catchy songs and witty sayings made a hit.

FIRING ON U. S. WARSHIP

Turkish Official Lays All Responsibility to Helmsman of Launch—Incident Closed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The Turkish commander of the forts at Smyrna lays all responsibility for the firing upon the cruiser Tennessee's launch 'To the indifference of the helmsman of the launch, who, it is said, did not heed warnings of the presence of mines.' Secretary Bryan today issued a supplemental statement on the Tennessee incident based on the latest communication from the Turkish minister of war to Ambassador Morgenthau in Constantinople. "The war minister's report," said the statement, "states that he ascertained from the commander of Smyrna that two blank shots of warning were first fired and that the sentinel after waiting two minutes was obliged to fire the third shot in another direction from that of the launch, which later shot was merely to prevent the helmsman of the launch from holding his course which would lead directly onto the mines at the entrance of the port, and to rescue him from a very certain danger. The commander of Smyrna expresses very great regret that such an obligation was presented to the sentinel of the port which he attributes to the indifference of the helmsman of the launch. "Secretary Bryan said this latest report closes the incident."

The Machinists union will meet tonight in the union headquarters in Middle street.

The Y. M. C. I. auto races proved very interesting, at least to John King of the Barry Shoe Co.

John Carroll, formerly connected with the J. W. Barry Shoe Co., is now employed by a shoe concern in Brockton, Mass.

Paul Chappelle of the Saco-Lowell shops is spending the remainder of the week with relatives in Dorchester, Mass.

Lowell will have a large army of unemployed for the week end, most of the mills having closed down until Monday.

The Painters union will meet tonight in Carpenters hall and considerable business of importance will come up for transaction.

Archibald Kenefick of the Massachusetts mills has started training for the basketball season which will start soon.

Fred A. McAlone, formerly employed at the Federal Shoe Co., is now holding down a lucrative position with a life insurance company in Adams, Tenn.

Major Frank Haggerty, employed at the Merrimack Clothing Co., will shine at the 10th anniversary of the O. M. I. Cadets next Tuesday night.

Joseph Goddard and Fred Couture, employees at the Massachusetts mills, did not win in Lawrence yesterday, the games in that city having been postponed to a later date.

Jimmy Lison, the speedy halfback on the local high eleven, who during the summer months is employed at the U. S. Bunting Co., played his usual class game against Lawrence yesterday.

Secretary Farrell of the Manufacturers Bowling league has been connected with sports for a number of years past, and was formerly a member of the old O. M. I. Cadet baseball team.

The Carpenters union will hold an open meeting next Wednesday evening in Carpenters hall, and prominent labor men will address the gathering. Carpenters, union and non-union, are invited to attend this meeting.

Carpenters Union Held Meeting

The Carpenters union held a brief business session in the union headquarters in the Russell building Wednesday evening. President Anthony Bellefleur occupied the chair. Two new members were admitted and several applications for membership laid on the table for one week. It was announced that on next Wednesday evening an open meeting will be held and all carpenters, union and non-union, are invited to attend. An entertainment will be provided, in which men prominently identified with the labor movement will take a prominent part.

Spicers Observed Anniversary

The second anniversary of local 325, I. T. Spicer's union was observed in Trades & Labor hall Wednesday evening, by a smoke talk. The quarters of the local were taxed to capacity by the overflowing attendance of the members and their friends. The musical program and refreshments were highly enjoyed. The entertainment consisted of vocal and instrumental selections and speeches, and the participants were accorded very generous applause. The committee responsible for the success of the affair were Napoleon Charrett, Joseph Forget, Joseph Thibeault, E. Sears, Eugene Bourgeault, Henry Fortier, William Brault, Frank L'Heureux, Napoleon Labranche, John Vlahos and Victor Cole.

Facts of Interest to Manufacturers

Work has been begun on the new building of the Mill-City cotton mills, which is organized and run by negroes. The new building will be one story high and 140 feet square.

Sixteen mills of the Parker Cotton Mill company in the south have resumed operations in full on domestic, South American and European orders.

Reports regarding the receipts of big orders for sweater coats by American manufacturers from the countries at war accredited Yund, Kennedy & Yund, Amsterdam, N. Y., having an order for close to 150,000 garments.

So far as can be learned the southern mills that are making goods for the regular export trade are doing a fair business as a whole, and some of them are said to be sold up to the first of the year.

It is rumored that the American Felt company's mill in Franklin, one of the first felt mills started in this country by the pioneer of the felt industry in the United States, the late Enoch Walke, is to be closed for good. It is stated that the order has been given to dismantle the mill and to ship the best of the machinery to the Essex mills, of the American Felt Co., at Pictou, N. S., and it is said that some of the overseers, as well as the superintendent will go to Pictou. Sixty hands are employed at the mill when it is operated in full. The mill is running at the present time.

The important returns show that colored goods are not coming in under the new tariff in the larger proportion that was feared when the law was enacted. As matters have come about with dyestuff scarcely a factor abroad as well as at home, it seems possible that there will not be the flood of fancy colored cottons thrown on this market in spring which some importers said would be the case before the war started.

In the federal court at Charleston, S. C., George R. Lombard of Augusta, Ga., and George E. Spofford of Bath, Me., were appointed temporary receivers for the Langley Manufacturing company, at Langley, S. C., and the Semblant Manufacturing company at Clearwater. The appointment of receivers for these two mills came as a result of a petition filed by W. H. Langley & Co. of Augusta, Ga., in which the plaintiff alleged that the two mills are indebted to them to the amount of $1,000,000. Until some months ago these two mills were operated under the same general management, but at that time the president resigned and since then they have been in charge of a committee from the directors, with George E. Spofford as general manager. The other mill of this chain, the Alken Mfg. Co., is said not to be affected by the petition.

PAN-AMERICAN SERVICE

CABINET AND DIPLOMATIC CORPS AT THANKSGIVING CELEBRATION AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Members of the cabinet, diplomatic corps, the supreme court and other prominent figures in official life, gathered yesterday at St. Patrick's church for the annual Pan-American Thanksgiving celebration.

President Wilson was in Williams-town, Mass., spending the day with his daughter, Mrs. F. B. Sayre, and it was the first time since the Pan-American celebration was organized, several years ago, that the president of the United States has not attended. The diplomatic representatives, in brilliant uniform, assembled with other dignitaries, and marched into the church in a solemn but colorful procession where mass was said in celebration of peace and thanksgiving among the Americans.

President Wilson was represented at the celebration by his secretary, Mr. Tumulty, Cardinal Gibbons, Monsignor

WOMAN IN DAZED CONDITION

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—A well dressed young woman who gave her name as Alice Kingsley of 1022 Broad street, Providence, was found in a dazed condition near the Patrick Collins monument in the Fenway early yesterday.

Taken to a hospital, it was found that she was suffering from hunger, and doctors said she was on the verge of starvation. The girl had swooned in the police station to which she was taken first. From rambling remarks which she made it was believed she had come to this city in search of work.

SALE OF MILEAGE BOOKS

JUDGE ALDRICH AND JUDGE DODGE HAND DOWN OPINION IN B. & M. CASE

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 27.—Judge George Aldrich of the United States district court for the district of New Hampshire and United States Judges

Dodge and Bingham have handed down an opinion on the Boston & Maine railroad asking for an interlocutory injunction restraining the enforcement of the recent order of the New Hampshire public service commission fixing the maximum mileage rate in the state at two cents per mile and of the act of the legislature ordering the sale of 500 mile mileage books at two cents a mile on all railroads operating in the state until their legality and constitutionality can be determined. In their opinion the judges hold that the questions should have first been raised in the United States courts and the petition is held in abeyance until a determination can be had in the latter tribunal. The same order was made on the petition of the Grand Trunk railroad of Canada, heard at the same time.

LAWRENCE HIGH WON

Defeated Lowell High 20-0 at Spalding Park Yesterday in Presence of 2000 Spectators

Outclassed in every department of the game, Lowell high went down to defeat yesterday morning at Spalding park before the Lawrence high football eleven in one of the most decisive games ever played off between the two schools. The down-river schoolboys scored 20 points, three touchdowns and two goals from a touchdown, while the locals failed to get closer to their opponents' goal line than the ten yard line and this only on one occasion.

Lowell high lost for the reason that time. The pass was high and a fumble of the wet ball resulted. It was Lawrence's ball inside Lowell's 20-yard line and the first touchdown came a few minutes later when a forward pass to Blair landed the ball safely between the uprights.

With the score 1-0 against the local schoolboys went back in the second half and gamely tried to fight off defeat. Individually the Lowell eleven should be commended. Possessed of practically no scoring plays, or at least uncovering nothing that resembled them, they fought it out in the line and in the backfield. Lawrence, however, was not to be denied and slowly but surely worked the ball down the field. Although the Lowell team held for downs inside their ten yard line on two occasions, Lawrence pushed over one touchdown and worked a forward pass to Perry for the third score.

Captain Mochrie, Stevens and Ferguson played good football. But Lowell in the line and the local backfield did all that they could to stave off defeat. They did not appear to know what to do on the open plays directly against them and this fact accounts for the touchdowns from forward passes which were shot over the goal line. Roane, Lynch, and Liston did particularly well on the defensive while Smith at end made several brilliant tackles.

her athletes lacked offensive power and could not break up the short forward passes of the Lawrence team. Although the field was in poor condition for the open game, Lawrence succeeded in scoring two touchdowns on forward passes and worked the Lowell backfield in midfield on shifty formations.

The main factor in Lowell's defeat was the inability of the local team when they had the ball in their possession. They showed no versatility of attack, working a backfield shift books were miserable failures. Lawrence gained from 15 to 20 yards on each exchange of punts.

The largest crowd of the season attended the game, nearly 2000 people being present when the first kickoff was made. Capt. Mochrie won the toss and Lawrence kicked off.

At the outset it could plainly be seen that Lawrence possessed the superior football machine. Lowell made three vain attempts to puncture the Lawrence line and then Roane dropped back to punt from his own 15-yard line. He is the best working center that we have seen play in this city in years while on the defense it was seldom that he did not shift through the Lowell line. Redmond, Fleming, Blair and Perry divided the honors with their leader.

place, he is in a receptive mood and probably would not decline it if the governor should see fit to send in his nomination and if the executive council should confirm it.

Those who know Mr. Fisher well, and especially those who have observed his legislative career closely, express the opinion that his Excellency might go much further and fare much worse than to name Mr. Fisher.

When seen by a reporter of The Sun, this morning, Senator Fisher said: "I understand that unknown to myself, a number of citizens including some persons of note have been before the governor to have him appoint me to a position on the public service commission but, personally I haven't taken any part in the matter. My friends having gone ahead, I am simply awaiting developments. I have not seen the governor relative to the appointment."

SENATOR FISHER IS FAVORED

Boston Paper Booms Him as Candidate for High Office

Would Make Him Chairman of the Public Service Commission

The Boston Transcript on Wednesday evening suggests the appointment of Senator Edward Fisher to the public service commission, to succeed George W. Anderson who recently retired from the commission and says in part:

If His Excellency should name Mr. Fisher for that important position, it would be literally a case of the office seeking the man. Mr. Fisher has a lucrative law practice which, under Governor Walsh's policy, as enacted into law by the most recent legislature, he would have to surrender. Chapter 516 of the acts of 1914 provides that the members of the public service commission shall hereafter devote the whole of their time to the business of the commission. Mr. Anderson, it will be remembered, in his letter of resignation, sharply scored that policy of the present chief executive. If, therefore, Mr. Fisher should accept a place on that commission, it would be at the risk of no inconsiderable personal and financial sacrifice, unless the 1914 statute should, perchance, be repealed. It is understood, however, that while he did not even know that his name would be presented to His Excellency until after it had been done, was surprised to learn that such was the case, and has at no time made of any personal effort to secure the

BIG BASEBALL TRADE

INVOLVING CALDWELL OF YANKEES AND OLDING AND LAPP OF ATHLETICS CONSIDERED

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A baseball trade between the New York and Philadelphia American league clubs involving Ray Caldwell of the New Yorks and Rube Olding and Jack Lapp of the Athletics is under consideration, according to reports published here today. President Dan Johnson of the American league is said to have urged Connie Mack while on a recent visit east to arrange the deal with the double purpose of saving Caldwell from the Federal league, with which he is reported to have signed for next season and of strengthening the New York club for the good of the circuit.

KAISER VISITED KIEL

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The correspondent at The Hague of the Evening News transmits a rumor from well informed sources that Emperor William during the last week paid a flying visit to Kiel, where he spent several days.

It is suggested at The Hague, the correspondent continues, that this visit foreshadows renewed activity on the part of the German fleet, which as the Russian port soon will be icebound will shortly be freed of the necessity of touching the Baltic.

KAISER PRAISES FRENCH

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Kaiser Wilhelm is described in a letter received by one of the editors of Patri from a certain Captain "M," undergoing treatment at a hospital in the German fortress of Metz as having visited the French wounded.

"I give my imperial homage, gentlemen, to your valor, and notwithstanding the cruel circumstances of the present, I do not despair of seeing one day Germany and France united by ties of sincere friendship."

PEACE TALK A BLUFF

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—The Cologne Gazette, commenting today on a newspaper despatch dealing with the renewed peace talk, writes:

"It is premature to talk about peace and it strikes us as frivolous. No German diplomat and no German soldier dare think of concluding an illusory peace with the powers which we have beaten and confidently hope to continue beating."

"In Germany everybody from the Kaiser to the day laborer is determined to make a clean score this time. Talk in England about peace is a bluff."

FOR PEACE IN EUROPE

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 27.—President Wilson plans soon to see Henry Van Dyke, American minister to Holland, who is reported to have a message from the queen of Holland, relating to means of bringing about peace in Europe. It was suggested here today that the president might stop over in New York on the way back to Washington to see Mr. Van Dyke but members of Mr. Wilson's party heard he expected to go through to Washington and would not see the minister until he reached the capital.

The president is known to be keenly interested in bringing about peace but there is authoritative information to show that it is in the near future that that direction in the near future.

STUDY IRRIGATION

Sons of Julian Uribe, of Colombia to Gather Experience—International Courtesy of Colombia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Two sons of Julian Uribe, vice president of the Colombian house of representatives are to be employed in the reclamation service to gather experience for building irrigation projects in their own country. An executive order waiving the civil service regulation was signed today as an act of international courtesy to Colombia.

FOUND DEAD ON FLOOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Edward McDonald, 70 years old, for many years an employee of the dock department, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at the home of his nephew, Michael Connell, 126 West Fifty-eighth street.

His body was discovered in a sitting position on the floor and Dr. J. Townsend of 125 West Fifty-eighth street said the man had been dead for some time. A leaky gas connection led to the belief McDonald might have been asphyxiated, but after an examination of the body Coroner's Physician Schultz said death had been due to apoplexy.

TUBERCULOSIS SUNDAY

Nov. 29th Set Apart for Nationwide Educational Church Campaign Against Disease

Acting in conjunction with the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and the local committees of the Middlesex Women's club, the board of trade and the Lowell Guild, the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Massachusetts has set apart next Sunday, Nov. 29, as Tuberculosis Day in this state. Letters of appeal for cooperation have been sent to practically every church in Massachusetts, all creeds being included. To Lowell pastors alone almost 100 letters with descriptive circulars enclosed have been sent. Tuberculosis day was inaugurated in 1910, making the campaign of next Sunday the fifth annual agitation. It is expected that sermons on tuberculosis will be preached in many of the local churches and that educational activity will be otherwise displayed. This educational campaign is being conducted particularly under the direction of the clerics department of the Middlesex Women's club, by agreement of the various local committees.

Tuberculosis day is a movement conducted annually under the direction of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and its affiliated local organizations. It is an attempt to secure as nearly as possible a simultaneous presentation of the nature and methods of prevention of tuberculosis in all of the churches and religious organizations of the United States.

Tuberculosis day is an undenominational and non-sectarian movement. It is to reach Jew and Gentile, Protestant and Catholic, and all possible religious groups within these various designations. This year it is planned, furthermore, to extend the scope of tuberculosis day to take in other organizations as well, and it is hoped that under the leadership of the churches the subject of tuberculosis may be presented to judges, schools and various social and civic bodies throughout the country. Tuberculosis day has received the endorsement of leading church dignitaries of almost every creed and denomination.

The primary aim of the Tuberculosis day campaign is not essentially for the purpose of securing funds for the anti-tuberculosis movement. In some communities, special collections may be taken. The fundamental aim of the movement, however, is educational. The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis believes that the churches of the country are willing to assume their responsibility for the prevention of tuberculosis. Tuberculosis day offers an opportunity to do something in this preventive movement.

DEATH OF CHILDREN

MEDICAL EXAMINER SAYS WOOD ALCOHOL CAUSED DEATH OF THREE STATE WARDS

WOBURN, Nov. 27.—After performing an autopsy upon the bodies of three children, Caroline, Peter and Anthony Kruska, state wards who died suddenly yesterday, Medical Examiner T. A. Ketcher, expressed the opinion today that death was due to wood alcohol which the children obtained in a bottle of shellac found in a nearby dump. An elder brother stated that he heard one of the children say that he knew where there was a bottle of beer.

The stomachs were sent to a medical school for further analysis.

Miss O'Hara, who has been taking care of children for the state board of charity for a number of years, received the five Russian children as wards about a year ago. Two other children survive.

WORKING MACHINERY OF A TORPEDO FIRED AT BATTLESHIP FROM DEADLY SUBMARINE

SKETCH OF TORPEDO FIRED AT BATTLESHIP BY SUBMARINE

This sketch shows a sectional view of a torpedo shot at a warship. It is self explanatory. When fired from a submarine the mechanism of the torpedo is automatically set in motion and the impact of the nose against the hull of a ship springs the trigger which explodes the deadly missile. The experts of the German submarine U-9 in sinking several English cruisers prove once for all the efficiency of the submarine use of the torpedo.

CROKER WEDS INDIAN MAID

RICHARD CROKER

The wedding took place at the home of Nathan Straus, an old friend of Croker's. A number of persons whom Croker had not taken into his confidence as to just where the ceremony would be performed went to St. Agnes' church under the impression they would be witnesses of the nuptials, only to be disappointed.

However, Croker did not evade all the uninvited guests, as seemed to be his purpose, for the street in front of the Straus home was crowded with men and women. Only about 25 guests were invited to the wedding.

Laurel Gives Bride

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, W. W. Hastings, who for 15 years has been attorney for the Crokers and who recently was elected to Congress from Oklahoma. The bridesmaids were Miss Frances Fite, a senior at Vassar, who comes from Muskogee, Okla.; Miss Ethel Brown of Dayton and Miss Willa Townsend of Memphis.

Mrs. Henry A. Bryan, rector of St. Agnes' church, performed the ceremony. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl dog collar. Croker was attended by Thomas F. Smith, who has been secretary of Tammany Hall. A typewritten statement given out by the bride after the ceremony made clear a good deal of her life history, which had been reported in many different ways since knowledge of her engagement became known. Neither she nor Croker would talk much then, so the newspapers made the best of it by interviewing her friends. Some reports expressed doubt if she really was descended from the Indians, pointing out that she was blonde and very fair. Others said maybe she was one-quarter Indian.

Says She Is Princess

Others proclaimed her an Indian princess, and her statement says the latter were correct, for she is known as Princess Siquoyah of Kewau Kaitu among her tribe. Her father, the statement continued, was Michael Smith Edmondson, a descendant of Roger Montgomery, who commanded the van of the Norman army at the battle of Hastings, and her mother was Galebela Welch, who descended from the famous Chief Sequoyah, inventor of the Cherokee alphabet.

"She is proud of her ancestry, and the Crokers are proud of her as a college girl, lecturer, ranch owner and business woman," the statement says.

The ranch, it was further set forth, consists of 845 acres, and 1000 apples trees and yields $10,000 a year.

Croker first saw the girl, who yesterday became his bride, in Kansas City, when she was nine years old, according to the statement, and he later became interested in her zeal to make her people better understood. Miss Edmondson took inspiration for her work from Pocahontas and other Indian girls, she said.

"I have been inspired by the example of Pocahontas, who did so much to make the English people understand our race," she said. "Then there was the Lewis and Clark expedition and the story of the girl who was taken away from her people and made a success. On the way back in crossing the Missouri, her husband, a renegade Frenchman, Wilfred Dextel, Joseph Clermont gave a shock, when demonstration, while Joseph Bissell and Joseph Cadeck gave a fine wrestling exhibition.

The affair was in charge of the following committee: Chairman, George Simard; secretary-treasurer, Wilfred Achin; Emory Racette, Thomas Berube, Frank Leclaire, Adolphe Brasseur, Armand Simard, Alphonse Gosselin, Pierre Rheaume, Arthur Blanchette, Philippe Hubert, Wilfred Bibeault, Donald Leary, Armand Fournier, Albert Hamel, Arthur Hubert, Arthur Groux, Joseph Tremblay, Leo Beaulieu and J. SLEEPYTIME TALES

BY VIRGINIA VALE

THE LITTLE GIRL'S DREAM

Once upon a time the Gnomes got together and the oldest one said: "I guess we had better get a basket of good things together for that poor woman who lives alone with her little girl. She works hard all day long and then she is not able to earn money enough to buy the things that the little girl needs."

All of the Gnomes were willing to help and they set to work to do their share. One of them went out in the woods and gathered a lot of chestnuts. He sewed together with dried grass some lovely colored leaves and put the nuts in the leaves.

Another went to the market and got a nice turkey, another brought vegetables and others cakes, fruit, and everything they could think of that would taste good to the little girl and her mother.

That night they fixed the basket so it looked very pretty and after bedtime they stole softly up to the door and slipped the basket into the house.

The next morning when the little girl and her mother woke, the first thing they saw was the basket of goodies. The Gnomes had not forgotten anything and there was so much of everything that it lasted a long time.

One day the little girl was sitting beside the window and all at once beside her she heard a voice saying: "How did you like the basket of good things we sent you?" Looking up she saw one of the Gnomes. "Oh, did you send those things?" she asked.

When the Gnome told her that they all sent them and that they would be glad to again if she wanted, the little girl was so pleased that she leaped over to kiss the little fellow and as she did so she fell out of the chair and bumped her nose.

Her mother was just opening the door and so was there to help her into the chair again.

"How did you happen to fall?" she asked. "I was trying to kiss the little Gnome who sent us the basket," she answered and the little girl wondered why her mother smiled at her.

"I guess we know it was only a dream."

THANKSGIVING WITH GRANDPA

Once upon a time Grandpa and Grandma asked all their children and grandchildren to come and have Thanksgiving dinner with them and as Grandpa said: "It will be a real old-fashioned one." They arrived early in the morning and were so hungry that it didn't seem as though they could wait until dinner time. The children all had a table by themselves and Grandma served them herself, so, as she said, that they would be sure to have enough.

After dinner Grandpa said they would go out and look at all of the animals in the barn but they must be very careful and not touch them. Little Jenny wanted to go and see the chickens and turkeys and so she went there by herself.

All at once Grandpa was startled by a loud cry and he went in the direction of the noise. There he saw poor little Jenny running as fast as she could and close behind her was a big turkey. Grandpa drove the turkey back and picked the little girl up in his arms and carried her back to her mother. Jenny was so frightened that the rest of the time she could not be persuaded to go very far from her mother.

In the evening the big kitchen was given up to the children and they played games, made molasses candy, cracked nuts, and had a fine time until someone said: "I wish Grandpa would tell us a story about when he was a little boy." Grandpa said: "I will tell you about the time I shot a turkey for our dinner."

He told them that a few days before Thanksgiving his father said to him: "I am going out hunting for a wild turkey today. Do you want to go?" He said yes and they started out. Soon a turkey flew up out of the bushes just over his head and he was so excited that he reached up and caught hold of the turkey's legs.

He held on, although the turkey tried to get away, until his father came and together they tied the turkey's legs and carried it home. That was how Grandpa helped get Thanksgiving dinner.

The children thought that a fine story and begged for another, but just then Grandma said: "Bedtime children," and they had to say good-night. Grandpa said as he kissed them: "I'll tell you another story tomorrow."

HOLY WAR AGAINST THE ENTENTE POWERS

The Proclamation of a Holy War, Signed by Sultan Published at Constantinople Today

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 27.—The proclamation of a Holy War, announced for the first time some ten days ago, was published here today.

It is signed by the sultan and 25 modern princes and calls upon the Moslems to participate in a holy war against Great Britain, Russia and France, the entente powers.

VIENNA REPORTS THAT AUSTRIANS HAVE DEFEATED RUSSIANS IN WESTERN GALICIA

VIENNA, Nov. 27.—An official report issued in Vienna says: "The fighting in Western Galicia has assumed the proportions of a continuous battle. In Western Galicia our troops have repulsed the Russians. A marked progress has been made in the fighting in the Carpathians."

"Near the Kolyma river, in Serbia, the Russian center is in a very strong position. The Russian troops are attacking the Austrian troops with renewed intensity."

PETROGRAD CLAIMS THAT GERMAN ARMY CORPS SURRENDERED IN RUSSIA

PETROGRAD, Nov. 27.—Telegraphing from Petrograd regarding the fighting around Lodz, Russian Poland, the correspondent of the Malm says:

"One German army corps which was surrounded by Russian troops surrendered in a body. This represents nearly 10,000 prisoners. Another corps which also had been cut off has now been completely cut out."

"The Russians are attacking along the Czestochowa front with renewed intensity."

SERBIANS BOMBARDED THE AUSTRIAN MONITORS OFF SEMLIN

SEMLIN, Nov. 27.—An official statement issued today regarding the fighting in northern Serbia says:

"The battle which commenced on Nov. 25 on the Lazarevatz-Molitza front and in which we repulsed the enemy captured a hundred prisoners, still continues."

"On the 21st our heavy artillery bombarded the Austrian monitors off Semlin and forced them to withdraw, at the same time silencing the enemy's artillery."

NEW DETAILS OF THE BOMBARDMENT OF ZEEBRUGGE

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Some new details of the bombardment of Zeebrugge, Belgium, which the Germans were preparing to attack, have been reached from the London newspapers.

The correspondent of the Express on the Belgian frontier telegraphs that the first shell fired by British warships on Zeebrugge fell among the German submarines in the inner harbor. After 20 minutes had been killed or wounded the submarines were ordered to make a dash for safety to the English channel and to try to run the gauntlet of the fleet.

Some of the submarines returned to Zeebrugge, the correspondent telegraphs, and he adds that the fate of the others is unknown.

In describing the bombardment, the correspondent of the Daily Mail at Antwerp says:

"The German submarines lying in the harbor had laid themselves out to prevent their destruction. When the warships retreated they rose again and went in pursuit, but soon returned."

TURKISH MINE LAYER TORPEDOED AND SUNK IN THE BOSPORUS

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Despatch to the Haves agency from Athens says: "The Turkish mine layer has been torpedoed and sunk in the Bosphorus."

$45,000 FOR BELGIAN SUFFERERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Contributions totaling $45,000 have been pledged by Chicagoans in an installment relief plan for starving Belgians. It was announced today. Chicagoans agreed to give a certain sum each month for six months. The amounts pledged range from $5 to $25 monthly.

LORD KITCHENER SAYS GERMAN DEFEAT BY RUSSIANS THE DEAREST YET

LONDON, Nov. 27.—"The Russians have defeated the Germans with the heaviest losses yet suffered," Lord Kitchener has made no advance since 1 had announced this before, and "The British are in touch with Turkish forces 50 miles east of the Suez canal," were the contents of a speech made by Lord Kitchener in the House of Lords this afternoon when he summarized the military operations.

Lord Kitchener paid a tribute to the gallantry of the Belgian army and to the help of the Belgians who he declared had no intention of quitting Belgium territory. He said the losses of the British army were not at the same time were slight compared with those of the enemy, and that the British troops were in excellent spirit and conduct of success.

Regarding Belgium, Lord Kitchener said he still had room for men and he was confident that the men would answer the country's call and see that the war was brought to a successful conclusion. He said that about 30,000 recruits were enlisting weekly.

ENORMOUS LOSSES SUFFERED BY THE GERMANS IN RUSSIA

PARIS, Nov. 27.—All the newspapers of Petrograd say a despatch from that city to the Havas Agency, affirm that the Germans suffered a terrible catastrophe in attempting an offensive movement with five army corps against the Russians between the Vistula and Warta rivers.

The German turning movement against the left wing of the Russians in the region of Wladimir, to the north of Czestochowa, also is said to have met with disaster. Eleven German army corps are reported to have suffered enormously, one entire division being captured.

RUIN IN GALICIA

Russian Officials Charge Wholesale Murder and Devastation

LEMBERG, Galicia, Nov. 27, via Petrograd and London.—A committee appointed in Galicia reports that there have been wholesale murders, executions and excesses of every description in war-torn Galicia. Thousands of starving and homeless families give evidence of these conditions.

The Russian population, the committee says, suffered more severely, less than the natural consequences of war, than from the cruelty of Austrian officials, who always suggested the loyalty of the Galician populace and have acted with marked severity since the beginning of the war.

The committee reports that it established the fact that in seven counties 253 men have been shot or wounded, including two priests. Throughout Galicia, it is estimated, 15,000 arrests have been made and 1000 executions have taken place.

In five counties, the committee states, its members counted 1050 burned homesteads. In the county in which Przemyśl is there are 3620 families with 3500 children under five years of age, who are homeless.

Robbery and the desecration of churches are reported, and it is said that whole families, including babies, children and decrepit old men—in one instance a deaf mute—have been thrown into prison.

Near Przemyśl, the committee reports, every village has been burned. In the neighborhood of Jaslo 150 persons in a deserted hamlet were found to have been hanged.

Most of these outrages are said by the committee to have been committed by Hungarians. It is stated that Cossacks who were pursuing a detachment of Hungarians found the body of one Russian girl who had been crucified. It is also stated that in one field hospital five persons, horribly mutilated, were received. The committee reports that all these facts have been authenticated.

The report said that the Russian troops had been aroused to a high pitch of fury against the enemy.

The members of the committee made their investigation under the direction of its president, Count Bobrinsky, governor general of Galicia.

HANKY & CO. KNIFE MANUFACTURERS OF ROCHESTER

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—An addition to the equipment of the British soldiers now fighting in the war is indicated by the order for 600,000 swords that the English government has given to Hanky & Co., knife manufacturers of Rochester, near Worcester. A requisition from the English government was issued to the Hanky company, asking for the filling of the large order with all possible speed, and the work of sword-making for the British soldiers is already under way at the Rochester factories of the company.

The English soldiers will, quite likely, have swords to go with the rest of their fighting paraphernalia as soon as several factories in this country and England can turn out the steel blades for the order.

Concern is not the only one that has been made. President Rogers of the Rochester company was at first asked to make 1,000,000 of the swords at all possible speed, but accepted the requisition for 600,000 instead. When this number has been reached, the work of turning out additional blades will be begun.

OFFICIAL INQUIRY INTO THE BULWARK CATASTROPHE

People Anxiously Awaiting Details of Reported Russian Victory Over Germans in Northern Poland—British in Touch With Turks Near Suez Canal

LONDON, Nov. 27.—While the belief grows hourly that the Russians in northern Poland have won the great battle of the war, actual details of operations in this locality still are withheld and the whole incident is beginning to take on the aspect of a mystery.

From Petrograd comes a report that the patience of the Russian people, awaiting official confirmation of the reported victory, is approaching the breaking point, and the same thing may be said of the public here. German reports, without entering into any such details as dates, describing successful operations in the region of this great battle but admit that the German army has not succeeded in bringing the struggle to a close. It is evident that the comparative failure of the Austro-German operations along the Czestochowa front gave the Russians opportunity to envelop Gen. Von Hindenburg after this brilliant German leader had thrown a wedge into his antagonist's center. The Russians in the south, save on their own front, were able to strike northward, thus breaking the enemy who had passed beyond their right flank.

Military critics at Petrograd profess to be astonished at that such a movement made the defeat of the invaders inevitable. The critics declare that unless the Germans' advance toward Kutno and Lodz was part of a larger movement, the operation was too hazardous to be credible. A third German army in the vicinity of Wladimir has initiated an advance which is believed in London to have been started up by an internal explosion more and more plausible. An official inquiry, which is being held in private, was opened in Sheerness this morning.

face each other and nothing has transpired to indicate that the Germans have started the expected resumption of their effort to break through the allied lines on their way to the coast.

Thirty miles to the east of the Suez canal, British forces are in touch with Turkish invaders, but there is no sign of a general action in this vicinity, and it is expected the invasion of Egypt probably will be postponed for the reason that the Turks would appear to be hard pressed in Armenia and around the Persian gulf.

Additional details concerning the loss of Sheerness yesterday of the battleship Bulwark and her entire crew with the exception of 14 men, make the admiralty theory that she was blown up by an internal explosion more and more plausible. An official inquiry, which is being held in private, was opened in Sheerness this morning.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO DASHED INTO A TREE

Peabody Boy and His Father Killed and Two Others Injured at Needham Heights

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—A boy of 8 years was killed, his father was fatally injured, another was seriously hurt and a fourth escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, when a roadster automobile in which they were riding dashed headlong into a tree at Needham Heights.

Archibald Aywin, 5 years old, of 91 Franklin street, Peabody, died as a result of his injuries at the Newton City hospital shortly before midnight. His father, Louis Aywin, 40 years old, died early this morning.

Napoleon Elwin, 22 years old, a nephew of Louis Aywin and the owner and driver of the car, 32 Champa avenue, Newton Upper Falls, was seriously hurt, while his brother, Archibald Elwin, 18 years old, escaped with minor injuries.

Arthur Aywin sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries. His father, Louis, suffered a fractured skull, a compound fracture of the right leg and a severe laceration of the face that tore away his right cheek.

Napoleon Elwin is confined at the Newton hospital with both legs broken and several cuts and bruises about the body.

The Elwins and Aywins left Newton after their Thanksgiving dinner at the Elwin home early yesterday afternoon for an automobile ride through the countryside. The party had proceeded well on their trip and were going at a fast clip down Highland avenue when a rear tire blew out.

The blown tire caught in the car tracks and skidded the car to the left of the road. The left front wheel struck a tree, a glancing blow, while the front of the machine struck another and wedged the car between the trees.

Louis Aywin was thrown through the wind shield and struck the gutter by the side of the right front wheel. Arthur, his 8-year-old son, who died of his injuries last night, was wedged between the front wheel and the forward tree.

Napoleon Elwin was thrown 15 feet into the street onto his side and sustained a fracture of both legs. Archibald was propelled clear of the road and gutter and fell onto the thick grass by the side of the thoroughfare. As the car came to a stop, it was a severe shaking up and cuts about the face and body he was unhurt.

Archibald, the only member of the party who was conscious, rushed to the side of the boy as soon as he recovered his feet. He hailed a passing electric car, and the passengers gave what assistance they could to the unconscious men.

Dr. William Mitchell and Dr. S. W. Parke, both of Needham, were summoned and had the men taken to the hospital. Archibald Elwin was able to leave the hospital after having his several cuts and bruises attended to.

TWO SHOT IN A RIOT

DETECTIVES FOR STEALING COAL—DETECTIVES ATTACKED

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Two persons were shot in a riot which followed the arrest of two women on the charge of stealing coal from cars in the Black Rock yards of the New York Central railroad last night. Mrs. Veronica Woloz was wounded in the leg and Andrew Kula has a bullet in his back that may cause his death.

Two railroad detectives made the arrest. One of the prisoners escaped and her screams as she ran through the yards drew a crowd of about 1000 which attacked the detectives. These officers then used their revolvers. The detectives were arrested by the police and held on an open charge.

DRASTIC MEASURES

To Stop Alleged Gross Violations of Law of Selling Liquor to Indians or Taking Liquor Upon Reservation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Gross violations of the law of selling liquor to Indians or taking liquor upon an Indian reservation caused Capt. Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, today to resort to drastic measures to stop what he believes has become a practice on the Ojibwa reservation in Oklahoma.

Commissioner Sells has invoked the law which empowers him to suspend payments to the Indians when he is convinced intoxicating liquors are within convenient reach of them and has directed the superintendent of the Ojibwa reservation to suspend the December payment of several hundred thousand dollars unless he is satisfactorily assured by the chiefs and head men of the tribe and the county and town officers and also the leading citizens of Pewaukee that the law against selling liquor to Indians or introducing it into Indian country is strictly enforced.

Following the ministerial show came a masked quadrille, and this feature was most amusing. Meanwhile those who were to take part in the costume contest assembled in the lower hall and made ready for the grand march. This feature proved the bit of the evening. The judges were: John Harrington, the prominent insurance man, John McQuade, James P. Daley, Miss Lorraine Ward and Miss Josephine Spillane. Fully 150 couples participated in the march, and the various costumes, of the young people added greatly to the brilliancy of the occasion. After some deliberation the committee announced the following prize winners:

Women—First prize, Mrs. James P. Walker, dressed in Colonial costume, silver tea service; second prize, Mrs. Henry Miner, dressed as "Dinah," a southern mammy, gold bracelet; third prize, Miss Susie Cambridge of Lowell, dressed as a young Dutch girl, box of fancy stationery.

Men—First prize, 30-piece chest of silver, John E. Hogan, who made an imposing Uncle Sam; second prize, Edward J. Doherty, dressed as a country farmer, ivory handled carving set; third prize, Leon DeRouin of Lowell.

901 CONVICTED UNDER MANN WHITE SLAVE ACT

In All, 4,433 Persons Have Been Indicted—The Fines Imposed Amounted to $138,036.50

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Nine hundred and one persons have been convicted under the Mann white slave act since its passage, according to statistics received today by Arthur Burrage-Farwell, president of the Chicago Law and Order league, from A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. In all, 4,433 persons have been indicted under the act.

"During the year ending June 30, 1914," Dr. Bielaski writes, "there were 435 indictments, 357 convictions, 63 acquittals and 46 cases noli prosequi. During the preceding fiscal year there were 322 indictments, 266 convictions, 19 noli prosequi and 35 acquittals. The sentences up to June 30, 1914, aggregated 1551 years, 6 months, and 24 days. The fines amounted to $138,036.50."

HOLDS CHARACTER PARTY

ST. JOHN'S NORTH CHELMSFORD HAS MOST SUCCESSFUL EVENT WITH MANY PRESENT

The second annual character party and bazaar conducted by the members of St. John's parish, North Chelmsford was held in the town hall, Wednesday evening, and a large crowd patronized the event. The party was held for the benefit of St. John's hall building fund, and the financial returns were most gratifying. Rev. E. C. Mitchell, the moving spirit of the affair was everywhere visible moving in with the parishioners and many were the congratulations received by him during the evening for his untiring work in helping along the highly enjoyable party.

Long before 8 o'clock the hall was filled to capacity by the large crowd, many members of which came dressed in costume for the character costume contest which was held later in the evening.

The stage was beautifully decorated for the occasion. It represented a farmyard scene, with a background of a farm road with a barn in the distance. Kindly loaned to the committee by the Church Aid society of the Congregational church. The stage platform was strewn with farming implements and other characteristic farmyard features which added greatly to the realistic effect.

The evening's festivities opened with an informal "rube" minstrel show which proved highly enjoyable, and put the audience in good humor for the events to follow. The interlocutor was Robert Dalton who filled the exacting duties of the position in a most acceptable manner.

Quade and Archie Bouquiere were the men, and these two performers kept their audience in screams of laughter by their witticisms and by their singing of comic songs. The other principals were as follows: Reginald McLeod, Mary Murphy, Josephine McQuade and Katherine McCoy. The following did good work in the chorus parts: Emma Devine, Mary Deane, Agnes Walsh, Mary Daley, Florence Boncher, Margaret Hogan, Florence Fallon, May Fallon, Jennie Hanlon, John Valentine, Edward Lucke, Joseph Thayer, Harold Tucker, Frank Garvey, Leo McQuade, Arthur Walsh, James McNally, Joseph Devine, Henry Garvey, Thomas Tucker, Stevens Holland, Leo Pope, Leo Ryan, John Haffey, Frank Welsh, Joseph Jarvis and Edward Cooke.

Following the minstrel show came a masked quadrille, and this feature was most amusing. Meanwhile those who were to take part in the costume contest assembled in the lower hall and made ready for the grand march. This feature proved the bit of the evening. The judges were: John Harrington, the prominent insurance man, John McQuade, James P. Daley, Miss Lorraine Ward and Miss Josephine Spillane. Fully 150 couples participated in the march, and the various costumes, of the young people added greatly to the brilliancy of the occasion. After some deliberation the committee announced the following prize winners:

Women—First prize, Mrs. James P. Walker, dressed in Colonial costume, silver tea service; second prize, Mrs. Henry Miner, dressed as "Dinah," a southern mammy, gold bracelet; third prize, Miss Susie Cambridge of Lowell, dressed as a young Dutch girl, box of fancy stationery.

Men—First prize, 30-piece chest of silver, John E. Hogan, who made an imposing Uncle Sam; second prize, Edward J. Doherty, dressed as a country farmer, ivory handled carving set; third prize, Leon DeRouin of Lowell.

dressed as a tramp, gold watch fob. Two special prizes were also awarded to the smallest children taking part in the march, and these went to little Miss Ethel Butler, attired as "Betsy Ross," and Master George MacLure, who made a fine looking "George Washington." These two tots made a fine appearance in the march, and the decision of the judges was a popular one, as were all of the others. The awards were presented by Rev. E. C. Mitchell. Dancing was resumed after the presentation of the awards to the pleasing strains of the Crescent orchestra, and continued, with the exception of a short intermission, during which time refreshments were served in the lower hall, until midnight. Those responsible for the success of the bazaar and character party are as follows:

General manager, Miss Belle Valentine; secretary, Miss Gertrude Quigley; chairman and treasurer, James P. Quigley; entertainment committee, John McQuade, Misses Gertrude Quigley and Grace Cummings; refreshments, Mr. and Mrs. James Walker; decoration committee, John Valentine, Edward Lucke and Joseph Ryan; music, Walter O'Neill and John Harrington; transportation, John McQuade and Percy J. Constantine.

The grand march was led by Mr. John Daley, who was floor director, and his sister, Miss Mary Daley, the assistant floor director was Miss Mary Murphy. The services of Arthur J. Rousseau, John Haffey, Edward Tucker and especially Gabriel Audouin were highly appreciated in their respective capacities during the evening.
